"We Shook The Family Tree" To Be Presented By Junior Class

The hilarious three-act comedy, "We Shook the Family Tree", from the book by Hildegarde Dolson and dramatized by Perry Clark, will be presented by the Junior Class of the Charlevoix high school at the high school auditorium at 8 p.m. Friday under the direction of Donna Cavanagh.

The play, taken from real life, tells the story of a high school senior, Hildegarde (Mona Davenport) who is trying desperately to attract an eligible senior for she has no date for the senior ball. Her mother, Mrs. Dolson (Roberta Swanson) takes action in an effort to help her daughter and comes up with a nice boy who'd love to take her daughter to the dance. But how does Hildegarde know it's Freddie Shermer (Charles McDonald), the only boy in school who wears knickers and who is the son of her father's boss (John Connolly).

To add to the situation, Hildegarde has won the school debate with an impassioned plea against drinking, but merely convinces everyone that her father is a drunkard. On top of this she gives some old letters from the attic to a neighborhood child and they turn out to be love letters written by Mr. Dolson (Robert Sanford) to Hildegarde's mother.

The situation gets out of control when Mr. Dolson invites his boss to his home in order to prove how sensible his family is. When Hildegarde, her face smeared with beauty clay, dashes through the room, he is stunned but when his own son, Freddie, bursts in wearing long pants with Hildegarde's brother in pursuit crying "Steal my pants, will you?" and tackles Mr. Shermer by mistake, it looks like the end of everything.

But in a whirlwind finish, which leaves the audience chuckling, the happy solution to all problems is reached.

In the supporting cast are Hildegarde's sister, Sally, (Betty Berg) and her brother, Bob, (Don Heilig) and Jimmy (Robert Albright), Freddie's mother, Mrs. Shermer (Carolyn Miller); Paige Mason (Carolyn VanderWall), Ellie May (Darlene Mason) and Jill (Joyce Cunningham).

Donna Ikens will welcome the audience. Special entertainment between acts will be by the school music department.

FEELING LOW?
Inspiring Lessons Learned from Nature

How To Gain Control

Hal Sharp, one of our leading authorities on outdoor sports, has offered sound advice to beginning fly fishermen. Don't try to cast your fly at great distances, he suggests, until you learn how to handle the shorter casts. A long line is well nigh unmanageable for a novice, and the beginner who tries to place his lure fifty or sixty feet beyond him is not likely to catch anything more than a good case of temper tantrums. It would be far better to start with a six-foot leader and about twenty feet of line and perfect one's casting with short throws. Then, soon, the longer line and longer casts can be undertaken.

Fishing for happiness is much like fly casting for trout. We must master the short casts before we can handle the long ones.

* Some folks are longing for the leisure of heaven who don't know what to do with a rainy Sunday afternoon.

* There are people who are concerned as to whether we shall recognize our acquaintances in the hereafter, who ignore them as they pass down Main Street.

* Some who aspire to high political office have not even been good citizens. They have not learned how to be followers, let alone leaders.

* You have known religious folks who could go into ecstasies about the anticipated beauties of Paradise who are blind to the wonders of color in a dragonfly's wing and who remain emotionally unmoved at the song of a white-throated sparrow. The same God that made heaven and prepared for us a future also fashioned the present world and its glories. Enjoyment of beauty is a matter of practicing insight and appreciation. We are not apt to have it in the hereafter unless we have it here.

The surest way of conquering the big problems you dread facing is by learning how to handle with patience and poise life's daily petty irritations.

The commonplace everyday things, the little bits of leisure, the minor disappointments, the trifling upsets, the momentary exposures to beauty, the passing conflicts with others are of vast importance. They are the short casts that, when mastered, teach us how to manage the long ones.

State Bacteriologist Finds New Type Brucellosis In Dairy Herd

Dairymen in Michigan now have added to their woes a new form of brucellosis caused by a type of the germ never before found in Michigan.

Dr. I. Forest Huddleson, Michigan State college bacteriologist, reports that it produces a more severe infection than ordinary Bang's disease. There is a noticeable inflammation and thickening of the skin of the udder, he explains, and this condition might be mistaken for a type of mastitis.

Dr. Huddleson, developer of M-vaccine for brucellosis, found the organisms in milk samples from one Michigan dairy herd. Called "Type 2" of the bovine or brucella abortus species it was found in samples from two of the three aborting cows whose milk was checked. The samples were cultured by a new method in the college's Brucella laboratory.

A new type of brucellosis was suspected by Dr. Huddleson from the condition of the udders of the cows. At present, cattle in only one herd in Michigan are known to be infected with the new organism but it may be wider spread. He has never found it but he recently identified the in a foetus from a Michigan cow same type germ in a culture prepared from a foetus at Purdue University.

The 47-cattle Michigan herd had nine reactors to Bang's disease testing, five suspects and four abortions in less than a year. The first cow aborted in February, 1953. In April and November, blood tests were performed, and while this was being done, the eight other cows reacted and three aborted. The source of the infection never was found.

Turning back 21 years to the reports of Dr. G. S. Wilson of the Institute of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine in London, Dr Huddleson found a description of some Brucella germs recovered from French cattle. The M.S.C. bacteriologist recognized the report made in 1933 as the same as for the germs found in Michigan.

This same type has been isolated by a few of the state health laboratories in recent years from the blood of humans suffering from undulant fever," points out Dr. Huddleson. "It occurred in different sections of the country but no one has succeeded in tracing the source of the infection."

The new Michigan cattle type of Brucella differs from the three classified species but falls into the bovine, or Brucella abortus, species. The other species are Br. suis (swine) and Br. melitensis (goats).

"The new type produces a high abortion rate in cattle," states Dr. Huddleson, "and it also causes visible udder disturbances which would indicate that it is highly pathogenic. It needs watching very carefully. We do not know yet if the present vaccines used to protect cattle against brucellosis will protect them against this new form."

The owner of the infected dairy cows turned to M.S.C. School of Veterinary Medicine for aid when his animals did not improve. Dr. Edward A. White of the surgery and medicine department injected M-vaccine in December. They will not know for several months whether this will prevent the spread of the disease.

M-vaccine was made available to Michigan veterinarians in 1947. It does not produce a permanent blood reaction or an abortion and can be used on adult animals, including cows in pregnancy.

Farmers should contact veterinarians about any cattle that abort-indicating possibility of disease — or show signs of mastitis in udders or milk, suggests Dr. Huddleson.

Suggests April Alfalfa Drilling For Best Results

Drill alfalfa seed in established wheat fields in early April instead of taking chances with a March seeding, advises Charlevoix county agricultural agent Ed Rebman. He passes along these suggestions from Milo B. Tesar of Michigan State college's farm crops department on how to get better legume seedings in wheat.

Drilling of the legume and fertilization of the wheat can be done in one operation.

Drop fertilizer tubes of the drill between disks for nitrogen application. Extend the legume seeder tubes to put the seed through the seed opening in the drill shoe.

Set the drill to cut from one-half to one inch deep, going crosswise to the direction of drilling the wheat if possible. Digging of the disks will not hurt the wheat yield. When drilling, the nitrogen falls between the disks and the legume seed falls in the drill disk furrow. Spring rains will cover the seed with soil. Separation of the legume seed from the band of nitrogen prevents any possible damage to the germinating seed from the nitrogen.

The earlier the drilling in April the better, but April 25 is not too late.

On droughty, less fertile soils, seedings may need more help for the best stands, Tesar asserts. He says 50 to 200 pounds of superphosphate drilled in contact with the seed will supply this needed "shot in the arm". In this case the nitrogen would have to be broadcast before seeding since the drill will not handle two kinds of fertilizer at one time.

Dairy Support Price To Drop After April 1

Michigan farmers who have not been able to show a profit from their dairy enterprise in the past year will be in serious trouble after April 1, when the dairy support price drops to 75 per cent of parity.

That is the conclusion of Edwin B. Jones of Michigan State college's agricultural economics department. Writing in the current issue of Michigan Farm Economics, Jones makes these additional points:

Farmers who are unable or unwilling to improve their operations should seriously consider leaving the dairy business. The support price drop will mean many farmers will have to make major adjustments.

One way many farmers will be able to reduce their costs of producing milk to use more and better quality roughage and less protein and grain.

Since milk prices will decline rather drastically, while some other farm prices will remain about steady, some farmers can profit by turning to other enterprises as a means of increasing income. Milk producers in the Detroit milk shed for example, will have their checks reduced by about $40 per month if they continue to ship the same amount of milk as in 1953.

Replacement of poor quality cows will be especially important in the months to come. Cull cows which were profitable to keep in 1952 and 1953 may need to be sent to market in 1954.

Strange as it may seem, says Jones, some farmers will find it to their advantage to increase the size of their herds by adding good cows so that land, labor and investment can be utilized better even though the price of milk declines.

"For the months ahead," concludes Jones, "it appears that dairying will experience one of its most competitive eras. Dairy farmers who weather the storm and adjust their enterprises to these conditions will be more efficient producers and thus earn the right to compete for future production."

Buy Virus-Free Strawberries To Get Production

If you're not satisfied with your present strawberry plants, you can get better production by buying virus-free varieties, says Ed Rebman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent.

Offered on the market for the first time this spring, the virus-free plants will survive winters better, are more vigorous, and will produce more runner plants than infected plants of the same variety, according to Rebman.

You now can get virus-free stocks of Catskill and Premier, two varities recommended for Michigan, from eastern nurseries. Michigan State college will be introducing virus-free varities to nurseries next year, Rebman adds.

The Michigan Department of Agriculture is cooperating in establishing a certification program for growers who wish to sell virus-free strawberry plants.

The certification program is expected to boost Michigan's already large business of selling strawberry plants to other states.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

You Might Call it a "Gravy Train"

Was reading the other day about a Maharaja in India who has a miniature electric train all made of silver. Now, maybe that's not unusual for a prince, but this fellow had it running around on an enormous dining table in the royal palace.

The twelve cars on the train are loaded with different kinds of fruits, nuts, and beverages. And the train stops automatically in front of each plate so the person sitting there can choose what he wants.

From where I sit, the Maharaja is really going to extremes to impress his guests. Around this part of the world, hospitality certainly doesn't need all those fancy trimmings.

You don't have to spend a lot of money or go to a lot of work when folks drop in. Just offer them what you have—coffee, tea, a temperate glass of beer—and let them make their own choice. They'll feel they're getting a royal welcome!

IT HAPPENED ON . . . .

BEAVER ISLAND

By Loyola Malloy

St. Patrick's Day Is Observed With Annual Program

St. James — St. Patrick's Day dawned bright and clear over the horizon on Beaver Island. Most of the people began their day by attending 8 o'clock Mass at Holy Cross church. The rest of the day was spent rather leisurely.

In the evening a program sponsored by the Third Order was presented in the Parish Hall. The First Grade pupils (Mary Suo McDonough, Mary Kennedy, Pauline Kenwabikissee, Isabel LaFreniere, Eddie Wojan, Michael Cull, Michael Buckner and Danny Gallagher) had a bit of a square dance. Some of the girls did an Irish Jig. And the upper grade children had a square dance.

Carol Ann O'Donnell, Colleen Nackerman, Larry McDonough and Alvin LaFreniere sang and did a dance to "Changing Partners". There was quartet singing by Johnny Gallagher, Dr. Harry Vail, Frank Nackermann and Archie LaFreniere Jr. The high school girls sang two numbers. A. J. Gallagher sang and played his guitar. Bobby O'Donnell and Patrick LaFreniere Jr. sang "Danny Boy" but wouldn't come back for an encore. Claire Cull and Willie O'Donnell did a step dance.

The Cordaliers presented a little play in honor of the day. Those in the play were Kathleen and Ann Gatlill, Loretta LaFreniere, Sally Martin, Mary Elizabeth Gallagher, Tony McDonough and Brian Gallagher. The program closed with the audience singing "All Praise To Saint Patrick."

Following the program Father Joseph, Dr. and Mrs. Vail played for a dance.

Willie Belfy was called to Muskegon last week because of the death of his cousin, Mrs. Gladys Rasmussen, the former Gladys Herrick.

Gene Burke spent a few days in Three Rivers and Grand Rapids last week.

Harry Gottlieb, his pilot and two friends spent a few days on the Island last week.

V. H. LaFreniere was a business caller to Charlevoix during the week.

Several of the men (about 20) gathered at William Green's (young Bills) for a wood cutting bee last week. It was, one of the largest bees for some time on the Island. When they finished cutting the wood Willie had a fish dinner ready for them.

Ed and Dan Greene of Greene Town had Larry Cull and Russell Greene as overnight guests last Thursday.

Patrick (Doney) Gallagher received word during the past week that he had a job to go sailing on the (Big Sykes). Wilfred Sykes. Friday afternoon in the Shamrock he was showing the lads how to box a compass and drew several diagrams and sketches of the lakes rivers, bays and sounds. Those that were there enjoyed a pleasant afternoon of Patsy's teachings.

Four hundred more baby chicks arrived via McPhillips Flying Service to their new home at the McCafferty-Floyd Chicken farm.

Gene Connaghan was in Charlevoix last week on business.

James E. McCann has gone to spend some time with his brother, Charlie at Beulah.

Warren Townsend of Zeeland made a check on his stock on High Island over the weekend.

Last Tuesday evening the men of the Holy Name Society held their monthly meeting.

Young James Gallagher missed out on the celebrating on St. Patrick's Day because of a recent illness. That must have been hard for one with such an Irish name to take.

Almost every laying flock in Michigan could be reduced by 10 per cent by good culling without hurting production, and M.S.C. poultryman asserts.

Townships Will Decide Fire Protection Plan On Monday

Fire protection in the four townships adjacent to the city of Charlevoix will be the main issue discussed at special township meetings called for Monday by the officers of Charlevoix, Hayes, Marion and Norwood townships.

The four townships which received fire protection from the Charlevoix fire department until December, 1953 on a basis of a certain amount for each call, are now being asked to vote on a new set-up whereby property owners would pay one mill on the assessed valuation of their property for fire protection.

The one mill would mean $1.00 on every $1,000 the property is assessed; for instance, if the property is assessed at $5,000 on the tax roll, the taxpayer would pay an extra $5.00 for fire protection throughout the year.

In December, when the city asked the townships to share in the cost of operating the fire department by contributing one mill annually, Charlevoix and Norwood townships agreed to pay the amount, which was 7/12 of a mill for the remaining months and to bring the issue to a vote in the April general election.

In the other three townships which were contacted at that time Hayes, Marion and Eveline, it was left to the property owners who wanted fire protection to make their own arrangements with the city fire department.

However, all agreed to bring it to a vote of township property owners on Monday. The present contracts expire April 20.

Eveline township is the only one of the five that will not vote on the issue Monday William Sanderson, Eveline township supervisor, said this week that since the township is divided as it is by the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix it will be left to the property owners on the west side of the South Arm to make their own arrangements with the Charlevoix department. This section does have some protection from the East Jordan department to which the township pays a sum of $200 annually. The section of the township east of the South Arm receives protection from both East Jordan and Boyne City. A retainer fee of $50 plus a certain amount for each call is paid to the latter department.

Property owners in the four townships where special meetings have been called are urged to attend the meetings, voice their opinions on the subject and vote on what they want done in the way of fire protection.

In Charlevoix and Hayes townships the meetings are called for 1 p.m. Monday; in Norwood township at 1:30 p.m. and in Marion township at 8 p.m. All meetings will be held at the respective township halls.

A Sermonette In Verse

Galatians 3:13 — "Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree."

Redeemed

Redeemed! 'tis a wonderful story; I love to proclaim it so well;
But never till home in the glory can I of its fullness half tell.
I was lost and afar from my Saviour, He sought me in tenderest love.
And when I was helpless and hopeless, He won me and drew me above.

He stood in my place as a ransom, He bore all my guilt on the tree,
From the curse of the law He redeemed me, and now by His blood I am free.
I am free from the laws condemnation, but purchased at infinite cost,
I belong to the Lord and His service, Who sought and redeemed me when lost.

Henceforth I am His and His only, His service is all my delight,
And I long above all things to please Him, and so be approved in His sight;
I know I can never repay Him, Nor thank Him for what He has done,
But I want to tell others of Jesus, so that some souls to Him might be won.

Oh, sinner, accept of the Saviour; You're helpless without Him and lost!
And nought you can do will avail you, receive what He gives without cost.
Since He has for you been accursed, and offers you pardon and peace,
Just take the great gift which He gives you, and so shall your strivings all cease.

Then you can proclaim with rejoicing, I'm redeemed by the Lamb's precious blood:
I have heard now I know by experience, what it is to believe on the Lord.
Redeemed! 'Tis a wonderful story! I love to repeat it so well;
But never till home in the glory can I of its fulness half tell.

ARE YOU one of those people who've always had a yen to visit some place special like for instance, Hawaii . . . I know it isn't as fabulous as it once was but it's one place I always thought I'd like to see . . . I've been told that the beach at Waikaki isn't any more beautiful than that along Lake Michigan and that the islands have been 'spoiled' by the tourists . . . But all those things don't make it any less fascinating for me . . . the palms, the flowers with their almost gaudy colors and spicy scents, the trade winds, the mountains, the leis, Diamondhead . . . I'll probably never see them all unless, per chance, I'm given a 'delay enroute' but it's something to dream about . . . It's a good thing we don't listen to that dreamy Hawaiian music often . .

BUT NOW about one of those boys who's been to Hawaii and points west . . . the Marshall Islands, to be more explicit . . . It there's anything real special going on anyplace, you can bet money that someone from Charlevoix will be there if it's possible . . . This time it was the H-bomb explosion in the Pacific and the Charlevoixian Ron Wojan who is serving aboard the Bairoko . . . According to Ron, who never was much for using a lot of words, I saw a blast and I'll go even farther and say it was a big, big blast" . . . what with censorship and what have you he didn't say much more about it, except that we probably knew more about it via the newspapers and radio than he did . . . As for the H-Bomb blast . . . it's one of those things we'll leave to the scientists with a prayer that they know what they're doing . . .

DID YOU notice something missing from Bridge st . . , we'll even give you a hint . . . it's missing from the downtown district .. . Alright, so you aren't good at riddles so we'll tell you . . . Barnard Reformed Church Members To Present Play Here On Saturday

The fascinating and absorbing story of "Tempest and Sunshine" in a thoroughly modern setting will be presented at the Charlevoix high school auditorium by members of the Barnard Reformed church at 8 p.m. Saturday.

On Friday evening, the three act comedy will be presented at the Ellsworth Community hall at 8 p.m.

The play, directed by Mrs. John Brock, tells the story of the Middleton family who live on a Kentucky plantation.

There's Joshua Middleton (Ted Heeres), his wife (Mrs. Heeres) and their two daughters, Julia (Mrs. Charles Bergmann), whom Joshua has nicknamed Tempest because of her fiery nature and Fanny (Mrs. William Potter) whom he calls Sunshine because she is sweet and lovable.

The action in the play revolves around the two girls and the two young men in their lives, Dick Wilmot (Nathan Boss), a northern school teacher, and Dr. George Lacey (Robert Potter), a young physician from New Orleans.

The young doctor is brought to the Middleton home by a society matron with social aspiration, Mrs. Ida Carrington (Mrs. Dale Boss). Others in the cast are Kate Wilmot (Mrs. Frank Boss), Dick's sister and Susan Middleton (Mrs. James McClanaghan), Mr. Middleton's old maid sister.

Humor is added to the production by three colored servants on the Middleton plantation, Aunt Judy (Mrs Clyde Cunningham), Uncle Luce (Eldon Potter), who loves to pester Aunt Judy, and Ambrosia (Mrs. Harry Potter), a colored maid.

The play is being presented under the sponsorship of the Women's Home Bible Study Missions Society of the Barnard Reformed church.

No admission will be charged when the play is presented at the Ellsworth Community Hall Friday and at the Charlevoix high school Saturday. A free will offering will be accepted at both performances, however.

Girligigs

I find myself easily amused . . . so all last week I played a little game of negatives all by myself. You never win anything when you play this game, but neither do you have to bother with boxtops and things.

The idea is to think of all the things you'll never see in Charlevoix . . . like, f'rinstance, you've never seen Chuck Pontius unaccompanied on the street by his dog Ranger, always stepping it up slightly ahead or behind.

Or you've never seen Fran Milner's satin hair-do disturbed by a single curl . . . or Jim-Jam Coleman without a pixie grin.

You've never seen Round Lake without it's sober schoolroom of gulls, huddled and happy . . . and you've never crossed the bridge without a westward glance thru' the channel for a swift look at the great inland sea.

You've never heard the curfew without synchronizing your watch . . . and tho' you NEVER will know what count is which ward, you never fail to count the fire alarms.

You've never seen Perry Smith without a quick quip . . . and you'll never catch Fran Martin minus a pair of earrings. And never, ever, will you see a cuter bunch of high school girls!

You've never heard an accent quite so subtle as Ann Baumgartner's. . . . and you've never felt more like smiling hello to everyone you know.

My game goes on endlessly . . . and all my negatives always score up to a great big positive . . . this is Charlevoix!

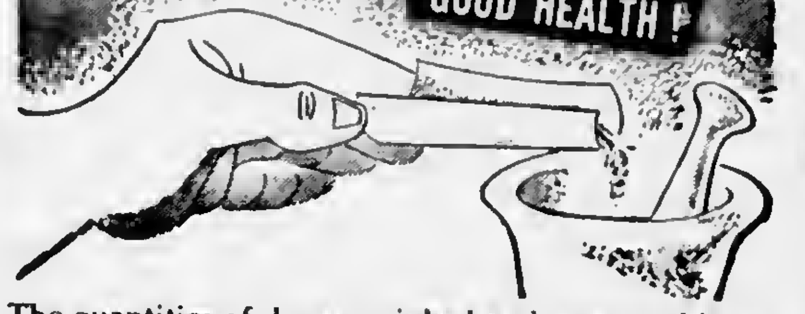
TINY FRACTIONS THAT ADD UP TO GOOD HEALTH!



The quantities of drugs weighed and measured in our prescription laboratory are often as minute as a grain —and a grain is 1 7000th part of a pound. In order to compound medicine requiring such fractional quantities, our pharmacists apply their professional skill with painstaking care to the measuring of these—and all—quantities of drugs specified by the physician. However tiny the weight may be, you can be sure that it will measure precisely with your doctor's specifications. County Agent Suggests The Best Seed Varieties For This Area

"What variety to plant?" is an important question in Charlevoix county emphasizes Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent.

Lower temperatures and shorter growing seasons make it important to grow adapted varieties, he explains, if a farmer wants good yields.

In oats, the recommended and Michigan certified varieties are Eaton, Craig and Clinton. Other varieties may give comparable yields if they are rust-resistant. High-germination, clean and treated seed and early planting are important to a good oat crop.

In the barleys, Bay, Moore and Wisconsin No. 38 are good feed crops, advises Rebman.

Grasses as a group are less selective in their classic requirements. Brome grass on upland soils and in mixture with legumes for hay or pasture . . . and reed canary grass on poorly drained soils . . . are the best bets for the northern area.

Legume recommendations, include alfalfa on the northern-grown Grimm types, or Ranger for stands staying several years where wilt is a factor. Certified ladino generally will assure a higher purity. Locally-grown red clovers are satisfactory, but seed supplies of named varieties that will outperform present species are being tested and built up for use.

A vast rain-forest encircles the earth between the tropics, says the National Geographic Society. It extends across northern South America, central Africa, parts of India and the Malay peninsula, the East Indies, and northern Australia. Half the continent of South America is covered by this forest belt.

Grain Crops Need Nitrogen Added For Best Results

Chances are that most fall-seeded small grain crops don't have enough nitrogen in Charlevoix county, says Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent.

Experiences and research show that grains can use more nitrogen than that supplied by fertilizer applied at planting time, he explains.

Usually a grain crop that does not follow a legume sod or receive liberal stable manuring will lack nitrogen. Nitrogen should be applied at from 20 to 30 pounds per acre of wheat and rye for harvest as grain. Forty pounds should go on rye to be plowed down for green manure. It should be put on in the Spring as soon as possible and it is not necessary to get the fertilizer into the soil. Any of the various forms of nitrogen are equally good if applied in the proper amounts.

Nitrogen can be purchased in many forms, such as, anhydrous ammonia (82% N), ammonium sulfate (20½% N), ammonium nitrate (33% N), urea (45% N) and as Nitro-lime, Cal-Nitro and A-N-L, all containing 16 to 20.5% nitrogen.

State Farmers' Age Average Is Going Down

The average age of Michigan farmers is going down, contrary to popular notions. A survey by E. B. Hill, Michigan State college agricultural economist, shows that the average age has declined almost one year in the past decade to 49.9 years.

Thirty-seven per cent of Michigan farmers are now under 45 years of age, an increase of 6 per cent since 1940. The number of farmers over 65 has remained at the same figure since 1930.

There was some variation in the ages of farmers in the economic areas throughout the state. The western half of the Upper Peninsula had the largest proportion of farmers over 65 and was among the lowest in the number under 45.

The largest percentage of younger farmers is in the 'Thumb' area of Michigan. Forty per cent of them were under 45 and had the smallest proportion over 65.

The three 10-year age groups, 35-44, 45-54, and 55-64, had each about 22 per cent of the farmers throughout the state.

According to Hill's survey, the younger farmers operate the larger farms. There may be some [illegible] between age and energy says Hill, and the fact that this young group has the growing family and the large debt may be reason for their having larger farms.

The older farmers are still inclined toward the poultry farm. The average age of poultry farmers was five and one-half years above the overall average. The specialized crop farmers average the youngest in age.

Malting Barley Is Listed As A Profit Crop

Michigan farmers who are worrying about what to do with extra wheat or corn acreage might profit by producing malting barley on a portion of that land.

That's a suggestion from Leyton V. Nelson, extension farm crops specialist at Michigan State college. During the last 10 years, he points out, malting barley has brought a substantial premium over feed barley. And there is a market for 8 to 10 million bushels of malting barley . . . a market now supplied largely by Canadian and Dakota barley.

Nelson has these suggestions for farmers interested in producing malting barley:

Select an acceptable variety, either Kindred or Montcalm. They will yield about as well as Moore, a variety maltsters won't accept. The county agricultural agent or local seed dealer will know about supplies. Kindred grain is white, while Montcalm grain has a blue layer on the seed immediately beneath the hull.

Use good seed. Certified seed is preferable in order to avoid varietal mixtures.

Plant early in good barley soil. Use enough commercial fertilizer.

Windrow to reduce losses from lodging and combine from the windrow. Adjust the combine to prevent skinned and broken kernels because damaged grain sells at a discount.

Plan to store the crop and store it dry to maintain high quality. Maltsers usually do not have storage facilities at harvest time.

Arrange early with the local elevator to market the crop.

Australia is often called the land of living fossils, says the National Geographic Society. It is the home of the world's only egg-laying mammals and most of the surviving marsupials.

Cristobal Colon peak in Columbia, 18,947 feet high, is the loftiest coastal mountain mass in the world, says the National Geographic Society.

Allan Bolhuis's Observe Wedding Date On Sunday

Mr. and Mrs Allan Bolhuis of Marion Township observed their fifty-fourth wedding anniversary Sunday with open house in the afternoon to friends and neighbors, who presented them with a beautiful blanket, and a large bouquets of glads, daffodils and hyacinth.

Mr. and Mrs. Bolhuis were married March 28, 1900 in Charlevoix.

Mrs. Bolhuis was the former Mary Fullock, and was born in Banks Township, Antrim county, October 1, 1874.

Mr. Bolhuis was born in Holland Township, Ottowa county, August 7, 1868 and came to Charlevoix while still a young man.

The couple moved to Marion township in 1901 and lived in a log cabin on their present farm until their new house was finished in 1903, where they still reside with their eldest son, Emerald and family, who now owns and operates the farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Bolhuis are members of the Barnard Grange of which Mr. Bolhuis is a charter member of 51 years, and also past master. He is still a most dependable informant and advisor on almost any subject as he is one of its best read members.

They have two other sons, Robert of Muskegon and Hugh of Grand Rapids, and six grandchildren.

They enjoy fair health, and often visit Robert and Hugh, and their families but still enjoy life on the farm most of all.

Plans Announced For Conservation Training Program

Lansing — Four sessions have been planned this summer in the conservation department's annual conservation training program at Higgins Lake training school near Roscommon.

An expected total of 250 grade and high school teachers from all parts of Michigan will attend the week-long sessions and collect conservation training for use in their classrooms the following year.

Fees, room and board at the school are paid for the teachers on a scholarship basis by conservation clubs, sportsmen organizations, women's garden clubs or other civic groups from the city or area in which the teacher works.

Conservation workers provide the program of education including field trips and specialist "professors" who teach basic land-use, forestry, geology, game and fish methods.

This year, the four sessions will be held July 11-17, July 25-31, August 15-21 and August 22-28.

Last year, three programs were held, attended by a total of 186 teachers.

The program has continued a rapid growth each year since its inception in 1947. Department educational workers are convinced it pays big dividends to Michigan's conservation program.

State Anglers To Have Try Against "Trained Trout"

Widespread interest will attend the April 24 general trout season opening in Michigan when anglers will have their first try against "trained" hatchery-raised trout.

Large numbers of trout at Wolf Lake hatchery have been taught that the way to a long, happy life is to avoid predators and other pitfalls that often have meant the downfall of untrained fish.

In the past, trout were raised in ponds and greeted every shadow on the water as a promise of food.

One complaint about such fish was that they were too easy to catch. Also, tests showed that they did not, in general, increase trout productivity.

To lick these problems, the training program was set up last fall under a conservation department contract with Psychological Research Services, an independent consulting group.

The fish have been conditioned to feed at night to avoid humans and bird predators and to live as they would have to under stream conditions. A number of the trained fish have been released in recent months in several lower peninsula streams.

Check-ups conducted on trained trout through the winter months have indicated that trained rainbows have a higher survival rate than either native or untrained hatchery rainbows. Tests also have shown that legal-size brook trout are inferior, in learning ability, to rainbows of similar size. There are some indications that survival of brook trout can be improved if training is started at an early age.

While full appraisal of training practices will come in future months one valuable side development has already been achieved. Department fisheries workers believe a mechanical feeding device, developed to aid in the training procedures, will lead to greater economy and efficiency in routine trout culture.

Report Unusual Deer Experience Near Gun Club

Eugene Gibelyon and Eugene Bergmann reported an unusual incident regarding a deer this week.

The pair were tramping through the woods east of the Rod and Gun Club property Sunday when they came on a deer thrashing in the brush. It showed no signs of being frightened for it was evidently in great pain, with its face bleeding where it had been rubbing it on the brush and ground.

They realized something was very wrong so they returned to the club called a conservation officer and accompanied by him and several club members returned to the spot where they had left the animal.

After some debate it was decided to take the deer alive and transport it to Gaylord where it would be examined in an effort to determine what was wrong with it.

With little effort Gibelyon and Bergmann with the assistance of the officer and others tied the deer, carried it to the road and loaded it in the truck for transportation to Gaylord.

They are now awaiting a report from the Conservation officer.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear husband, father and grandfather George S. Parsons who passed away March 31, 1953.

We cannot say, and we will not say that he is dead, he is just away!

With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand, he has wandered into an unknown land.

So we think of him faring on as dear, in the love of there as the love of here.

Think of him still as the same. We say he is not dead, he is just away!

His wife, children and grandchildren.

Hartford Taylors Observe Fiftieth Date Of Wedding

Ellsworth — Mr. and Mrs. Hartford Taylor, Rt. 1, Ellsworth, quietly celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary last Wednesday, March 24, in their home with neighbors and friends dropping in with gifts and to visit a while. They were especially happy to have their only daughter, Alice, Mrs. William Lindemuth with them. Mrs. Lindemuth, of Garden City, New York, arrived Tuesday by plane to be with her parents and they flew back to her home on Friday.

Mr. Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvanus Taylor, was born in Columbus, Ohio and came to Michigan in 1903. He lived in Central Lake where he worked for about five years in the Thurston store.

Mrs. Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rayworth, was born in England and came to the states, residing in southern Michigan for a time before coming to Central Lake when she was about 10 years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were married March 24, 1904 in Bellaire and they recall a large snow storm which complicated travel at the time.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor pioneered the store business in Pleasant Valley district and for a number of years ran a supply store for woodcutters in this area, following them as they moved from one locality to another. Their supplies had to be brought in by horse and wagon from the railroad in Central Lake to the Pleasant Valley store, because of the very poor roads.

In Green River, they recall serving as ticket agents for the old Ward Railroad, a branch of the Michigan Central, and the modern detailed reports we make, had nothing on the reports they had to make then.

In 1936 Mr. and Mrs. Taylor opened up their resort, Taylors camp, on Six Mile Lake and were busy until they sold the camp to Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Van Loon in January of 1953. Since then they have resided in the home purchased from Harm Fokstra in Pleasant Hill district.

Live-Trapping Of Grouse Stopped Until Mid-April

Lansing — Conservation live-trapping operations of sharp-tailed grouse in the upper peninsula's Seney wildlife refuge have been discontinued until mid-April, game workers say.

Game workers report that nine male sharptails were shipped to Ontario before the trapping was suspended. All had been captured in the federal refuge near Seney.

The birds were sent as part payment of an international wildlife exchange; the Canadians recently sent Michigan 49 wild Hungarian partridge for release in the eastern upper peninsula.

In return, state game workers hope to send the Ontarians sufficient sharptails to establish a colony across the border.

When sharptail trapping is resumed this spring, game men say, workers will concentrate on capturing hens to supplement the early shipment of males to Canada.

The hope is that colonies of both game birds can be established on opposite sides of the border.

"Halt! That street is verboten!" The arrogant, gutteral shout sent the ragged woman scurrying back, away from the street forbidden to her, yet his to walk if he wished.

In this beautiful, free United States of America where I am privileged to live, I have never heard that cry. My father never had to hear that cry. But my forefathers, in the land of oppression where they struggled, heard the cry of tyranny and rebelled against it. And it is because our forefathers were not content to be oppressed religiously and politically that they fled their homes and crossed an unknown ocean to brave the hardships of an unknown land, attacks by savages, pestilence and starvation, and still rejoiced because they were free. Freedom to arrange their own lives compensated for oll physical adversities. The Elder Brewster of the Plymouth Colony was wont, over a meal of water and fish, to return thanks to God because they were free "to suck the abundance of the seas and the treasures hidden in the sands".

It is because of them that we are free to go to school and church, the school and church of our choosing; free to read what we wish, to work where we choose, to experiment and invent new things; free to advance civilization so long as we stay within the laws created by the people we elect.

It would be easy to take for granted this free life because we have never known any other. All over the world there are oppressed people who look to us for help; people who have not enough to eat, nor adequate clothes to wear; people who haven't a place to sleep, to learn, to work, or to worship; apathetic people who have been oppressed so long that their only ambition is to exist. In this country existence is accepted and we work beyond that. We are free to plan our lives as we choose. We can build great bridges like tho Golden Gate bridge and the one to be built across the Straits of Mackinac. We can accomplish engineering miracles like the locks at the Soo which lock through more tonnage each year than the locks at Panama and Suez combined. We can find new cures for age-old killers like the vaccine for polio. We can invent new labor-saving devices, electrical miracles that are accessible to all. We can advance new theories like Einstein and his theory of the fourth dimension, like the dimensional theory of the cinemascope, which is a reality. We can build roads like the road to Alaska; this country has the most and best roads in the world. We can become great teachers and great preachers; this country has more schools and churches than any other country in the world.

All this free. The lowliest person is as free to attain greatness as the highest. Each one of us, protected by that Constitution which those struggling colonists created, and by the Bill of Rights, is free to go where he pleases, read what he wishes, say what he wants, worship as he sees right, and be whatever it is possible within him to be.

To me America is not just a place of mountains and rivers, of cities and factories, and of roads and buildings. To me America is a land of people — free people.

To me America means a few starving colonists who chose not to flee this new land, because it meant Freedom; it means Washington and a band of barefoot soldiers in the middle of a Valley Forge winter who fought to make this land independent; it means Andrew Jackson and a handful of Kentucky and Tennessee riflemen defending New Orleans against the men who had just come from beating Napoleon Bonaparte at Waterloo; it means Abraham Lincoln insuring that no person in this land could be enslaved; it means Theodore Roosevelt who rose above great physical handicap to become the hero of the Rough Riders and the President of the United States; it means an uncle of mine, a lieutenant in the air corps, who, in 1942 gave his life to help defend his country against the tyranny that was Pearl Harbor.

To me America means Benjamin Franklin and the miracle of electricity. It means Thomas Jefferson and the Constitution of the United States. It means Thomas Paine and freedom of the press; It means Eli Whitney, Robert Fulton and Mark Twain. It means Charles Lindberg who conquered the skies, and all the doctors, scientists, teachers, and writers who have been free to preach and practice their beliefs because they lived in this free land.

These are the people who have gone before us, the people who made this land of freedom. We are here now. Shall we keep it a land of freedom? In the words of Abraham Lincoln, "It is for us, the living" to be dedicated to the preservation and continued greatness of our America, the land of freedom.

FEELING LOW?

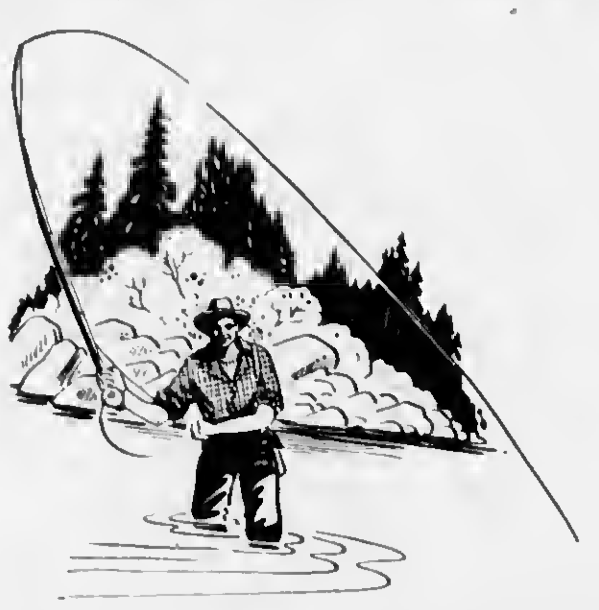
You Are His Responsibility



A brook trout is the victim of his own appetite and at the mercy of the man with the tantalizing lure. If the speckled beauty is hungry enough and the fly is flicked realistically near his watery lair, he is prone to make the dash that seals his doom. His graceful, many-hued body will be lifted from the tumbling waters, stuffed in a creel, and at last displayed with pride before the laughing eyes of fishing companions and family. Then someone exclaims, half-humorously, half in pity, "Poor fish!"

I suppose our condescending epithet, "Poor fish," is intended to convey mixed compassion and contempt for the trout's stupidity. If he had not been so foolish as to snap at man's lure, he would not have come to so untimely and disgraceful an end. He fries for his foolishness!

But so does the fisherman Fish and fisherman alike suffer from foolishness. And in some ways the creature on the hook-end of the fishing gear is better off than the species on the fly-rod end. The trout is busy about his own responsibilities — seeking sheltered pools, chasing his food, escaping his enemies. But obligations that are not his own he does not accept The brookie will not answer for a thousand and one incidents that occur in his native waters. Nor will he worry about them. He has no capacity to do so. The trout has no overworked sense of responsibility. Poor fish? No. Lucky fish!

Many of man's worries and anxieties arise from a perverted, distorted or abused sense of responsibility. In addition to our legitimate concerns about our own and our family's welfare and our wholesome interest in the real needs of our neighbors, we pile upon our already burdened minds a load of responsibilities that are not ours. We shoulder the burdens of the entire world. We pry into matters that are none of our affairs and then fret and fuss over them as if they were our sole concern. As a result we are broken, or badly bent, in mind and spirit — meddlesome, strained, morose people. Our inner peace is wrecked. Our relationship to others is damaged. Our usefulness is impaired

There are few secrets of victorious and happy living so important to know as this: know where your responsibilities end and someone else's or God's begin

Love your neighbors and your enemies. Help them at every opportunity. But when you have done all you can, don't let their behaviour irritate and chafe you. Their conduct is their responsibility, not yours.

Bring up your child in "the way of the Lord." Teach him both by precept and example how to live a wholesome life. But when he is grown and on his own, don't fume over his behaviour. Nagging now will accomplish no good. You have fulfilled your God-given responsibilities. Accepting more obligation than God intended is dangerous business. That grown youngster is on his own and must be responsible for his behaviour.

Moreover, you are not solely responsible for yourself. Since that is so, you need not bear the entire weight of your concerns. Someone else brought you here. You did not ask to come to this earth. You did not beg to be born. You arrived through processes a kind Providence set in motion millions of years before your great-grandfather saw the light of day. You are God's child. God has never yet been guilty of child-neglect, child-desertion, or contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Of course for some things you are responsible — for taking good care of your physical, moral and spiritual health. But when you have done your best, you can leave the rest up to God. You are His responsiblity.

A woman whose husband suddenly dies, leaving her to raise six children of her own, adopted twelve others. Such an unusual woman warranted a newspaper feature, and a girl reporter was sent to interview her. During the course of the interview the reporter asked the widow how she managed to raise all those children and to do it so gracefully.

"It's very simple," the widow answered. "You see, I'm in a partnership."

"A partnership? I hadn't heard about that. What sort of a partnership"?

The woman's face broke into a sunny smile as she replied, "One day a long time ago I said to the Lord: 'Lord, I'll do the work and You do the worrying,' and I haven't had a worry since."

That's it exactly Work as if the responsibility were all yours. But trust as if the responsibility were all His.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

by Gene Alleman

MICHIGAN'S 1954 primary election campaign is off to a roaring start.

And as usual, all of the primary fireworks are expected in the Republican contest for the gubernatorial nomination.

So far, five candidates have tossed their hats in the ring for the GOP nomination. The field may be reduced by one or possibly two contenders by the time voters go to the polls Aug. 3.

Already there are rumors that this candidate or that candidate plans to drop out of the race if the right "deal" comes along. But publicly they all say: "I'm in to the finish."

They include D. Hale Brake of Stanton, Owen J. Cleary of Ypsilanti, George N. Higgins of Ferndale, Eugene C. Keyes of Dearborn and Donald S. Leonard of Detroit.

Brake, 63, has been state treasurer since 1953. Known as Michigan's "Mr. Republican", Brake has wanted to run for governor for years but held off each time in favor of someone else who party leaders believed had better chance of beating Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams. Brake will stay in the race to finish.

Cleary, 54, is completing first term as secretary of state.

Active in Civil Defense during World War II, he rose to rank of brigadier general in Michigan State troops. Cleary served on state Liquor Control Commission with Williams in 1947-48 and was chosen chairman GOP State Central Committee in 1949.

Higgins, 53, has been in state legislatures since 1938 except for two years after his unsuccessful bid for Republican nomination for lieutenant governor in 1946. Author of the highly-publicized Business Receipts Tax, which is credited with getting state out of red, Higgins is only non-lawyer among candidates. He's an auto dealer.

Keyes 53, Dearborn's doctor-de[illegible] lawyer, has been on state primary ballot every two years since when he first ran for lieutenant governor. He has served as state's No. 2 official . . . 1943-44 and 1945-47 . . . and was unsuccessful GOP primary candidate for governor in 1950 and U. S. Senator in 1952.

Leonard, 50, is making his second bid to carry the Republican banner in final election for governor. He ran second behind Fred M. Alger, Jr., in 1952 primary as best known as former State Police Commissioner He has been Detroit Police Commissioner since 1953, headed state Civil Defense during World War II.

IN MANY ways, this year's primary looks much like repeat of 1950 when five candidates fought for Republican gubernatorial nomination with Harry F. Kelley getting the nod.

Five-way race this year is something Republican leaders have dreaded for months because each additional candidate lessens chance of complete party unity in final campaign when it is needed.

Many Republicans contend Williams would have been bumped off in 1950 or 1952 if it had not been for multi-candidate GOP primaries in those years which split party into many factions. Wounds inflicted during primary are hard to heal.

Republican candidates have agreed not to attack each other but one or two of them may forget agreement as campaign picks up steam.

ONE OF THE reasons Gov. Williams has not announced whether he will run for U. S. senator or governor is this:

As Governor of Michigan, he gets a lot of free radio and television time each week. But he'll be forced to pay for this time the minute he becomes a candidate. It pays for him to wait until the last possible moment to toss his hat in the political arena.

MOST PEOPLE agree the announcement of pay raises for 24,000 state employes was poorly timed It came just as the Legislature began consideration of appropriation bills which finance committees had labored on for two months.

Few lawmakers were happy about the prospect of juggling figures at the last minute to appropriate funds to cover the cost-of-living wage hike. They felt the Commission could have let them know about it earlier.

Actually, the announcement could easily have come at a much worse time. Originally, the Civil Service Commission planned to say nothing about the pay increases until they were approved.

The Commission plans to approve the increase at its next meeting, April 8-9. The Legislature adjourns April 9.

Imagine the howls that would have gone up if the Commission had waited until final day of the Legislature to make its announcement public.

Pictured is a map of the 29 northern Michigan counties served by the Northern Michigan TB Sanitorium at Gaylord.

Listed in each county is the best total of chest x-rays given by the state health department units in any one year from 1951 through 1953 with the shaded areas showing the percentage of the county's adult population getting chest x-rays.

Charlevoix county's best x-ray survey during the three year period was in 1952 when 2,392 persons or 25.5 of the county's population 15 years and over has chest check-ups.

Health officials feel that many active cases of tuberculosis might be found by reaching more adults in mass chest x-ray programs. In fact if national averages hold true, the Michigan Tuberculosis association estimates as many as 200 persons in the 29 county area may now have active tuberculosis unknown to themselves and to health authorities.

Frank's Flowers Becomes Member Of Wire Service

Effective April 1, Frank's Flowers, local flower shop owned and operated by Frank Novotny, will become a member of the Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association.

The membership in the organization, more familiarly known as FTDA, permits the shop to accept orders for flowers for delivery via wire anywhere in this country and in several foreign countries.

The local shop was accepted for membership in the association after being in business for one year and being thoroughly investigated by an Association representative.

Frank's Flowers will now display the familiar Mercury emblem which identifies members of F.T.D. and Interflora, the organization that gives the public a bonded guaranty of delivery of flowers-by-wire.

Mr. Novotny, who opened his shop early last year, has been associated with the florist business for more than 25 years.

Varied Weather Hits Area, But Not Like South

Charlevoix has experienced a variety of weather in the past week although it has not compared with the damaging windstorms and later snowstorms which hit southern Michigan.

After enjoying a couple days of spring-like weather last week, a windstorm with gusts up to approximately 60 miles an hour hit here late Thursday afternoon. Several television aerials were blown over, a few utility lines were down on the south side and several trees were blown down.

The weather then turned cold with temperatures down to 15 degrees at times. Sunday night a wet snow created hazardous driving conditions but road crews sanded the highways which were again in good condition Monday.

After missing the severe snowstorms Monday when up to ten inches of snow fell in southern Michigan, a storm hit Charlevoix Wednesday morning.

Three Townships To Use City Protection

Three townships adjacent to Charlevoix, Norwood, Marion and Charlevoix voted at special township meetings Monday to pay one mill to the city of Charlevoix for fire protection.

A fourth township, Hayes, discussed the issue and voted to zone the township before calling a special election at a later date.

In Norwood township, the issue carried by a vote of 30-1. The voters of the township also turned down an offer made by the R.E.A. to furnish lights at various points in the township at the rate of $5.00 per light per month. The issue was defeated by a vote of 26-5.

The fire protection issue was accepted by a vote of 39-5 in Marion township and by a unanimous vote, 10-0, in Charlevoix township.

Financial reports and other business matters were included on the agenda of all three meetings.

In Hayes township, the property owners voted to raise one mill for road purposes in addition to discussing the fire protection issue. The consensus of opinion was that fire protection was needed but since the township receives protection from the Resort township department in Emmet county and Boyne City as well as Charlevoix, it was decided to zone the entire township before bringing the issue to a vote at a special meeting.

Until December, 1953, the Charlevoix fire department furnished fire protection to the townships for a specified sum for each call. However, the city decided this was not a satisfactory arrangement and asked that the townships help share the cost of supporting a fire department if they were to receive protection from the local department. At that time, Charlevoix and Norwood townships accepted the proposal. Marion township turned it down until it could be brought to a vote and only scattered property owners in Hayes township who made special arrangements with the Charlevoix department received protection.

The exhibits were excellent and included the art work done by the elementary and junior high students, the handiwork of the manual arts department and the paintings and ceramics done by the adult education classes.

At the close of the program, refreshments were served in the high school cafeteria.

Laverne Heise, incumbent, and Clarence Rabach were elected directors of the Charlevoix board of commerce for three year terms at a special election held Monday at the city hall during the general election.

County Road Construction To Start Soon

A $122,847 construction program on primary roads in Charlevoix county has been planned for 1954 by the Charlevoix county road commission, T. B. Reynolds, road commission engineer-superintendent announced this week.

The program, which will get underway as soon as weather permits, was approved recently by the County Road Commission and includes the completion of some improvements started last year and others that will be started this year and continued as funds are available. In all, a total of 17.713 miles of primary roads scattered about the county are included in the present program.

The largest project is 8.249 miles of road between East Jordan and Boyne City beginning at the East Jordan city limits. On 2.3 miles oil aggregate surface course plant mix 175 lbs per square yard will be applied: on 3.998 miles, aggregate surface 21 ft. by six inches compacted will be applied and on 1.951 miles, grading and draining structures along with earth grade and aggregate surface will be included.

Four miles of grading and drainage structure with 36 feet flat earth grade will be done on the Charlevoix Boyne City road beginning about ½ mile south of the Camp Charlevoix road to the T. J. Smith farm near the Undine school.

A small piece of the King's Highway on Beaver Island, .9 miles, will be given a grade lift and aggregate surface along with a prime and triple seal non-skid surface treatment.

Another 1.231 miles of oil aggregate surface will be placed in the Peninsula road which runs north from East Jordan past Grandvue Hospital to the Ferry road; 1.33 miles of the Wildwood Harbor road which runs north from Boyne City to M-75 near the village of Walloon Lake will also be resurfaced with the same material; a lighter material will be applied to two miles of the Advance road.

The meeting to be attended by representatives from 29 northern Michigan counties will be held at the Northern Michigan TB Sanitorium at Gaylord.

State treasurer D. Hale Brake will speak at a dinner meeting highlighting the TB conference to which Charlevoix county has been invited to send a delegation.

Mayor Urges Residents To Take Part In Cancer Control Month

April has been proclaimed Cancer Control Month in Charlevoix by Mayor Dean Davenport.

In his proclamation, Mayor Davenport urged the residents of the area to participate in the life-saving work of fighting cancer by informing everyone of cancer's danger signals and by cooperating in raising funds to carry on the work of education, research and service.

The 1954 fund campaign to raise $1,650 in Charlevoix county will open April 12, Mrs. Ronald Scott of East Jordan, county commander of the Charlevoix county chapter of the American Cancer Society, has announced.

The shocking fact that one of every five persons in Charlevoix county will eventually die of cancer heads the list of reasons why everyone should support the fund drive, Mrs. Scott said in announcing plans for the fund campaign.

By contributing to the fund drive everyone will be given an opportunity to strike back at cancer, man's cruelest enemy.

Gifts toward the nationwide goal of $20 million may be sent to Unit headquarters at East Jordan in care of Mrs. Scott.

First Annual Sport Banquet Well Attended

The first annual All-Sports banquet at the V.F.W. post home Monday attracted more than 240 people including 60 Charlevoix high school athletes.

The Varsity football, basketball and track teams attended as guests of the sponsoring organizations, the Knights of Pythias and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The Reserve football and basketball teams were guests of the Charlevoix Kiwanis club.

E. J. Edwards as master of ceremonies introduced Coach Del Terrill who in turn introduced all high school athletes after introducing the Charlevoix high school athletic council, coaching staff and the high school cheerleaders.

Jerry Ayres of Manistee entertained the crowd with his feats of magic and his patter.

John Morriss, assistant athletic director at Michigan State college, spoke briefly before showing the film of the Rose Bowl game.

Announce Exams For Substitute Clerks At Local Post Office

A civil service examination for permanent appointment in the Charlevoix post office to positions as substitute clerk-carriers has been announced by Peter H. Timmer, local postmaster.

Applications will be accepted until July 1 and must be filed with the Director, Seventh U. S. Civil Service Region, New Post Office Building, Chicago, 7, Ill. Full information and application cards may be obtained at the local post office.

Competition in this examination is restricted to residents of Charlevoix and persons now employed in the Charlevoix post office who are between the ages of 18 and 50.

The duties of these positions require physical exertion and applicants must be physically fit to perform these duties or they will be rejected. A written examination is required by all applicants.

Starting pay is $1.61½ an hour with opportunity for advancement.

Mr. Timmer said the reason for calling the examination at this time is to place the work done now by temporary and indefinite appointment under the benefits of classified civil service. After the establishment of an eligible list as the result of this examination, all opportunities for employment must be offered first to those whose names appear on the list.

Revenue Bond Bill Passes House, Needs Governor's Approval

Senate Bill No. 1102 amending the Revenue Bond Act of 1933 to permit municipalities to issue revenue bonds for improvement and expansion of electric utilities passed the Michigan House of Representatives last Thursday by a vote of 66 to 24 and is now before Gov. G. Mennen Williams for approval, Norman D. Ance, city attorney, has announced.

The bill, sponsored by the Michigan Municipal League, was vigorously opposed by the large private utility companies and twice last week attempts to cripple it by amendments were defeated by the House, Mr. Ance said.

The Governor has until Monday to consider the matter. If he signs it, the act will become effective 90 days after the close of the present session.

The legislation is of vital importance to Charlevoix and some 45 other municipalities which own their electric utilities, since it will permit them to adequately finance the periodic enlargements and improvements of the plants required to meet the growing needs of the customers by issuing revenue bonds.

The revenue bond method of financing is an equitable way of financing, Mr. Ance continued, because it places the burden on the users of the service in proportion to use rather than on the taxpayer. The bonds must be approved by the Municipal Finance Commission to assure that the anticipated revenues will be sufficient to meet the bond payments.

Additional assistance will be given Charlevoix and the other municipalities in the problem of financing improvements if House Bill No. 141 which has passed the House and Senate is approved by the Governor. This bill will permit fourth class cities to finance improvements to their electrical utilities by means of title-retaining contracts with accompanying revenue certificates.

The officials of Charlevoix have been active in working for the legislation. They have also expressed their appreciation for the fine support given to it by Senator Frank Andrews and Representative Louis Anderson.

Band Members Leave Friday For Festival

The Charlevoix high school band and its director, C. A. Odmark, will leave tomorrow (Friday) morning for southern Michigan to participate in the Michigan State Band and Orchestra Festival at Ann Arbor Saturday.

The Charlevoix band will play at 1:40 p.m. Saturday at the Slauson Junior high school auditorium, 1019 West Washington st., in Ann Arbor.

The festival, sponsored by the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Festival, will bring together 31 of the best Class C bands in the state to play before judges of national reputation.

Each participating band has earned the right to play in the state festival by winning a first division rating in its respective district festival held early last month.

The 66-piece Charlevoix high school band will be housed at the Huron Hotel in Ypsilanti Friday night and will go to Ann Arbor Saturday to play in the festival. After performing the three numbers it has prepared before three judges, the band will then play two sight-reading numbers before a fourth judge and the resultant rating will be tabolated to give the band its festival rating. Possible ratings are: I, superior, the best possible performance; II, excellent but with minor defects; III, good performance but not outstanding; IV, fair and V, poor.

The band will leave Ann Arbor at 3:30 p.m. for the return trip and will arrive here about 1 a.m. Sunday.

Accompanying the band on the trip down state will be Mrs. Dorothy McRae and Miss Frances Muner, members of the school faculty.

Or a copy may be obtained by writing to Congressman Victor A. Knox, 440 Old House Bldg., Washington, D. C.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

by Gene Alleman

MICHIGAN'S rapidly deteriorating state parks may undergo their greatest face-lifting since the [illegible] of World War II this year.

If everything goes well, the Legislature is expected to appropriate about $900,000 in capital improvements for recreational projects before it goes home this week.

That's about three times as much as the lawmakers have been setting aside for this vital work in recent years.

During the last 10 years, the Conservation department has spent about $3 million on state parks or an average of $300,000 a year.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams recommended appropriation of $1 million for parks this year. He'll be happy if they get $900,000.

STATE PARK enthusiasts would also be happy with the big appropriation. They are disappointed that the Legislature has not taken any action on the lucrative Nakkula State Park bill. Sponsored by Rep. Walter G. Nakkula (R-Gladwin), the bill would do this:

All revenue received by the State from sale or lease of mineral rights on state-owned land would be earmarked for capital improvements of state parks.

The Conservation Department never knows how much it will get from year to year for parks. This year the appropriation will be high. Next year it may be cut back to $300,000 or less.

Under the Nakkula bill, the Conservation Department could count on receiving about $1 million a year for state park improvements. That's how much the general fund now gets from mineral rights.

Reported out favorably by the House Conservation Committee the bill was then referred to the Ways and Means Committee.

It will probably die there. Members of the Committee say it will be a minor miracle if the bill comes out at this late date.

THIS YEAR'S big appropriation will give the Conservation Department an opportunity to inaugurate its five-year capital outlay program for parks.

It calls for improvements totaling $1,037,500 during the 1954-55 fiscal year. Improvements totaling $8,787,000 have been blueprinted for next five years.

But the long-range program can fall flat on its face next year if the Legislature reduces appropriations for parks. The only way the program can be carried out is with a fixed amount of money available each year.

"We have fared reasonably well during the last few years, but we are not keeping up with the demands for wholesome outdoor recreation for people of our state," says Arthur C. Elmer, chief of the Conservation Department's parks and recreation division.

"What we need more than anything else is a definite and continuing source of income for park development, maintenance and operation."

If it dies, the Nakkula bill probably will be introduced again next year. Its chances of becoming law should be much better then because lawmakers will have had a full year to think over the idea.

At first, several Ways and Means Committee members felt the bill would set up another restricted fund. But by the time their fears were soothed, it was late in the session.

MICHIGAN has one of the finest system of public parks in the country. But in order to maintain its leadership, it must continue to improve the present parks and add new recreation areas south of the Muskegon-Bay City line. Ever expanding population in this part of the state creates continously growing needs.

More than 14 million persons visited state parks during 1953, according to official figures. Park attendance is expected to reach the 20 million mark by 1960.

"Good, clean outdoor recreation areas are just as important today as water, sewage and housing," says Mr. Elmer.

"There is nothing wrong with Michigan's park system that wise financing by the Legislature can't cure."

CHARGES by Auditor General John B. Martin Jr., that Conservation books are kept with "an amazing lack of accounting" will probably not ease the way for the department to get more money. Mr. Martin did not hint that there were "irregularities" and he did state that Conservation officials had responded to his suggestions for its improvement.

Conservation Director Gerald E. Eddy realizes that he must have a clean bill of financial health to remain in the line of "hopefuls" for bigger appropriations. He can be expected to put his house in order at the earliest possible moment.

ODDS 'N ENDS

IF YOU saw last week's Courier, you probably noticed the picture of the prize winners in the recent essay contest sponsored by the Shakespeare club . . . Inside was Joel Arvilla's essay and soon, possibly this week, you'll see the other winning essay, written by Anne Ratigan . . . In reporting the results of the contest, the judges said they had a tough time picking the winners and after reading the other entries, it was understandable . . .

I was privileged to read the others and can see why . . . And if you're one of those people who has the idea that this country is going to the hot place in a hand basket, I have just one thing to say . . . you're worries are groundless . . .

THE KIDS who entered this contest ranged from the 11 through the 14 year age group and their knowledge of American history amazed me . . . They have not only a healthy respect for what's been done for them in the past but they also know the score today and have some darned good ideas about what should be done tomorrow, so to speak . . . I feel that these few are representative of all kids today . . . the ones who are going to be mighty good ones . . . So just get over the idea that you're indispensible and give these youngsters a chance . . . they'll do alright . . . One things for sure, they couldn't possibly make a worse mess of it all . . .

ORCHIDS, a big bouquet of 'em, to the K. P. and the V.F.W. for the grand All-Sports banquet Monday night . . . the whole thing, from start to finish, was super . . . the meal, the service, the program and best of all, the more than 60 high school athletes and the seven cheerleaders . . . We're probably a little partial but we think they're just about the nicest bunch of kids you'll see anyplace . . . all scrubbed and pink with every hair in place and wearing their best 'bib and tucker' . . . Coach Terrill introduced each and everyone' plus the coaching staff and the athletic council and we know that everyone was just bursting with pride . . .

Mr. Ay[illegible] furnished some good entertainment and even had Bobo Bennett and Cynthia Smith joining the act . . . we'll bet they won't make any more remarks about how the slight-of-hand is done . . .

And Johnny Morriss of Michigan State college, a former Olympic track star . . . with the most gorgeous southern accent . . . from Louisanla, he told us . . . And the film of the Rose Bowl with former Coach Biggie Munn as the commentator . . . All in all a grand party and one, we're sure, everyone will remember for a long time . . .

GERALD MURDICK of the Candy Kitchen by the same name loaned us an old copy of the Charlevoix Sentinel dated June 20, 1874, when the paper was published by Willard A. Smith . . . Like all old newspapers, it was very amusing, compared to our present-day papers . . . There was very little local news but plenty of ads . . . One we liked especially was the one entered by Dr. Lewis (no first name) who advertised Drugs and Medicines with a notice that he "tendered his thanks to the inhabitants of Charlevoix and vicinity for past patronage and solicits a continuance of same. He has just received a large stock of medicines such as fluid extracts, tinctures, essences, oils of all kinds, gums, perfumery, etc" . . . Neither he nor his competitor, the Charlevoix Medical Hall, operated by George W. Crouter, druggist and dispensing chemist, mentioned as much as one aspirin in their ads . . .

And then there's the one that read "Newman keeps Ladies all-wool Under Garments. Save doctor bills by wearing them. Only nine shillings" . . .

MANY familiar names . . . that have been associated with the early history of the community, appeared in the issue including Rex, Rose & Buttars who operated a general store; Carpenter & See, who were located in the South end of Bridge st. between Antrim and Mason sts. H. O. Rose & Co., land and collection agents of Petoskey.

In an account of the Board of Supervisors meeting, the people of Wilson, Evangeline and Boyne Valley townships were asking for roads and the board adopted a resolution divesting itself of all further responsibility in regard to the scow owned in common by the county and the township of Eveline, and that the same be placed under control of the Commissioners of Highway of the township of Eveline" . . . Do you suppose the scow was what is now known as the Ironton ferry? Could be . . . And those things are still being brought before the Board of Supervisors . . . Who says times change . . .

WHO HAS more fun than kids . . . Some 70 of them, all members of the Pep club, ended their year's activities with a big shindig at the cafeteria last week . . . We were invited but couldn't make it but that didn't stop them from inviting us to be an honorary member . . . And it was a privilege to be asked for they're a grand gang and certainly support our high school teams . . In fact, you'll go a long way before you find the school spirit that is so much a part of Charlevoix . . .

And that spirit starts 'way down in the grades . . . where each class has its own cheerleaders and cheering section for the class tournaments which were concluded last week . . . And if you think those kids aren't serious about their basketball and their cheering, drop by some day and see for yourself . . . It's terrific.

MRS. JAMES Coleman, home from a month in Florida and browner than that well-known berry, stopped by Monday with a copy of the little weekly newspaper, the Grit, which she's picked up in Florida only to find a picture story about East Jordan's industrial corporation and the work they'd done in bringing an industry to northern Michigan . . The newspaper is published in Williamsport, Pa., and is sold throughout the country . . . Quite a plug for East Jordan and northern Michigan . . .

And Mrs. Frank Courier was telling us about a copy of the Daytona, Fla., daily paper she's seen with a picture story of Boyne Mountain in it . . .

RECEIVED a parcel via Mrs. Robert Miller recently from two Columbia, S. C., gals . . . They'd heard a former resident, Mrs. Charles Powell, tell about the need for clothing for less fortunate kids here so the two of them, Kathleen Britt and Elma Odom, packed a box of very nice clothing and some new material which made its way to us and which we dispensed where we thought it would do the most good . . . A big 'Thank you' from several people here to two swell gals who took time to think of their fellowmen . . .

Three Townships To Use City Protection

Three townships adjacent to Charlevoix, Norwood, Marion and Charlevoix voted at special township meetings Monday to pay one mill to the city of Charlevoix for fire protection.

A fourth township, Hayes, discussed the issue and voted to zone the township before calling a special election at a later date.

In Norwood township, the issue carried by a vote of 30-1. The voters of the township also turned down an offer made by the R.E.A. to furnish lights at various points in the township at the rate of $5.00 per light per month. The issue was defeated by a vote of 26-5.

The fire protection issue was accepted by a vote of 39-5 in Marion township and by a unanimous vote, 10-0, in Charlevoix township.

Financial reports and other business matters were included on the agenda of all three meetings.

In Hayes township, the property owners voted to raise one mill for road purposes in addition to discussing the fire protection issue. The consensus of opinion was that fire protection was needed but since the township receives protection from the Resort township department in Emmet county and Boyne City as well as Charlevoix, it was decided to zone the entire township before bringing the issue to a vote at a special meeting.

Until December, 1953, the Charlevoix fire department furnished fire protection to the townships for a specified sum for each call. However, the city decided this was not a satisfactory arrangement and asked that the townships help share the cost of supporting a fire department if they were to receive protection from the local department. At that time, Charlevoix and Norwood townships accepted the proposal. Marion township turned it down until it could be brought to a vote and only scattered property owners in Hayes township who made special arrangements with the Charlevoix department received protection.

The exhibits were excellent and included the art work done by the elementary and junior high students, the handiwork of the manual arts department and the paintings and ceramics done by the adult education classes.

At the close of the program, refreshments were served in the high school cafeteria.

County Road Construction To Start Soon

A $122,847 construction program on primary roads in Charlevoix county has been planned for 1954 by the Charlevoix county road commission, T. B. Reynolds, road commission engineer-superintendent announced this week.

The program, which will get underway as soon as weather permits, was approved recently by the County Road Commission and includes the completion of some improvements started last year and others that will be started this year and continued as funds are available. In all, a total of 17.713 miles of primary roads scattered about the county are included in the present program.

The largest project is 8.249 miles of road between East Jordan and Boyne City beginning at the East Jordan city limits. On 2.3 miles oil aggregate surface course plant mix 175 lbs per square yard will be applied; on 3.998 miles, aggregate surface 21 ft. by six inches compacted will be applied and on 1.951 miles, grading and draining structures along with earth grade and aggregate surface will be included.

Four miles of grading and drainage structure with 36 feet flat earth grade will be done on the Charlevoix Boyne City road beginning about ½ mile south of the Camp Charlevoix road to the T. J. Smith farm near the Undine school.

A small piece of the King's Highway on Beaver Island, .9 miles, will be given a grade lift and aggregate surface along with a prime and triple seal non-skid surface treatment.

Another 1.231 miles of oil aggregate surface will be placed in the Peninsula road which runs north from East Jordan past Grandvue Hospital to the Ferry road. 1.33 miles of the Wildwood Harbor road which runs north from Boyne City to M-75 near the village of Walloon Lake will also be surfaced with the same material; a lighter material will be applied to two miles of the Advance road.

Red Cross Fund Drive In County Exceeds Quota

A total of $4,041 has been contributed to the 1954 Red Cross fund drive in Charlevoix county, William Granel of East Jordan, county fund chairman reported this week as the annual drive drew to a successful conclusion.

Mrs. J. C. Marshall, local chairman, said that Charlevoix and the adjacent communities contributed $1,415.

At St. James where James Gallagher was chairman a total of $50.00 was contributed and at Ironton where the drive was headed by Mrs. Ross Alexander $46 was raised.

Elsewhere in the county East Jordan raised $962; Boyne City $1,369; Walloon Lake, $160; and Boyne Falls, $32.

The quota for the county had been set at $3,250.

Mrs. Marshall, Mr. Granel and Mrs. Don Haig, chapter chairmen, would like to express their gratitude to the residents of the community who supported the drive this year and to the workers who gave so generously of their time to solicit the area.

Mayor Urges Residents To Take Part In Cancer Control Month

April has been proclaimed Cancer Control Month in Charlevoix by Mayor Dean Davenport.

In his proclamation, Mayor Davenport urged the residents of the area to participate in the life-saving work of fighting cancer by informing everyone of cancer's danger signals and by cooperating in raising funds to carry on the work of education, research and service.

The 1954 fund campaign to raise $1,650 in Charlevoix county will open April 12, Mrs. Ronald Scott of East Jordan, county commander of the Charlevoix county chapter of the American Cancer Society, has announced.

The shocking fact that one of every five persons in Charlevoix county will eventually die of cancer heads the list of reasons why everyone should support the fund drive, Mrs. Scott said in announcing plans for the fund campaign.

By contributing to the fund drive everyone will be given an opportunity to strike back at cancer, man's cruelest enemy.

Gifts toward the nationwide goal of $20 million may be sent to Unit headquarters at East Jordan in care of Mrs. Scott.

Jerry Ayres of Manistee entertained the crowd with his feats of magic and his patter.

John Mo[illegible]ss, assistant athletic director at Michigan State college, spoke briefly before showing the film of the Rose Bowl game.

Announce Exams For Substitute Clerks At Local Post Office

A civil service examination for permanent appointment in the Charlevoix post office to positions as substitute clerk-carriers has been announced by Peter H. Timmer, local postmaster.

Applications will be accepted until July 1 and must be filed with the Director, Seventh U. S. Civil Service Region, New Post Office Building, Chicago, 7, Ill. Full information and application cards may be obtained at the local post office.

Competition in this examination is restricted to residents of Charlevoix and persons now employed in the Charlevoix post office who are between the ages of 18 and 50.

The duties of these positions require physical exertion and applicants must be physically fit to perform these duties or they will be rejected. A written examination is required by all applicants.

Starting pay is $1.61½ an hour with opportunity for advancement.

Mr. Timmer said the reason for calling the examination at this time is to place the work done now by temporary and indefinite appointment under the benefits of classified civil service. After the establishment of an eligible list as the result of this examination, all opportunities for employment must be offered first to those whose names appear on the list.

Revenue Bond Bill Passes House, Needs Governor's Approval

Senate Bill No. 1102 amending the Revenue Bond Act of 1933 to permit municipalities to issue revenue bonds for improvement and expansion of electric utilities passed the Michigan House of Representatives last Thursday by a vote of 66 to 21 and is now before Gov. G. Mennen Williams for approval, Norman D. Ance, city attorney, has announced.

The bill, sponsored by the Michigan Municipal League, was vigorously opposed by the large private utility companies and twice last week attempts to cripple it by amendments were defeated by the House, Mr. Ance said.

The Governor has until Monday to consider the matter. If he signs it, the act will become effective 90 days after the close of the present session.

The legislation is of vital importance to Charlevoix and some 45 other municipalities which own their electric utilities, since it will permit them to adequately finance the periodic enlargements and improvements of the plants required to meet the growing needs of the customers by issuing revenue bonds.

The revenue bond method of financing is an equitable way of financing, Mr. Ance continued, because it places the burden on the users of the service in proportion to use rather than on the taxpayer. The bonds must be approved by the Municipal Finance Commission to assure that the anticipated revenues will be sufficient to meet the bond payments.

Additional assistance will be given Charlevoix and the other municipilities in the problem of financing improvements if House Bill No. 141 which has passed the House and Senate is approved by the Governor. This bill will permit fourth class cities to finance improvements to their electrical utilities by means of title-retaining contracts with accompanying revenue certificates.

The officials of Charlevoix have been active in working for the legislation. They have also expressed their appreciation for the fine support given to it by Senator Frank Andrews and Representative Louis Anderson.

Band Members Leave Friday For Festival

The Charlevoix high school band and its director, C. A. Odmark, will leave tomorrow (Friday) morning for southern Michigan to participate in the Michigan State Band and Orchestra Festival at Ann Arbor Saturday.

The Charlevoix band will play at 1:40 p.m. Saturday at the Slauson Junior high school auditorium, 1019 West Washington st., in Ann Arbor.

The festival, sponsored by the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Festival, will bring together 31 of the best Class C bands in the state to play before judges of national reputation.

Each participating band has earned the right to play in the state festival by winning a first division rating in its respective district festival held early last month.

The 66-piece Charlevoix high school band will be housed at the Huron Hotel in Ypsilanti Friday night and will go to Ann Arbor Saturday to play in the festival. After performing the three numbers it has prepared before three judges, the band will then play two sight-reading numbers before a fourth judge and the resultant rating will be tabolated to give the band its festival rating. Possible ratings are: I. superior, the best possible performance. II. excellent but with minor defects; III. good performance but not outstanding; IV. fair and V. poor.

The band will leave Ann Arbor at 3:30 p.m. for the return trip and will arrive here about 1 a.m. Sunday.

Accompanying the band on the trip down state will be Mrs. Dorothy McR[illegible] and Miss Frances Ma[illegible]ner, members of the school faculty.

Announce Exams For West Point In 11th District

Due to graduation at the U. S. Military Academy the 11th Congressional District will have two vacancies at West Point this year, Rep. Victor A. Knox of the 11th district has announced.

In order to fill the vacancies, all possible candidates for the nominations to the Academy will take a standard competitive civil service examination in July. Marie at a definite date to be announced later.

All young men interested in taking the examination must write to Rep. Knox in their own handwriting before June 5. He will then file the names of the applicants with the Civil Service Commission which will enable them to designate where the applicants will write the 3½ hour examinations.

Full information on the examination and other admissions requirements may be found in a booklet "Catalogue of Information Concerning the U. S. Military" which will be found at the local high school. Or a copy may be obtained by writing to Congressman Victor A. Knox, 440 Old House Bldg., Washington, D. C.

It was interesting to note recently that eminent educators heartily approve of the new "word" games that have been sweeping the nation, as a means of increasing the intelligence of the enthusiasts.

I wish I could report that I already begin to feel the little bumps of knowledge sprouting . . . but I can't yet. even tho' I sweat out several games of "Scrabble" a week with the boss.

Since a babe, I can remember being reminded that I am a descendant of The Webster . . . and I guess I've always tho't that some of those brains must have been rubbed off a little on each of his descendants all along the way. But in this I wasn't included, I guess . . . or else the words that sluffed off on me weren't worthy words.

Let's take my own word "fubble" for instance . . . That couldn't possibly mean anything but a broken bubble. And I defy you to find a legitimate word for a busted balloon in my relative Webster's Dictionary!

Then there's frinkle . . . a "frinkle" in my language is a thin and expressive line in the face that a woman doesn't worry about until it gets to be a real wrinkle between the eyebrows.

"Splunk" is a dull splash . . . as tho' somebody sat down fast in a muddy puddle. And a "splinket" is a drippy faucet.

These are only a few of the words that the boss uh-uh's when I painstakingly measure them across the board. I've always been proud of the fact that I had a little Webster in me, but right now my inherent pride is making my life rather difficultish.

Pep Club Finishes Years Activities With Pot-luck Supper

The Charlevoix high school Pep Club climaxed its activities for the year with a potluck supper at the high school cafeteria Wednesday evening.

More than 70 members and several guests including Mr. and Mrs. Louis Courtade, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Bingham and Coach and Mrs. Delbert Terrill gathered for the event.

At the brief program which followed the supper, Patsy Ratigan president of the club, welcomed the guests and introduced Mr. Terrill who served as master of ceremonies.

Mrs. Courtade, club advisor, spoke briefly and told the students that it was important for the student body to support all athletic teams as well as advertise their team. She went on to say that the cheering section represented the high school as much as the teams and that it was important that the students give a good impression at all times, whether in victory or defeat.

The program opened with the singing of the school song, "Red and White Forever" and closed with the singing of several other popular school songs.

Other club officers are: vice president, Roberta Swanson; secretary, Barbara Smith, and treasurer, Kathleen Fessenden.

NOTICE

At a meeting of the Eveline Township Board, held March 30th, 1954 it was decided that any person or persons in Eveline Township West of the South Arm, desiring extra fire protection from City of Charlevoix, besides that of the City of East Jordan which they now have, should make such arrangements with the City of Charlevoix, themselves.

The Board felt that they could not comply with the request from the City of Charlevoix for the extra fire protection at the cost of the entire one mill as allocated to the property to be protected, leaving nothing left for the use of the Township.

Lancers Receive Athletic Awards At Sport Dinner

Superintendent Rex Wood presented awards to cheer leaders Charlotte White, Janette Yettaw, Karen Johnstone, Francis Carpenter and Helen Brown.

Principal Richard Lather served as the toastmaster and introduced E. H. Rood, who extended a welcome and spoke briefly on behalf of the Ellsworth Community Chamber of Commerce who sponsored the banquet with the teams and cheer leaders as it's special guests.

Mr. Wood expressed the appreciation of the school and the athletic association to the C of C and also to Max Bolser, who served as score keeper; Peter John Drenth, who served as timekeeper for the games this past year.

Lloyd Eaton, athletic director of Alma college was guest speaker for the banquet. Arthur Turner, director of Admission and Alumni Relations at Alma college was a guest with Mr. Eaton.

Mr. Eaton spoke of coaching, its compensations and what some people would say, its drawbacks. On the credit side, a coach has a wonderful opportunity to teach and work with young people, nurturing a fellowship with them, teaching fair play, sportsmanship, cooperation, the ability to give and take and helping to cement a community solidarity. Because of these factors, Mr. Eaton firmly believes that an athletic program is a vital part of the Education System for it helps prepare young people to better meet life, its problems and its joys and to help them in no matter what field of endeavor they find themselves.

A large group of people in the community attended the steak dinner which was arranged and prepared by the Banks P.T.A. Ways and Means Committee with the cooperation of the P.T.A. members.

Kate Malley returned here after spending about a month in Pontiac with relatives.

Cecil Kinny of Detroit spent a few days on the Island last week. Her daughters, Marilyn and Pat, were here for the weekend.

Douglas Burke spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Burke.

Vickie Dulley left Sunday for Detroit to see her husband who has been in the Detroit Marine Hospital since last June.

Sunday afternoon Mrs. V. H. LaFreniere and Mrs. Lloyd McDonough gave a stork shower for Mrs. Walt Wojan. Many of the ladies were present and enjoyed a lovely afternoon.

Easy Does It—Again!

Ladies Aid Society had their rummage sale the other night—and as soon as the doors opened, "Easy" Roberts was inside.

Without a word, he headed straight for the coat counter, picked out a shabby old tweed jacket, and paid for it. "Easy" told me a little later that buying his jacket back was getting to be a regular habit.

"That's been my favorite smoking jacket for years," he said. "And my wife talks me into giving it away regularly. Then I get to thinking how much I like it and hurry down to buy that jacket back. This is the third time I've done it!"

From where I sit, everyone's entitled to his own likes—whether it's a sports jacket, a baseball team, or the beverage he likes for dinner. For example, the wife likes coffee along with Saturday night spaghetti while I like a glass of beer. We never try to "sell" each other on our personal preferences.

Brucellosis Group To Consider Advisability Of Establishing Slaughterhouse In North Area

A sub-group of the state brucellosis advisory committee will consider requests at Gaylord on April 12 for a federally inspected slaughterhouse in northern Michigan for the disposal of reactor cattle. The public hearing is slated for 1:30 p.m. in the courthouse Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent said today.

The sub-group, headed by Ward Hodge, a Snover dairy farmer, has received petitions from 13 county boards of supervisors. The petitions ask for a northern collecting center for bang's disease reactor cattle in order to avoid shipment to Detroit. Sending brucellosis reactor cattle to Detroit is necessary now in order to collect the state-federal indemnity.

Other members of the sub-group, who will be present for the hearing, include: George McLachlan, Sr., of Evart; Dr. Cyril Spike, Owosso; R. M. McMullen, Otsego-Montmorency county agricultural agent; Paul Taylor, Saline; Harold J. Foster, Michigan State college; Dr. Robert Alkire, Assistant State Veterinarian.

Charlevoix county dairy farmers are urged by Rebman to think about this program and if interested plan on attending this meeting at Gaylord.

Farm Production Costs Sharply Cut By Better Methods

Want to cut your crop production costs and boost profits? Michigan State college scientists revealed the results of a study this week which showed costs of production can be cut sharply by improved farming practices.

The studies, conducted by Dr. R. L. Cook, head of the M.S.C. soil science department, and C. R. Hoglund of the agricultural economics department, showed these figures on cost cuts:

Improved practices . . . as compared with older practices . . . pared the cost of producing a bushel of wheat from $1.54 to $1.28, of a bushel of oats from 90 cents to 69 cents, and of corn from $1.21 to $1.02 a bushel. And following recommended practices lowered the cost of producing a ton of alfalfa-brome hay from $16.80 to $13.30 and a ton of sugar beets from $11.21 to $8.19.

The M.S.C. men found that the biggest saving in production costs was through using the recommended rates of fertilizer. But other practices, such as timely planting, use of adapted crop varieties, seed treatment, crop rotation, the right soil management, tillage and weed control, each were cost cutters, too.

Although a farmer using the recommended practices spends more money per acre, the resulting yields more than offset extra expenses. Dr. Cook and Hoglund found for example, that the average Michigan farmer spends $46 an acre to produce 38 bushels of corn. But, by spending $62.25 an acre . . . the cost of recommended practices . . . he would produce 61 bushels of corn per acre.

The studies showed further that Michigan farmers are not, on the average, using enough fertilizer to produce crops most economically. Sugar beets currently get an average of 490 pounds of fertilizer per acre, while the recommended rate is 800 pounds.

If a farmer used the recommended rate of fertilizer on sugar beets, he could cut the cost of producing a ton of beets from $11.21 to $9.95. And, if he used other recommended practices along with the increased use of fertilizer, he could reduce his costs to $8.19 a ton.

It's good, sound business to clean up your home, your farm and your community this spring. You can eliminate fire hazards that way, says David G. Steinicke, an M.S.C. extension safety specialist.

The USDA's list of plentiful foods for April includes fresh and processed oranges and grapefruit, cabbage, onions, beef, eggs, potatoes, dairy foods and broilers and fryers.

Sugar beets, malting barley, field beans, soybeans and oats with forage seedings will be used as wheat and corn replacement crops this year where they are adapted.

Advise Treating Seed To Lower Production Costs

Now that it's necessary to cut costs of crop production to the bone, seed treating is almost a must, says Ed Rebman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent.

Seed treatment disinfects the seed while it's being stored and when the seed is planted the chemical used protects it from harmful soil organisms.

Research at Michigan State college and nationwide tests show that these chemicals are effective as seed treatments for oats: Ceresan M, Panogen, Agrox and Mycon. For wheat and barley, these recommended are Ceresan M., Panogen, Agrano and Mercuran. M. S. C. specialists point out that one of these chemicals should be used because there are chemicals being sold in Michigan that are not effective in controlling smut and other diseases. The chemicals can be applied as a dust in a grain treater or drum mixer.

The treating should be done in the open where there is a draft of air. The grain can be cleaned and treated any time prior to planting time.

The grain should be sacked and tagged immediately to be sure that any of the treated grain will not be used for livestock feed.

Results of treating oats, wheat and barley this way are better stands, healthier plants and higher yields. And the cost is very small.

Recommend Early Seeding Of Lawns

Make your lawn seeding as early as possible this spring. Seedings made after May 1 are apt to be poor because the weather may be hot and dry and annual weeds will cause trouble.

That's a suggestion from C. M. Harrison of Michigan State college's farm crops department. Harrison says that Kentucky bluegrass grows best on soils that are high in organic matter and fertility and located in sunny areas. But if you have sandy or clay soil low in organic matter, red fescues may be the best bet, especially if the lawn is shaded.

Using the recommended turf grass seed on your lawn may try your patience for the first couple of months, admits Harrison, but the results will be better than you will get from using the so-called nurse grasses like redtop and ryegrass.

The M.S.C. specialist advises grading the lawn carefully before seeding with the best soil on top made into a fine, firm seedbed. A high nitrogen fertilizer like 12-6-6, 10-6-4 or 10-10-10 at 10 pounds per 1,000 square feet should be spread just prior to seeding.

He also suggests that one to two pounds of seed per 1,000 square feet is enough. If you don't use a seeder, he says, it's a good idea to hand sow half of the seed while walking in one direction, then sowing the other half in the opposite direction. You also can get better distribution by two direction seeding with a seeder. The same thing can be done with the fertilizer. After seeding, the ground should be raked lightly or rolled to cover the seed.

Michigan farmers plan a 7 per cent increase in acreage of row crops and a 4 per cent boost in hay acreage this year to offset an 8 per cent decrease in acreage of small grains, according to the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service.

Dairy Farmer Is Cutting Corners To Offset Lower Prices

What are Michigan dairy farmers doing to face up to the drop in dairy prices to 75 per cent of parity?

They're trimming costs of production as much as possible, says George Parsons, a Michigan State college extension dairyman. Parsons asserts that his talks with farmers at extension meetings have revealed these things:

Farmers are getting more conscious of expenses which may be unnecessary. Some figure they are feeding more grain than necessary. That means more interest in and greater use of high quality roughage . . . brome-alfalfa hay with at least 50 per cent of the legume, good quality corn silage with lots of grain or good legume silage.

And, the extension dairyman reports, farmers are cutting down on the purchase of protein supplements, figuring that they will be able to furnish all their cows may require through good quality hay and home-grown grains.

The expense-conscious farmers also are cutting down on what they believe may be unnecessary mineral buying. They're sticking with steamed bone meal and trace mineral salt . . . either including it in the ration or feeding it free choice.

Parsons says he believes that the farmers' cost consciousness will go a long way toward easing the price-cost squeeze in the dairy business.

The average age of Michigan farmers has declined almost one year in the past decade to 49.9 years, according to an M.S.C. survey.

Sheep Need Supplement With Grass Hays

Sheepmen who have only grass hays like timothy and bromegrass to feed pregnant ewes and feeder lambs should make sure the ration is supplemented with steamed bone meal or some calcium and phosphorus carrier.

That's advice from L. H. Blakeslee of Michigan State college's animal husbandry department. He points out that the calcium and phosphorus needs of a pregnant ewe are high just before lambing and while nursing the young lamb.

Feeder lambs, he adds, also need considerable amounts of minerals if they are to make good growth and gains. Blakeslee suggests providing the minerals free choice or mixed half and half with trace mineral salt if grass hays are fed.

If the sheepman feeds enough grain and good quality legume roughages like alfalfa hay, he won't have to worry about giving feeder lambs and pregnant ewes plenty of calcium and phosphorus.

Guess how much is enough to cover your next hospital bill!

☐ $10 A DAY? ☐ $30 A DAY?
☐ $20 A DAY? ☐ $40 A DAY?

THE FACT IS, there just isn't any way of predicting a hospital bill! Yet, when you can't tell how much a hospital bill will be, how can you be sure your family is adequately protected?

And think of how important adequate protection is . . . with one in every three families facing a hospital bill each year!

Would you feel adequately protected if the hospital services you needed were to cost $25 a day or more . . . yet, to pay for these services, your protection allowed you only $10, $15, or some other limited amount per day?

On the other hand, wouldn't you feel adequately protected if you knew that in case of illness, you'd be automatically entitled to needed hospital services themselves? This is the Blue Cross idea!

Not for profit, Blue Cross is the only organization for hospital care officially approved by the American Hospital Association. Over 3,000,000 Michigan people have Blue Cross. Chances are, your neighbor has it. See if he doesn't agree that there is no finer protection at any price!

Hospital Service Protection . . . the Blue Cross way

When you become a member of a Blue Cross Group it is like becoming the "owner" of a wide range of hospital services . . . such as bed and board, expensive extras like oxygen, drugs and medicines, operating room and so forth. Blue Cross hospital service benefits apply at over 200 Blue Cross participating hospitals in Michigan alone. And every enrolled member in your family is entitled to the same protection.

Doctor Bill Protection . . . the Blue Shield way

There is no problem of unpredictable cost, however, when it comes to paying doctor bills. Because, in almost every case, your doctor can tell you beforehand what his charge will be. The thing he can't tell you, however, is when you are going to need his services. So, against that need, Blue Shield offers a smart way to take doctor bills in your stride.

Blue Shield offers two basic plans—one, a straight surgical plan, the other, a medical-surgical plan. Under either plan, Blue Shield pays generous, specific amounts directly to your doctor for thousands of surgical procedures, including maternity care. And in non-surgical cases, under the medical-surgical plan, Blue Shield also pays liberal amounts for your doctor's visits to you in the hospital. Often the doctor's full bill is covered.

The cost is low

For only pennies per day, Blue Cross - Blue Shield entitle you to the most complete protection against hospital and medical bills it is possible to obtain. One way you can help keep the cost low is by using Blue Cross - Blue Shield only when necessary. Please do not ask your doctor to put you in the hospital for diagnostic treatment which could just as easily be performed in his office.

How to get Blue Cross - Blue Shield

Ask your employer or your union representative how you can get low-cost Group Enrollment. A company with as few as 5 employees may qualify as a group. Check your Farm Bureau. Write or phone your nearest Blue Cross - Blue Shield office.

FEELING LOW?

Filling Up the Hollows

Your favorite lake is an example of nature's faculty for making beauty out of emptiness. Whether your choicest body of water is one of Michigan's wide emerald inland seas, or but a pine-bordered, lily-covered pond cradled in the lap of Motherly hills, the lake you love the most is an expression of nature's art of filling up the hollows.

A newly formed stream comes to a hollow place. Into the empty bowl of earth the rivulet pours itself. A lake is formed.

An underground spring, feeling its way through rocky strata, discovers an opening toward the earth's surface. It leaps upward, finding above an empty basin of soil. This it fills, and we have a spring-fed lake.

Once upon a time much of our continent was covered with ice fields, immense expanses of glaciers that in their movement scoured out great depressions in the earth's surface. As the glaciers retreated before the warmth of a new geological age, they left behind huge blocks of ice, harder than the rest, which slowly melted, forming lakes which were deep, cold, and fresh. Nature has replenished the evaporating waters in these earthen vessels with rains and drainage from neighboring hills. Again nature has filled up the hollows.

No beauty is more moving than that which results from filling life's hollows, its empty places, with good things.

The loveliest lives ever lived were lake-like. They were lived by people who knew the emptiness of a great loss, the hollowness of a profound bereavement, the liability of a handicapping affliction, or the absence of barest essentials for comfortable living. Into the void they poured a charm or a grace or a service to mankind that beautified them and their world as a sparkling, gem-like lake adorns a landscape.

Much of our modern knowledge of astronomy stems from the research of that frail, poverty-ridden searcher of the skies, John Kepler. He barely pulled through a sickly childhood and a frail youth. His parents were both peculiar and eventually insane. His mature years were miserably spent as a semi-invalid. His life was hollow, empty of many satisfactions most of us enjoy. But how he filled up the hollows! He prepared tables of 1,000 stars by which mariners could safely find their way through the night. The modern astronomical telescope is based, in part, upon his inventive genius. The skies are more understandable because of Kepler's handling of his emptiness.

When General Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, discovered he was going blind, he said, "I have done what I could for God and for the people with my eyes. Now I shall do what I can for God and for the people without my eyes." Booth was confident he could do something creative with his loss

At Harvard University some years ago it was proposed that a strict physical examination should be given to all applicants for scholarships. It seemed reasonable to the faculty that funds held in trust for scholarships should not be wasted on students whose physical liabilities might not allow them to produce fruitful work. The matter was debated at some length. Then it occurred to an imaginative professor to apply the test of sound health to those disputing the question. It was discovered that the majority of those arguing the matter would not have qualified for scholarships because of bodily frailties. The debate was brought to n sudden end when someone mentioned that John Harvard, founder of Harvard University, was a person of feeble health. Some of those professors and John Harvard himself had discovered how to fill up the hollows of physical infirmity with a splendid compensation in learning.

Jesus, who had no home, who "had not where to lay his head," filled the empty places of his life with so profound a love for people that he is now welcomed into millions of homes across the earth. With what beauty he has filled life's "hollow places."

The fish that dart about in the green depths of your best-loved lake, the wild fowl that feed and rest upon its gently heaving bosom, the myriad forms of life that find their living and their pleasures there are the beneficiaries of a lake's ingenuity for filling emptiness with loveliness. And we all have been blessed by people who have known how to fill up life's depressions.

How have you filled up the hollows?

High School Band Is Awarded Top Rating At State Festival

The Charlevoix high school band directed by C. A. Odmark was awarded a first division rating in the Class C division at the Michigan State Band and Orchestra Festival at Ann Arbor Saturday.

It marks the fourth time in five years the local band has received the first division rating, the highest awarded at the festival. The band, which did not qualify last year, won top ratings in 1950, '51 and '52.

The band will make its first formal appearance after receiving the top rating when it will appear in a concert tentatively scheduled for May 20 at the high school auditorium, Mr. Odmark said Wednesday.

The judges were unanimous in their praise of the band, yet offered much constructive criticism and suggested ways that the band could be improved.

Typical of the comments of the concert judges who all gave Charlevoix 1 ratings are the following: Mark Handsley, director of bands at the University of Illinois said that "the band is very adequate though a certain thickness and sluggishness reveals immaturity of many of the players. Fine control and utilization of musical and technical resources. Certainly a well trained band fundamentally and musically."

Oscar W. Anderson, supervisor of Instrumental Music at the Chicago Public Schools, said: "Splendid work, shows excellent training."

Nilo W. Hovey of the band department at the Arthur Jordan Conservatory in Indianapolis, Ind. commented: "The band sounds very good with the exception of lapses in intonation and a few rhythmic figures which are displayed. Control of volume is commendable and no tone distortion is heard from over-blowing."

Norman Dietz of Central Michigan college was sight-reading judge and gave the band a second division rating which combined with the I's given by the concert judges gave the band a final rating of 1. Among his comments were these: "I enjoyed hearing this group, a good diet of sight reading will help this gang, it looks like you are rebuilding."

The 66-piece band was accompanied downstate by Mrs. Ralph McRae, Miss Frances Milner and H. E. Bugham of the local school faculty. Bus drivers were William Marme and James Willis and Lawrence Su[illegible]rnaw was engaged to transport the band equipment.

'Mayor Exchange' Will Take Place Wednesday, May 5

Charlevoix will have a new mayor on May 5 when the mayor of Portland, Michigan, takes over the city government for the day as part of the Michigan week observance.

Charlevoix's mayor, Dean Davenport will journey to southern Michigan the same day to take over the duties of the mayor at Portland.

Charlevoix and its exchange city, Portland, were two of more than 400 communities participating in the mayor exchange as a part of Michigan week observance.

According to Mayor James Robertson of Sault Ste Marie, chairman of the Mayors committee, the exchange is planned as part of a campaign to make the people of Michigan more familiar with their own state as well as to make Michigan boosters out of Michiganders.

Elsewhere in the area Boyne Falls will exchange with Romeo, Boyne City with Central Lake and Augusta with Ellsworth.

City Council Adopts Budget, Revises Sewage, Water Rates

The adoption of a tentative city budget of $160,001 for 1954-55 headlined the business completed by the Charlevoix city council at two special meetings recently.

Other business included the adoption of new policies regarding water and sewage rates and the purchase of all water meters; a fee for waterfront services; a new rate for lots in Brookside cemetery and the canvassing of votes in the recent general election.

In adopting the new city budget, the council voted to levy 18 mills on the assessed valuation of the city to raise a necessary $83,276 to meet budget requirements.

A break down of the tentative budget for the year will be found on page 14 with a report by Mayor Dean Davenport on the accomplishments for the past year.

Effective July 1, both water and sewage bills will be payable monthly and will accompany the monthly electric utility bill. Effective at that time, the minimum water rate will be $1.00 per month for 3,000 gallons with the rate decreasing as the amount used increases. At the present time the rate is a minimum of $1.50 for three months for 6,000 gallons.

Because the stipulations of the Revenue bond act have not been met, the council has deemed it necessary that revenue of the sewage disposal plant pay all expenses, thus requiring an adjustment of rates which will now be collected on a monthly basis. Also effective July 1, the rate which has been a minimum of $1.00 for 6,000 gallons for three months, will become 8[illegible] cents per month for a minimum of 3,000 gallons. As the amount increases the rate will be decreased.

To compensate for water used in sprinkling lawns and gardens, a discount of 15 per cent will be given during June, July and August.

Under the new arrangement, water-users will be allowed one turn-off and turn-on per calendar month with a charge of $1.50 for each additional service. Arrangements were also made for new users (see Council Notes).

The city in deciding to purchase all water meters, set a rate of $22.00 for a ⅝ meter one year or less old, decreasing the rate $1.00 per year for the age of the meter and allowing $5.00 for

Sermonette

Rev. George L. Majors, Pastor
Community Church of God

A small boy came runing home from Sunday School Easter Sunday morning, his face beaming. In one hand was a little plant, in the other was a package of seeds. "What did you learn today, Jackie?" asked his mother. "Well", said Jackie, "We had a play and in this play some children got up early Easter morning to hunt all over the living room for jelly beans. After they'd a lot of jelly beans, the Spirit of Easter came out on the stage, all dressed up in yellow and green, and she said to the children, "Do you think Easter is just the rabbit and jelly beans" Because if you do, you're all wrong.' So, of course they said, 'What is it?'" "Well, what is it, Jackie/" the mother asked.

"Why," proclaimed Jackie, fresh from the Spirit of Easter, "it's daffodils and green growing things."

This actually happened and might be funny if it weren't so tragic.

What is the meaning of Easter? Does it mean merely, new clothes, colored eggs, chicks, rabbits, flowers? Sad to say, to many it has meant only this.

When we remember that the disciples of Jesus, those who fellowshipped Him until the time of His death, and had heard Him speak often of His coming death and resurrection, when we remember that even they were slow to understand the meaning of His words and could hardly believe their eyes — its reasonable to assume that today, unless we speak plainly and clearly — the real meaning of Easter will never be understood.

Several years ago while speaking to a young mother, she frankly confessed. "I don't send my children to Sunday School anymore. Why? Because all they study is about nature, geography, birds, flowers etc. I felt that they should be learning about God. So I kept them home and bought a Bible story book and read it to them myself."

How tragic. How would you like to receive a letter on beautiful stationery fragrantly scented, with exquisite printing, but with no meaning. Picture a boy far from home longing for some news, some word of cheer, some comfort, but in the letter he finds only beautiful paper, fancy phrases and words without meaning.

Easter does have a meaning, as we well know. It has a most glorious meaning. The word Easter appears in the Bible but once. Acts 12:4 ". . . intending after Easter to bring Him forth unto the people." In the early English translations it was frequently used as the translation of the word Pascha or Passover, which had reference to the time of Moses when the death angel passed over the homes in Egypt having the blood of a lamb placed upon the doorpost. Today the word Easter has reference to the atonement of Christ through His death on Calvary's cross. It means that Jesus Christ has become the Passover for all mankind, since He was, like the lamb, slain for the forgiveness of all who will accept.

We joyfully sing, "Rejoice and be glad! For the Lamb that was slain o'er death is triumphant, and liveth again. Sound His praises, tell the story of Him who was slain; Sound His praises, tell with gladness He liveth again."

Easter means that Jesus was slain and resurrected again so that all may be forgiven and have new life beyond the grave. It means that all that Jesus had said was true, and that our preaching and faith is not in vain, but gloriously true.

ODDS 'N ENDS

By Fran Martin

THEY DID it again . . . the high school band and Mr [illegible] . . . returned with a first division rating which in musical circles is tops . . . The kids, after missing out on the trip last year, have worked mighty hard and really earned the honor . . . And when you consider that they were only one among 31 Class C bands participating . . . well . . . they must be pretty good . . .

TED BROWE, stationed down in Georgia with the Air Force, sent a picture home recently that he'd found in a magazine that looked familiar to him . . . wasn't it a picture of Charlevoix? . . . It was and it accompanied an article entitled "A Bloodsucker Kills a $20 Million Dollar Industry" in the May issue of Man's Life which we found on the newsstand . . . It's the old story of the entry of the lamprey eel into the Great Lakes . . . The picture taken on the south shore of Round Lake just East of Capt. Brow's big boat house shows reels of fish nets and four tugs tied up at the dock . . . The cutlines under the picture identify it thusly: "Picturesque fishing villages along the shores of Michigan and Huron Lakes are now ghost towns with boats and nets rotting in the sun". Gee, can't you remember when Charlevoix's fishing fleet of more than 20 tugs used to cause a regular traffic jam in the channel when they'd all take off early in the morning for their favorite fishing grounds . . . and when they used to bring in just tons of white fish and lake trout.

WE GOT to talking with Jake White the other day about fishing and how nets are set . . . If you ever get stranded on the bottom of Lake Michigan and can't find your way home, just send out an SOS to him and he'll give you the proper direction . . . But just be sure you know how many minutes or hours you are out of Charlevoix by his fish tug . . . We swear he's on first name terms with every reef and shoal in northern Lake Michigan . . . He can sure tell you a lot about that old Lake bottom . . . Oh yes, and you won't believe this but he sets nets by using church steeples, pine trees, roads and what have you on shore . . . He was telling us that there's all sorts of shoals and reefs north of the Beavers and as late as five years ago one was found when a boat hit it and is now marked . . .

DON'T KNOW whether smelt are considered fish or not . . . in the true sense of the word . . but they swim so why not . . . Anyway, it's about time for the annual smelt run . . . they keep telling us . . . But smelt, like a lot of people we know, are mighty tempermental and the water has to be just so warm and such and such conditions must prevail before they'll come into the streams to spawn . . . But one thing we're sure of, it won't be too long so get out the boots, the dip net and something to tote home your catch in so you'll be ready for the good word . . . And if you like smelt like we do, you're hoping for a good run this year . . .

EVERYDAY, some-one said once, you learn something new . . Our something new for Friday was that you can plant grapefruit seeds and get yourself the prettiest green foliage you ever saw . . . Mrs. McRae has some planted in the window boxes of the playhouse in the kindergarten room and it looks so nice, shiny green leaves that demand little care and lots of fun to watch grow . . .

IF YOU think the youngsters in this town aren't ready for Easter you should see some of the things they've been making and taking home . . . the kindergarten made the most colorful Easter eggs you've ever seen . . . Miss Miller's first grade made Easter bunnies, the likes of which you'll never see again, Miss Milner's second grade room made the cutest little Easter baskets in a riot of colors to name a few of the projects . . . others have cutout bunnies, baskets, pussywillows . . . just about anything you can imagine . . . you'll see a lot of them on display in homes this weekend for with the closing of school Wednesday afternoon for a five-day recess, the kids were busy carrying them home . . .

THE SEVENTH grade youngsters, boys and girls alike, entertained the kids from the elementary school Friday afternoon with a tumbling act . . . we understand it was real good . . . the little ones sure enjoyed it . . . Won't it be grand when we have a full time physical education program for all the youngsters?

DID YOU ever receive a community letter? Neither did we . . . but Gerald Left, leaving shortly for duty overseas with the air Force, received one recently that measured some 13½ feet in length and had notes from some 50 people . . . It would be fun to receive but imagine trying to read the darned thing . . . Started by his mother, Mrs. Gerald Left, and his grandmother, Mrs. H. G. Feterisel, it grew, but fast, and almost got out of hand.

AND FROM Hawaii, a clipping from a Honolulu newspaper with a story "Safety on the Waterfront" and who is pictured but none other than our own Bob Sommerville, BMC, who went to the Islands last summer to serve with a Captain of the Port detachment which maintains an enviable safety and security record . . . And in a port such as that, they'd certainly have their work cut out for them . . . In one picture Bob is shown with his C.O. and in another he is checking huge vessels on the waterfront . . . Incidently, Mrs. S. and their children went to the islands last fall to be with him and live outside Honolulu . . . In a note attached to the clipping, they said that a big celebration was in store if the territory is granted statehood . . .

FROM CAPT. Allie Moore a note which arrived only a couple days ahead of him . . . for he and Mrs. M. arrived Saturday after a winter in Fort Lauderdale and where, according to the good Captain, he spent a good part of the winter in the hospital . . . According to him they really cleaned him out . . . first with an operation, then his pockets to pay the bills and then his tan . . . But now that he's back among friends, he should feel better . . . Welcome home . . .

MRS. CLINTON COOPER, a former resident now living in Saginaw, dropped in Monday while on a visit in northern Michigan . . we reminisced about all the people we knew and she told us a couple things we thought you might like to hear about . . . The Jerry Conleys will be coming home later this month from Florida . . . Our old friend, Mrs. W. A. Cline, now living in New York is fine and recently entertained the Bob Ashdons who are just back from almost two years in Porto Rico and are getting settled at Bob's new assignment in the east before coming home for a visit . . . It will be so good to see them again . . .

IN THE mail this week an epistle from Mrs. Thomas Jackson (Betty Mock) who with her young son, Tommy, went to French Morocco last fall to join T-Sgt. Jackson . . . "We live about two miles from downtown Casablanca in an apartment that looks like a motel . . . there're 20 in our group occupied by American and French families . . . The streets here are very narrow and the drivers blow their horns constantly . . . They say that if you hit a pedestrian after you've sounded your horn you aren't held liable but if you haven't you're in the wrong . . . Also if you are responsible for the accident you have to support the injured person and his family until he can work again . . . In the downtown district there are many large department stores (no dime stores) and many sidewalk cafes . . . very pretty from a distance.

"CAMELS AND HORSES work as teams on the farm and it is so funny to see . . . there is a beautiful new cathedral here, white, of course, six stories high, a half block long and a quarter of a block wide . . . Inside there's no artificial lighting . . . just natural light coming through many many stained glass windows . . . The Pasha's Court is also something to see . . . all the corridors and archways are hand carved . . .

"We drove to Madzan last week and while there saw an old Spanish fort built around the 13th century . . . it has a lot of storks' nests on the top . . . my first look at both the big birds and their nests . . . And we also saw a snake charmer toodling his flute . . . just like in the movies.

"I saw Mrs. J. F. Webb (Marie Novak) and she said they expect to leave for home this summer . . . I might add that it was sure good to see someone from home . . . My best to all my friends back home . . ."

FROM BEDFORD, IND., a letter from Bill Jenkins who tells us that he spends a great deal of time here during the 'fishing' months . . . In the last issue of the Courier were several items of interest about the weather and the lakes . . . items which raised our annual Charlevoix fever a couple degrees, he writes . . . Enclosed was a nice little ball point pen that will, according to Bill, write nothing but things pretaining to weather, winds, lakes, fishing and other facts pertaining to Charlevoix-the-Beautiful itself that makes swell reading for a lot of us "water rats" . . . So if you have anything of interest along that line . . . let us know . . . Incidently, didn't hear about anybody getting a rainbow last Saturday . . . or didn't I listen on the right corner?

WAS REAL surprised one morning last week when Ed Boss called to tell us that the Rev. and Mrs. John Vogel, founders and directors of the Galilean Children's Home were to appear on Tommy Bartlett's radio show, Welcome Traveler . . . They told the story of the home to a nationwide audience and were presented with some wonderful gifts that will mean so much to the Home . . . including some fine laundry equipment which was needed so badly . . .

AND IF you should see Dr. Hoffman chasing bits of paper down the street these windy days, don't be alarmed . . . It's probably part of the script of the Minstrel show which he is writing in bits and snatches . . . all of them on scraps of paper . . . which have yet to be assembled in one place at one time . . . But we hear the show's doing OK and that's the important thing . . .

Indonesia leads the world in coconut production. The Philippines, India, Ceylon and the islands of the Southwest Pacific follow. There are about a million acres of coconut palms in the American tropics, with some plantation culture in Brazil, Mexico, and the West Indies. The United States is the chief consumer with Europe second.

Clare E. Whites Will Hold Open House On Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Clare E. White, lifelong residents of Charlevoix county, will celebrate their forty-fifth wedding anniversary Easter Sunday at an Open House at their home in Hayes township.

Friends and relatives have been invited to call from 2 to 5 p.m.

Expected for the event are six of the couple's seven children, Mrs. William Hair and Mrs. Oliver Garver of RR 3, Mrs. Earl Bacon of Green Bay, Wis., Mrs. Kenneth Jefferson of Royal Oak, Mrs. Jerome Kimble of Detroit and Quintin White of RR 3. Another daughter, Mrs. Mark Treadwell of Royal Oak will be unable to attend. Many of the couple's 20 grandchildren will also be present for the occasion.

Mr. White was born at Horton's Bay and Mrs. White, the former Ethel McLellan, was born at North Bay. They have resided in Hayes township since their marriage.

Kenneth Albert Associated With Hess Furniture

Announcement was made this week that Kenneth Albert is now associated with the Hess Furniture Company of Charlevoix. Formerly in business in Chicago, he operated a hard surface floor covering and wall decorating store of his own. Mr. Albert is highly qualified in the field of floor, counter and wall tile installation work as he has specialized in this work for several years.

Custom design and layout work present no problems with him for he is accomplished in laying out any floor or wall plan you may have in mind or creating one for you.

Hess Furniture has now enlarged its linoleum department giving more selection and more efficient service.

Mrs. Albert and five children are living at the present time in Gaylord but are planning to make their home in Charlevoix in the very near future.

Mrs. Inglis Tells Kiwanians About South America

Mrs. Katherine Inglis of Petoskey who visited South America last year on a Ford Foundation grant was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis club at the high school cafeteria Monday evening.

She spoke on the interesting trip during which she visited the majority of the South American countries. She also showed colored slides taken on the trip.

Charles Pontius was presented with a five-year perfect attendance pin.

City Council Adopts Budget For 1954-55

meters 15 years or more old. A 10 per cent reduction will be allowed on water bills to be applied to the purchase price. After the meters are purchased, the city will assume responsibility for their maintenance.

Effective April 10, a fee of $1.00 per day will be collected from all boat owners tied at city-owned docks for electric, water, garbage and trash pick-up services. The fee is being charged in a effort to provide better service. The fee which will be collected by Harbor Master, Joseph F. Howard, is not to be confused with a rental fee for dock space.

Because the city does not have a perpetual care fund for a service which has continued to increase in price, the city has adopted new rates for lots and graves openings effective at once: interior lots, $150 roadside lots, $180; single burial plots, $40; large 10 burial plots (8 now available), $400. All prices will be doubled for non-residents who are not tax-payers.

The cost of opening and closing a grave will now be $40 except in the case of Old Age Assistance cases when the charge will be $10 and for county welfare cases when there will be no charge. Additional charges will be made for winter burials, use of the chapel and vault storage.

It will also become mandatory that burials be made in cement boxes or vaults except in indigent cases.

The application of Steve Dubell for a Class C liquor license was approved.

Bills amounting to $20,703.32 were approved by the finance committee and ordered paid.

Shut-ins and Stay-at-homes — Tune in at 1340 on your radio dial (Petoskey station) at nine and ten o'clock Sunday mornings. Two good programs — music and plain Bible teaching. Undenominational.

NOTICE

At a meeting of the Eveline Township Board, held March 30th, 1954 it was decided that any person or persons in Eveline Township West of the South Arm, desiring extra fire protection from City of Charlevoix, besides that of the City of East Jordan which they now have, should make such arrangements with the City of Charlevoix, themselves.

The Board felt that they could not comply with the request from the City of Charlevoix for the extra fire protection at the cost of the entire one mill as allocated to the property to be protected, leaving nothing left for the use of the Township.

Charlevoix County Farm News

Advise Better Seeding Practices To Reduce Costs Of Legumes

The cost of legume seed is a big item on the expense ledger on most Michigan farms and anything farmers can do to reduce it is money in the bank, suggests Ed Rebman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent.

By preparing clean seedbeds and using proper methods of seeding, the cost can be cut. Rebman adds that proper seedbed preparation means getting one that is relatively free of competing weeds like quackgrass.

Quackgrass can be removed by the use of clean cultivated crops in the rotation and by leaving fallow the previous season.

The use of the band seeding method, where the seed is deposited behind the opening shoes on the grain drill, directly over the fertilizer and grain seed is best. Many farmers now firm the soil over the seed after it is planted.

The best practice is to have special tubes on the drill to carry the seed about 15 inches behind the opening shoes. This allows the soil to fall back into place and it leaves the legume seed close to the surface where cultipacking will not get it too deep. Ask for Folder 190 explaining how to correct your present grain drill for band seeding.

Statistics Show Most Farm Fires Are 'Inside Jobs'

How do most of Michigan's farm fires get started?

Statistics prove that they're "inside jobs," six out of eight times, says David G. Steinicke, extension farm safety specialist at Michigan State college. He and the Michigan Rural Safety Council are promoting a clean-up campaign this month to cut down on fire and accidents on farms and in homes.

When fires start on the outside of a building, he points out, they are usually due to lack of lightning rod protection and roofs of flammable material. But for the majority of fires, he suggests, these rules can do a big job of prevention:

1. Above all else, practice good housekeeping. Disorder and dirt near heating plants, incubators and brooders will cause a rapid spread of fires even if they are not the cause.

2. If you're operating an oil-burning incubator or brooder, don't store extra drums of fuel in the brooder house. Trim the wicks and clean the burner every day and be sure the incubator is on a fire-safe floor.

3. If you're using a slow burning fire such as that from coal, be careful in regulating the draft and make flues of heavy metal or brick. Be sure floor litter can't be scratched into direct contact with the base of the stove.

4. If you're using an electric brooder, be sure the wiring system is safe. And keep fuses and switch boxes free of dust and dirt.

Find New Control For 'Damping Off'

Michiganders who grow their own tomato plants for transplant purposes or those who grow them for sale will be able to do the job easier now, thanks to research at Michigan State College.

Mrs. Miriam C. Strong, of the M.S.C. botany and plant pathology department has shown that treating tomato seed with certain fungicides will control a disease called "damping off," one of the biggest headaches of plant growers. She found that Cuprocide, Arasan, TMTD dust, Crag 658 and 5400 controlled damping off satisfactorily without causing injury to the seedlings.

Before the discovery that fungicide would do the job, it was necessary to steam-sterilize the seedbed soil, flats and tools and be sure the items were not recontaminated — all this to prevent "damping off."

Mrs. Strong also points out that it's also necessary, even with the use of fungicide seed treatment, to allow for good seedbed drainage, to seed thinly in rows, not broadcast, and to avoid excess moisture — water only when the soil surface is dry. About 8,200 acres of tomato plants are grown from seed in Michigan.

Band Seeding Possible With Regular Drills

Until farm implement manufacturers begin to build special "conversion kits" farmers will still have to change their own grain drill for band seeding.

In order to aid farmers, the farm crops department at Michigan State college has published a special folder to show how to convert the drills.

You can get a copy of Extension Folder F-190, "Band Seeding for Better Forage Seeding," from your county extension office. Or you can write to the Bulletin Office, Michigan State college, for a copy. Pictures of several kinds of drills with the band seeding apparatus attached help show you how to do the job.

A few hours time and $5 or $10 for materials will enable a farmer to convert any make of drill into a modern legume seeder, the publication says.

Experiments have shown that seeding rates can be reduced by one-fifth by band seeding rather than broadcast. The fertilizer planted with the seed helps carry it past drought, insect attacks and weed competition.

Band seeding is not a cure-all. Lime, fertilizer, inoculation, adapted seed, weed control and proper seed placement are essential for good seedings, M.S.C. specialists emphasize.

Suggest Rhubard And Asparagus For Home Garden

Why not use one side of your garden for a perennial vegetable bed?

Charlevoix county agricultural agent Ed Rebman says rhuabrb and asparagus will thrive in this area. Only a few plants of rhubarb are needed for the average family and many gardens have enough waste space to include asparagus, Rebman insists.

Set these plants in the garden as early in the spring as possible. Both asparagus and rhubarb like rich soil well supplied with organic matter. Ten to 12 bushels of well-rotted manure or compost should be worked into the soil for each 50 feet of row. And apply 10 pounds of complete commercial fertilizer over this area and mix thoroughly with the soil.

Buy disease-free rhubarb plants of McDonald or Ruby. Set them in the row four feet apart and with crowns even with the soil surface.

When you buy asparagus plants, insist on good one-year-old roots of the Mary Washington variety. Space them 18 inches apart in the row. Roots should be set in a trench 8 to 10 inches deep in sandy soils and 6 to 7 inches deep in heavy soils.

Rhubarb shouldn't be harvested during the first season. Asparagus should not be cut during the first and second years and only lightly during the third. But, thereafter, harvest full crops.

Don't side track that spring urge to start slicking up our town.

Vegetables Give Color To Table

Did you ever stop to think how much color vegetables could add to your table?

Why not be a culinary artist this spring and cook vegetables to preserve their attractive colors as well as their imporant nutrients.

You can obtain a guide to good vegetable cookery by writing Roberta Hershey, Home Economics Extension Service, Michigan State college, for the free bulletin, "Green Vegetables in Everyday Meals."

Deer Starvation Reported In State

Lansing — Food conditions in Michigan's north are growing more critical for deer, conservation department field workers report.

Starvation was reported late this winter for the first time in the Gaylord area.

Also, game workers in the Mio area report additional signs of starvation in deer on private lands.

Kalkaska county conditions are "not good" and the district game manager there says some deer may be lost unless warmer weather arrives soon.

In the upper peninsula, recent snows have dimmed hopes that the herd will finish the winter without loss. Especially in the west end, field men say, deep snows are keeping the animals bunched in swamp areas where food is scarce.

The Baldwin and Gladwin areas, however, are reported almost without snow and deer are ranging freely.

If your coffee seems to lack that aromatic freshness you desire, try cleaning the coffee pot with a soda solution. Use three tablespoons of soda to one quart of water and let it stand in the coffee pot for 5 minutes, advises Marcille Pridgeon of the Michigan State college foods and nutrition department.

FEELING LOW?

When the Bird Walks

A friend who just arrived in Michigan's northland from Ohio says that spring is really on its way to us. As she passed through southern Michigan she heard a bobwhite sing. That was proof, she felt, that nature is awakening from a long winter's nap.

The arrival of the bobwhite, the song of the first robin, the trooping of the warblers as they steadily move still farther northward, are welcome sights. To one who loves nature the return of the birds is like the sudden glad reappearance of friends whose company we have greatly missed.

What is a bird? If you were to define a bird to a blind person who had never seen one, doubtlessly you would list its wings among its outstanding characteristics. You would describe its capacity for flight. Yet for how brief a time out of its twenty-four hour day do most birds stay on the wing. The bobwhite quail, the robin, the wren, the ruffed grouse, the bluebird — nearly all our most familiar and best-loved birds spend more time with wings folded than they do in flight. Yet, as someone has said, "Even when the bird walks we see that he has wings."

We human beings are bird-like in one respect at least. Our capacity for flight is used only on rare occasions. Faith rarely is summoned to take wings and soar. Infrequently are we called upon to exercise extreme courage. Utmost patience and lavish forgiveness are uncommonly needed. Most of the time our souls are grounded, walking rather than flying. Yet when a good soul walks we see that he has wings.

We may be no high flying orators, but are there wings in our ordinary conversation? Does our discourse with others lift them? We may think we could do tremendous good if we were wealthy, possessing millions. We would build orphanages, support the aged, provide for medical missions. With millions we would do wonders. But what are we doing with the little we have? Are we helping to the extent of our present ability?

"If I were a world leader, I would bring peace to the world," we say to ourselves. But are we living at peace with our neighbors? Do we have any unsolved hostile relationships with acquaintances?

In the shelter of the entrance to an empty store building a little old wizened magazine vendor had set up his shop. Scattered about on a small table was his merchandise. Colorful booklets were displayed against a velvet background stretched over a clumsily constructed rack. Above the rack was a worn and weathered sign bearing the inscription

HOW TO SUCCEED

READ YOUR OWN HOROSCOPE

As the pitiful little fellow tended to his negligible business, any passerby was apt to smile at the pathetic incongruity plainly present there. Here was a man whose business was a total failure offering the world advice on "how to succeed."

How often we feel we could change the world, if the opportunity were given us. But have we improved our homes? Is our community better because we live here?

The grace of God is more than the power to soar on rare occasions. It is the capacity to walk, through joys and disappointments, applause and criticism, successes and failures, and still to let the world see that we have wings.

Rural-Urban Tea Planned For April 29

Plans for the Charlevoix county Rural-Urban tea to be held at the Community Church of God Fellowship hall Thursday, April 29, have been announced following a meeting of the sponsoring organization, the Charlevoix county Farm Bureau Women's Committee at the home of Mrs. John Wieland Friday.

The silver tea will be held from 1 to 4 p.m. with Mrs. Homer Nasson, president of the committee, presiding.

The tea is a follow-up on an earlier Rural-Urban tea held last fall when the members of the committee invited the urban women to be their guests at a luncheon meeting at which four rural women spoke on different phases of farming.

At the tea planned for April 29, the women of the towns in the county have been invited to speak on various subjects. Mrs. Jay Baysinger of Walloon Lake, whose husband teaches and coaches at Boyne Falls, will represent the fixed income group; Mrs. Richard Noffze of Boyne City, whose husband is a minister, will represent the professional group; Mrs. John Bos of East Jordan, whose husband operates the East Jordan Locker plant, will represent small business and Mrs. Franklin Boss of Silver Birch cabins and motel will speak on the tourist and resort business. Each will speak briefly on the group she represents and discuss various phases of it.

All the women of the county are invited to attend the tea.

At the meeting held last Friday Clifton R. Jacobs of Alpena, Farm Bureau insurance agent, was the guest speaker. He urged that every car owner have full coverage on his car and that he check the policy to make sure that the insurance covers teenage drivers.

Mrs. L. E. McGhan, legislative chairman, reported on House Bill now before Governor Williams for his signature regarding fortifying of milk. Members present at the meeting addressed cards to Gov. Williams urging him not to sign the bill.

It was also announced at the meeting that Charlevoix county Farm Bureau would join in making an international film strip to be sent to a film pool in England. Anyone having an idea about a scene which could be incorporated in the film is invited to give it to the organization.

Pen pals in other countries were discussed and anyone wishing to contact a pen-pal abroad is asked to write to Mrs. John Wineburg of Vicksburg for a name. You are asked to tell her what country you are interested in.

I'm Lucky! I'm An American!

Editor's note: The prize winning essay in the grade school class submitted by Anne Ratigan in the "What American Means To Me" essay contest sponsored by the Shakespeare Study Club and the General Federation of Women's Clubs. The high school class prize winner written by Joel Arvilla was printed last week.

Have you ever wondered what it means to bear the title of an American? The Army, Navy and the Marines all have a tradition to uphold, and so does every American citizen.

Those of us living in the United States don't realize how lucky we are. It is only when it is pointed out to us, such as when we meet citizens of other countries that we can proudly straighten up and think: "I'm Lucky! I'm an American!"

Let's pretend that I'm talking with a little French girl, or a girl from Germany, Italy, Russia or England, and if I told them about all the things I take for granted in my country, they would be very envious and say: "You're lucky! You're an American."

They wouldn't hegin to believe me if I told them that our stores have shelves full of candy, bushel- baskets full of oranges, cases of meat, milk and butter. They would even laugh if I told them I could travel across our great country without being stopped and searched at the borders of each state. They would look with envy if I said I could worship in any church of my choice, and that my parents can vote for whatever man they want to run our country. They wouldn't understand that my family can live in any house they want, big or littlo red or white, with as many rooms as they need, and not be told by the government how many rooms each family can have. The girls from foreign countries would think I was joking if I told them my government would let me buy one hundred pairs of shoes a year if I could afford them.

They wouldn't believe me if I said I could go to a free public library and take as many books as my arms could carry, and that in America, we have free amusement parks, lakes and picnic grounds for every citizen, and that I can turn a small knob on my radio and hear any program I want. In other countries, the people must listen to what the government plans for them to hear.

Freedom is a word spoken of in America, but not many people realize what it means. My father can move his family three thousand miles across the country and make his home in a new city and the government will not stop him. We can travel at night without being stopped and questioned about where we are going.

No wonder my make-believe friends from the other side of the world say: "Gee, you're lucky! You're an American!"

If I travel in any other country in the world, the people spot me in a crowd and know I am an American. I would be recognized because I have a smile on my face and can laugh at fear. All Americans look that way. If they didn't, they wouldn't be Americans.

No one but an American can be spotted on first sight, because all the people in other countries have fear on their faces and looks of bewilderment, of starving and shahbiness.

It has been like this, because ever since the beginning of our country, an American has represented courage, good health, and prosperity. When Ben Franklin visited England, he became a great curiosity, because the English people wanted to see what a real American looked like. They saw a short, stocky man with a determined face and twinkling eyes who wasn't afraid to say what was on his mind.

And many years later, when young Charles Lindbergh flew his tiny plane to Paris, people came from all countries to see him, because he was an American who had done something that none of them dared to do. They saw a tall, handsome smiling boy with a reckless look in his eye and the sound of courage in his voice. Every American was proud of Lindbergh, but they weren't surprised at what he had done, because when an American sets out to do something, he generally succeeds.

The men who cleared our land, fought for our independance, and built our cities, were men who made up their minds they were going to do something, and who didn't stop until the job was done.

What would the people in other countries expect from Americans today who came from a history built on freedom and independence and courage/ They shouldn't be surprised to find us strong and happy today.

One of my ancestors was Captain Patrick Boggan, who was born at Castle Finn in Donegal County, Ireland. He came to America in 1760, and made his home in North Carolina. When the Revoluionary War started, he became a captain of the minute men. He was such a fighter that even his name brought fear to the enemy. He was captured once by a band of Tories, but he had his wife's flax knife hidden in his coat, and he surprised his captors suddenly by attacking them. Before he escaped, he had killed three of them even though they were heavily armed. That's the kind of man who won our independence for us!

Until he died at the age of ninety-two, Captain Boggan was a fighter for American Independence. He was my great, great, great, great grandfather/ I'm proud that I can trace my ancestry so far back, and I'm proud to know that even so long ago, my ancesters were making America!

If Patrick Boggan would know what America is like today, he would smile and say: "I knew it would be like that. It's the reason I fought so hard."

If only every American could take a trip around the world and see every part of it, each one would come back with his chest stuck out and a cocky smile on his lips. Then he'd say: "By golly, I'm lucky! I'm an American!"

Scout Directors Plan Program For Next Year

"Pssst! What happened to the hot water?"

This would never happen in a home with an automatic Gas water-heater. Its recovery is so fast—so much faster—that you actually luxuriate in hot water. Yet it costs less to buy, install and use. Come in and talk to us about the right size for your home.

ANNOUNCING

A NEW BLUE SUNOCO

ONLY ONE GRADE—AMERICA'S GREATEST GASOLINE VALUE

Improved Again – New High In Anti-Knock Power

Today, from the laboratories and refineries of Sun Oil Co., comes a new gasoline—a new Blue Sunoco, now even better than before. Made possible by new and improved refining processes, Blue Sunoco has now been stepped up to a new high in anti-knock power for the new high-compression engines. Still at regular gas price, the New High-Test Blue Sunoco is America's greatest gasoline value!

Proved Again – Wins Against 16 Premium-Priced Gasolines

New Blue Sunoco was tested against 16 premium-priced gasolines at Indianapolis Auto Track under supervision of Wilbur Shaw, President of Track. Results prove that—whether you drive 50,000, 20,000 or 10,000 miles a year—you can get as much as 14.9% of these miles free, when you change from a premium-priced brand to New High-Test Blue Sunoco at regular gas price.

THE TEST: Each day, sixteen cars (including those with highest-compression engines) were fueled with $3 worth of gas, driven around track till tanks ran dry. Mileage was carefully recorded. The fleet of cars was run on Blue Sunoco and 16 "premiums".

RESULTS: New Blue Sunoco—at regular gas price—beat them all! It gave up to 14.9% more miles (average: 10.4%) than the premium-priced brands of gasoline tested.

How Sun's one-grade policy gives you high-test performance at regular gas price

Sun Oil Company produces only one grade of gasoline—High-Test Blue Sunoco. This single grade policy results in savings on storage tanks, trucks and pumps. These savings are invested in research and new, improved refining processes to give you a premium-performing gasoline—New High-Test Blue Sunoco—at regular gas price.

A Report to the Citizens of Charlevoix By the Mayor

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following statement by the Mayor of Charlevoix is printed in the Courier as a public service to the residents of Charlevoix.

It has become increasingly evident that there is a need to acquaint the general public with the responsibilities of your Council and Mayor. It is not a simple task to administer the operations of our City government. So with the thought in mind that a well informed public is a more cooperative and understanding public I am hereby submitting a report to you on our past years activities and also am including our budget for the fiscal year.

Administrative

One of our first moves was to set in motion plans for employing a City Superintendent. After reviewing, interviewing and screening applicants from most every section of the U. S. we were fortunate in securing Mr. Roy Robinson who came to us in August from Niles, Michigan. This move has proven its value to the City beyond any doubt. During my first term as Mayor it became necessary to appoint three aldermen and one supervisor to fill vacancies, (a situation I hope does not occur again). I feel we have a fine Council working together and most sincere in doing a good service job for you.

Legal

Our City Attorney, Norman D. Ance, has been a source of advice as well as keeping the Council straightened out on any matters requiring a legal opinion. He was a most important factor in securing approval of Bill 1102 in our State Legislature. This Bill will permit cities like Charlevoix to expand their light plants to meet the increased demand, by issuing bonds to finance such expansion.

Electric

Because of the increased demand for more power it was necessary to expand our plant, and extend power lines. The foundations have been completed to house two 500 KW Cooper-Bessemer diesel engines. These engines have been purchased and are in the process of being installed. All of the diesel engines have been overhauled. Large storage tanks were purchased and installed for greater fuel storage. In addition to the regular maintenance work of our crew an unusual amount of breakdowns occured on our large Diesel, yet, disruption of power was held to a minimum due to the efficient work of our electric crew. Three voltage regulators were installed on the North side in order to help maintain a constant level of current. The extension of power lines was completed to the new Hospital and to the new American Mold plant on Highway 66.

Public Works

We are extremely conscious of the importance of each City Department to be self supporting. In order to realize this it becomes necessary to make certain adjustments and changes, particularly in our water and sewage departments.

Water

The fluoridation system which was approved by public vote last spring has been installed and put into operation. The extension of water mains to new Hospital and American Mold is completed. Plans for assuming City ownership of meters has been approved. These will be purchased from the owner by the City on the basis of 10% of your monthly water bill. Starting July 1 there will be monthly billings of water instead of the former method of quarterly billings. It also becomes essential for a slight increase in this service as you can readily see from the operating expenses of this department.

Sewage

The extension of State Street sewer was completed and new line put in to the new Hospital. A great deal of work was necessary on the new highway out Petoskey Avenue in relocating sewers, water and fire hydrants. This work was done by our City personnel. We can be justly proud of our sewage plant and the manner in which it is maintained. Again, the expense of operating our sewage system requires additional revenue in order to support it. The quarterly billings will be changed to monthly billings effective July 1st.

Streets

After many anxious weeks of delay and inconvenience the new highway North of the Bridge was finally completed. Since this beautiful four lane highway was opened apparently all complaints and skepticisms were dissolved. The City's share of this expense will be paid for over a three year period. A new street (Oak Street) was opened from the new highway to the City Golf Club. The re-surfacing of Antrim Street was deemed essential since this will become the principal street to the new hospital. A hard surface was put on the new road past the Cemetery as per the City's contract. Street Department — The erection of street signs was completed by the street department in addition to their regular maintenance work. This project was met with unanimous approval by the public. All the above projects were in addition to the regular repair and maintenance work of our City street department crew. Plans for the coming year include re-surfacing streets to be determined later.

Airport

New hangers were purchased and erected as well as re-locating the office and other buildings. A new roadway was constructed and additional work will be done this year.

Police

Stricter law enforcement, stressing traffic violations and publishing monthly reports of the police activities has met with general public approval. We plan to add another patrolman which brings us up to the protective strength as recommended by the FBI. A new patrol car will be purchased this year. Consideration is being given to acquiring additional property in order to ease our parking problem.

Fire

A complete reorganization of this department was concluded with the appointment of a Fire Chief and Assistant Fire Chief on duty 24 hours per day, 7 days per week. Equipment is being improved and a new truck will be ordered this year. The fire department has been holding monthly fire drills which include instruction in modern methods of fighting fires. New contracts to provide fire protection to townships was necessary in view of the added expense and expansion of this department. Periodical inspection of buildings in the City will be done by the Fire Chief. Recommendations for eliminating fire hazards made by him should be carried out or the matter will be referred to the State Fire Marshall.

Recreation

In cooperation with the school and Community Chest we are able to hire a recreational director to coordinate activities. The Softball program is self supporting outside of the cost of lighting the field. The opening and improvement of the North side Beach provided a much needed facility to accomodate our many summer vacationers. Play equipment and a new portable dock were also purchased and installed there. Certified life guards were provided at all three beaches by the City and this is an important factor in maintaining the popularity of our swimming areas. The filling and grading of Ferry Avenue Beach is proceeding which will eventually provide a larger area for picnicing. We are also planning a shelter house at the Inn Beach and Ferry Beach. Improvement was also made in the Park along Lake Michigan Beach. We are planning to develop a park North of Division Street and East of the City Golf Course. Long range planning includes Winter Sports development at Mt. McSauba Area which may include tobaganning, ski trails, shelter house and possibly a skating rink. Public interest is developing along this line. Our Shuffleboard Courts both in the East Park and Lake Michigan beach are a source of real enjoyment. It is hoped that some means can be secured to provide for additional tennis courts. This is a much needed facility in Charlevoix. The City owned golf course has been operating on a self supporting basis under the able managership of Frank Poole. The City has been most fortunate in having Frank's interest and help. It is to be deeply regretted that he will be available no longer.

Cemetery

Brookside is one of the most beautiful cemeteries in this region. We have filled, leveled and staked out new roads and lots to the Eastern end and additional space will be required in the near future. The operation of our cemetery is not self supporting under the present system. It was necessary therefore to increase the cost of opening and closing graves and increase the price of lots. A great deal of thought and discussion went into this decision before arriving at the solution.

Taxation

Just a word about our project last summer which resulted in a complete revaluation of all real and personal property in the City. This was done by an impartial outside firm. An equalized tax program is now a reality. The City Assessor and the Board of Review now have a complete file of facts and figures upon which to base your taxes. Some folks viewed this project with alarm thinking it would increase everybody's taxes. The exact opposite was the result, in the majority of cases. In fact the City's assessment was reduced by $380,000.00. The major accomplishment of this project was the equalization of all taxes in the City. Regardless of what happens in the future, taxes can be lowered or raised equally for all property owners depending of course on the amount of property each one owns.

Docks and Harbors

A recent survey of boat owners who use our harbor and services indicated that 91% were in favor of a minimum charge for docking at our City owned slips. In return they would receive improved services in electric power, water and garbage pickup. This system, however, would not provide for boat reservations because this would involve a complicated procedure which would result in a financial loss to the City.

Board of Commerce

This is a very important function of our City government. Stewart Coleman as Secretary performs many and varied tasks. It is hoped that greater participation from the Board of Directors and the Merchants will develop this year. A movement is under way to organize the merchants into an association which not only will provide help in planning and promotional work but also financial assistance. It is my belief that if an individual has a direct investment in something he will become more interested in the operations and the results. We should all get behind "Irish" and give him any assistance we are capable of providing. Several major conventions are going to be held in Charlevoix this summer. I sincerely urge all citizens to become an ambassador of good will and sell Charlevoix.

Economic Development Corporation

This is a group of Civic minded people who are interested in seeing to it that Charlevoix progresses industrially. They have done a good job and from all indications will continue to do so. The present operations of the American Mold is a direct result of this group. We are indeed grateful to Mr. Quarnstrom for his keen interest in Charlevoix and sincerely hope he continues to expand.

The South Bend Tool & Die Company and their numerous branches of activity has provided employment for many men and women the past year. Paul-Reed, Inc. is growing and plans are underway for expansion of the present plant. We hope Jack will eventually bring all operations that are connected with manufacturing his product into Charlevoix.

Freedman Artcraft has been a real payroll boost to Charlevoix for the past several years. Gordon has developed his own skills to a great extent and now has a group of fine craftsmen.

Statistics have been gathered in regard to available employment for use in securing new industries. Efforts are under way to secure new stores as a result of a survey completed last year. A study has been completed in relation to the total payroll in Charlevoix at the present time and it amounts to over 2¼ million dollars. This includes only three categories, industry, commercial and governmental units.

Planning Commission

A permanent committee of nine members that is designed to study problems pertaining to the City, including land use and change of charter.

Miscellaneous

The following are important items not falling under any other catergories and not necessarily coming under City jurisdiction.

The new $600,000.00 Hospital will be completed this summer and should be ready for occupancy in August.

The new addition to our school was completed last year and occupied last fall.

The new highway US 31, South of the City is to be completed in July.

The dog problem will be solved to a great extent with the organization of the County Humane Society.

Three new Motels were completed last summer and two more are being contemplated this year. A new building to house a restaurant and several shops is under construction.

Several new homes were built last year and at least five more will be built this year.

The constant demand for increased services to the public means of course greater expense in providing these services.

Progress and improvement are essential to any City if they do not want to slip backwards. It is impossible to stand still. Charlevoix is growing, therefore, expansion of our utilities, and the demand for more services requires greater expenditures. The future looks bright and with your continued support and cooperation I am confident the coming year will result in a prosperous one for us all.

Charlevoix's New Diesel Engines Arrive

The two engines, which will generate 100 kilowatts, will give the local utility plant a maximum of 3200 kilowatts when combined with other installations.

At the peak of the 1953 season when the load was the heaviest, 1800 KWs were needed daily. This season the local need is expected to reach 2200 KWs in August. The new engines will give the local plant a margin of 1000 KWs when the season is at its peak.

ODDS 'N ENDS

By Fran Martin

WE STILL haven't heard of anyone coming up with a rainbow since the season opened last week ... The trout and blue gill season will open in all streams this week ... and our fishermen will be out at the crack of dawn ... Or possibly when the season opens at 12:01 a.m. ... We heard Tom Fessenden doing a bit of sputtering because the season opens the day the Seniors leave on their trip and he's going to miss out on opening day ... And Tom couldn't very well stay at home either, for he's president of the class ... But if any of you guys get lucky and bring home some fish, let us know about it, huh? We'd like to know ... and if they shrink a little from the time you catch 'em 'til you get 'em home, don't worry about it ... we won't tell the Conservation officer ... Not if you share your catch, that it ...

ONCE upon a time we saw a picture of the Fountain City House on River street that was taken in the heyday of the then popular hostelry ... Haven't any idea of the date but it was taken across Pine river (the channel to you) and showed a parade forming ... As we remember it there were flags, men in uniform, drums ... And here's the catch ... we'd like to borrow it for just a little while ... just long enough to have a cut made for use in the Courier ... So if you have such a picture we'd appreciate if you'd loan it to us ... please.

HOW DO you like the new Young building at the bridge which is being completed ... We swear it looks nicer every time we go past the place ... Did you notice the latest addition to the top of the building ... a weather vane ... with two white seagull's in flight replacing the traditional cock ... Another nice Young touch ... for who would think of it ... Very [illegible] indeed ... and so typical of Charlevoix ...

ANOTHER glorious Easter day [illegible] ... Churches in and around Charlevoix were crowded for all services as the faithful turned to worship in the churches of their choice on the anniversary of one of the greatest days in the Christian church calendar ... A day of hope, a day when the future looks bright and the past is something to store away in our memories for reference now and then ...

The weather, though not exactly sunny, was mild and Easter bonnets of every description and Easter clothes equally as new and colorful were much in evidence ... Many families attended church in a group ... with mothers proudly wearing Easter corsages ... and then everyone gathering for a big Easter dinner ... What's more wonderful than days like this ...

BUT DID you notice the haze that gave the sky an eerie look throughout most of the day ... It was noticeable not only along the lake but well into the middle of the state ... some said it was fog ... others that it was dust from a storm in the midwest ... whatever it was we didn't like the looks of it ...

KEEP YOUR fingers crossed, will you please? The baseball season opened Monday and already Detroit has won four out of five as this is being written ... We're not exactly a first-rate baseball fan but we would like to see that young team stay on the victory trail ... after their [illegible] ... If trying will do it, that [illegible] of rookies are going to do it ... But just for insurance don't forget to cross your fingers ...

IT HAPPENED in Mrs. Shetterley's first grade ... Each youngster was asked to draw a picture portraying what he wanted to be when he grew up ... The little girls drew darling pictures of nurses and teachers and all the things little girls want to be and the little boys, well, they wanted to be just about anything you could imagine from cowboys, firemen, locomotive engineers and what have you ... But one picture of a building puzzled Mrs. Shetterley so she said to the six-year-old ... 'you were to draw a picture of what you wanted to be when you grew up. What is this a picture of?' ... Without hesitating for a second he answered "It's a picture of the White House and when I grow up I want to be president" ... So in years to come, if we should have a president named William Bergmann, you can say 'I knew him when' ... Incidently, he's the son of the Richard Bergmanns ...

ALONG WITH all the wonderful signs of Spring we've seen ... or heard recently ... are two that are our favorites ... the song of the meadow lark and deep croaking of the frog ... When we hear those we know that spring has arrived ..... Though the trees don't look as if they'll ever have buds, let alone leaves, they'll be poppin' soon ... and then the trees will blossom and the most glorious season of the year will be upon us ...

COME SUNDAY morning, we'll be saying Adieu to our Seniors as they leave on the most ambitious trip ever planned by a local high school class ... for at the crack of dawn, come Sunday, they'll be off on the long-awaited trip to New York City ... Those kids have worked hard for this ... Through the years, especially this year, we've heard them plan and plot to raise funds for this big adventure ... We wish them Bon voyage ... and may every minute of the time be as thrilling as they've dreamed it will be ... I know they are all equipped with rose-colored glasses, as is all youth ... And if you've forgotten how happy those kids are, just think back to the first dream you had come true ... right before your eyes ... And if you can't remember that, well, you're in a bad way ...

MORE RUMORS making the rounds ... and we'll pass a couple along to you ... just to give you something to think about ... First, we've been hearing for ages that Portland Cement is selling out to a company in the east ... Rumor denied by all concerned ... Second we hear that Arthur Godfrey is going to make his summer home in our fair county ... Walloon Lake, to be exact ... No comment on that one from us ... But we thought you'd like to know what the latest ... what is the word the army uses for it? ...

THE CLASS of '29 of our Alma mater, Charlevoix high school to you, is running into difficulties and has sent out an SOS ... they're planning a 25th reunion and they need the names and addresses of former teachers ... there's Miss Lamb, Miss Fox (no first names available), Margaret [illegible] and Valera Keller ... If you know these gals' married names (if any) and addresses, contact Mrs J. C. Marshall ... We understand they've contacted all but one member of the class ... he's John Critch ... so if you know his whereabouts, also call Mrs. M ... Not bad for a class of 36 ... only one unaccounted for ...

When a service that has been given for two straight years out of the kindness of one's heart is discontinued because of necessity, it's very difficult to say 'thank you' in such a manner that the donors will know you really mean it ... That however is what the Charlevoix hospital staff and patients would like to say to Brown Motors and Schroeder and Hovey Drug for having the daily paper ... seven copies ... delivered to the hospital daily for more than two years ... Brown Motors backed the project for two years and Schroeder and Hovey for two months before that ... Miss Ann Baumgartner, hospital superintendent, in asking that we do this for the hospital, said there was little one could say in behalf of the patients who have enjoyed this service except "thank you, I know that you have helped brighten the days of countless patients at the hospital and have helped shorten the hours ..."

- Mrs. George Emrey, who spent the winter at Ormond Beach, Fla. is enroute home, she has written friends here.

In Case of Delay

When I visited the brook yesterday it was swollen far beyond its normal size. Melting snows and falling rains had gorged the stream until it overflowed its banks and wet the hanging grasses. Now the waters rushed jubilantly toward the nearby lake, as if they were fluid hot-rod cars driven by power-mad, speed-crazed teen-age drivers.

In this frenzied state, dashing madly, impatiently toward its meeting with the lake, the waters were not accomplishing a maximum of good. The heart-shaped tracks on the stream banks gave evidence that the brook had slaked the thirst of a whitetail deer. The little bear-like tracks of raccoons were present too where they had looked in Nature's larder for some succulent midnight repast of aquatic animals. Brook trout were afforded a home in the streamlet as were numerous other swimming and crawling things. Some things were being accomplished by the stream. But water is not doing its greatest good when it is in a hurry. To be most useful it must be delayed.

Trace a single drop of the last spring rain. See how it hesitates here, falters there, and again pauses in momentary doubt before at last it reaches its destination. The drop may fall at first upon a spruce bough. From there it plummets upon a blanket of spruce needles, which obstruct its path to the soil below. Slowly the drop makes its uncertain rambling way through the needle maze toward the good earth. There, it spreads itself through open pores into tiny crevices between the particles of rich humus.

Patiently the forces of gravity work upon it, relentlessly drawing it down toward the earth's center. Presently it reaches a water table, or an underground stream, and there it unites with other drops that have arrived from their own adventures. At last the stream, flowing in the earth's dark recesses, leaps toward the light through a tiny hole in the rock strata, and the leap is called a spring. The spring forms a brook and the brook skips joyfully toward a lake or the sea. But all along its journey from its birth in the cloud-laden sky to its goal in the great waters, the droplet has served best when it has been delayed. At each frustration it has left a tiny particle of itself, a touch of life-giving moisture on limb and needle, on bed of humus, and in the soil from which vegetation gets its life. A drop of water serves least when it hastens and best through its frustrations and hindrances.

We commonly place a premium on speed and instant success. We want to get done in a hurry, and success must not be postponed. It must be ours now. But it is not the hurrying people who are most helpful. Nor have the world's great servants known instant conquest of their projects. The great good done in our world is often achieved because of frustrating delays and irritating obstacles.

"Robinson Crusoe" would not have been written had its author had instant success in his business. As a business man Daniel Defoe was a failure, suffering untold embarrassment and humiliation. Achievement was postponed and then came to him, not as a business man, but as an author of one of the world's best pieces of literature.

Whistler failed at West Point. Otherwise he might have become any one of thousands of now unremembered officers of the military. His failure, his delay in achieving success, was the best thing that could have happened to Whistler. He faltered like a drop of water on its way from spruce twig to humus bed, to underground stream. Then he found his element in art and painted some of the world's best-loved portraits, among them "Whistler's Mother."

Christianity has been operating in our world for almost twenty centuries. It has not been uniformly successful. There have been upsets, set-backs, frustrations, and delays. But what good it has accomplished along its faltering way! Apparently even the Almighty did not wish it to be immediately successful.

The scientist, Sir Humphrey Davy, one time said, "The most important of my discoveries have been suggested to be by failures." More than likely you could say that of yourself. Look back over your life for a moment. Have you not learned as much from your defeats as from your attainments?

You want to be decent, and you crave to be good. But utter perfection seems a long way off. Of course it is! But on your way to that destination, like a drop of water making its thwarted, hesitating way toward its goal in lake or sea, you will leave a part of yourself on everything you touch.

You need not hurry. Be patient with obstructions. Like the earth's waters, you can do the most good when you are delayed.

Donna Cavanagh Becomes Bride Of Robert Hamilton At Lake City Wedding

Baskets of spring flowers, ferns and lighted tapers in candelabra decorated the altar of the First Presbyterian church in Lake City Saturday for the wedding of Donna Mae Cavanagh and Robert [illegible] Hamilton.

The parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Everett Cavanagh of Lake City and Mr. Hamilton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] S. Hamilton of Charlevoix.

The Rev. Harold E. Kohn, pastor of the First Congregational church [illegible] officiated at the double ring service. [illegible] R. [illegible] sang "Through the Years", "Ich Liebe Dich" and "The Lord's Prayer", accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Stewart [illegible] who also played a program of traditional music and the wedding marches.

Mr. Cavanagh gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of white imported French lace [illegible] satin fashioned with a [illegible] neckline, a fitted lace bodice and long sleeves which came to points over the wrists. Deep points of lace dipped over the bouffant tulle skirt. A Juliet cap of lace and seed pearls edged with satin secured her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion and she carried a bouquet of white hyacinths centered with a white orchid.

The bride's sister, Barbara Cavanagh of Grand Rapids, was her only attendant. She wore a waltz-length gown of French blue taffeta styled with an off the shoulder neckline, cap sleeves and an [illegible] tucked to the hip [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] with a rose veil, [illegible] bouquet of English violets and [illegible]

Robert E. Waxstaff assisted the [illegible] as best man and ushers were Robert L. Cavanagh of Dayton, Ohio, brother of the bride, and Nicholas Hamilton, cousin of the bridegroom.

Girligigs

If there's ever a season that a gal thinketh not of fashion . . . it's not now

We all know style is something that has to be studied carefully as a recipe . . . for "as somebody said once . . . "The proof of the pudding is in the something-or-other!"

Following are the ten something-or-others for being a well-groomed gal . . . paste them up over your mirror or some place you're sure to find yourself five or six times a day, and it won't be long before you'll be looking better already.

1. Keep it simple. Simplicity is always good taste. 2. Don't overdress, understatement is the best policy. 3. Don't overdo accessories. Keep them simple, again in good taste.

4. Keep [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] 5. Your gloves should be [illegible] immaculate. [illegible] 6. Wear comfortable GOOD shoes, suitable for the occasion, but never too fancy. 7. Jewelry should simply accent your costume, never too much, even for special occasions.

8. Learn correct timing in dress. Save your glamour clothes for after five wear. 9. For usual evening occasions, short dresses are more becoming and practical, except for formal dinners and dances. 10. Keep hair shining, nails well groomed and neat.

Follow these rules and we'll all be saying to ourselves . . . "My dear, you're positively stunning!"

District Legion Auxiliary Plans Discussed Here

Two district officers of the American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. Marguerite Roe, district president, and Mrs. George Haase, district secretary, both of Harbor Springs, attended the regular meeting of the local American Legion Auxiliary at the home of Mrs. Maurice Dixon Monday evening.

Policies to be adopted at the district meeting at Bellaire Sunday afternoon were discussed by the district officers.

Other guests at the meeting included seven members of the East Jordan Auxiliary.

The local group voted to donate $10.00 to the service and cigarette basket fund at a veterans hospital; reported that the group had sent four handkerchiefs and Mother's Day cards to a veteran's hospital where they will be available to disabled veterans without charge.

Mrs. W. E. Goss, secretary, reported that copies of the book "Key to Peace" by Clarence Manion had been presented to the Charlevoix public school, St. Mary's school and Charlevoix public library. Copies are also available at the American Legion hall.

Plans for the annual Poppy sale May 28 and 29 were completed. Mrs. Harry Webster, Poppy chairman, announced. Mrs. George Hallam is vice-chairman.

One new member, Mrs. George Lusk Sr., was inducted and a former member, Mrs. William Flynn, was re-instated.

The members agreed to join with the Legion in sponsoring a rummage sale at the Legion Hall in May.

A social hour and refreshments concluded the meeting.

Following dinner an interesting program of musical selections, tap dancing and group singing was enjoyed.

Sponsored by the Women's Fellowship of the Congregational church, the following groups were in charge: the Mary Brewster circle, menu and kitchen; the [illegible] and Mary [illegible] circles, dining room; the Margaret Parker circle, decorations and tickets.

NOTICE

At a meeting of the Eveline Township Board, held March 30th, 1954 it was decided that any person or persons in Eveline Township West of the South Arm, desiring extra fire protection from City of Charlevoix, besides that of the City of East Jordan which they now have, should make such arrangements with the City of Charlevoix, themselves.

The Board felt that they could not comply with the request from the City of Charlevoix for the extra fire protection at the cost of the entire one mill as allocated to the property to be protected, leaving nothing left for the use of the Township.

ALL THE FACTS ABOUT DACRON

Dacron, one of the newest of the man-made fibers, is making fashion news in beautiful weaves that look like linen or sheer, pure silk, that require the very minimum of care, that look completely lovely . . . and stay that way.

Three of the most exciting of the new all-Dacron dresses are the Wash and Wear dresses by Martha Manning shown on this page (the first 100% Dacron dresses, by the way, at these popular prices).

They're mint-fresh [illegible] yet made with the expert care for which Martha Manning is famous. With them, you can forget the old problems of clothes care completely! Forget about spots — you can sponge many of them off without [illegible] Forget iron[illegible] wrinkles [illegible] forget laundering problems — these dresses wash and dry in a matter of an hour [illegible] colors actually get brighter.

As for travel — they're [illegible] constant luxuries. You can pack these dresses in a cosmetic case (an ordinary handling would de-wrinkle and crumple them with complete abandon). When you take them out, you simply hang them up and presto! in a few minutes they are again band-box fresh.

Tailored and beautifully shaped (porous, too, so your body can breathe), they're the kind of clothes you can put on and forget . . . and because you'll wear them often, you'll find you really need fewer dresses.

But words alone can't show you how flattering and attractive these all-Dacron dresses are . . . come see these exciting new fashions right away.

Run-off Plots To Be Planted Next Week By Soils Groups

The run-off plots sponsored by the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District and assisted by the East Jordan Future Farmers of America and their advisory board will be planted starting this next week, Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent and secretary of the soil board announced today. These run-off plots are located on the H. Brock farm on M66 between East Jordan and Ironton.

The purpose of these run-off plots is to measure the amount of soil loss when different cropping practices are used. There will be four plots, each handled differently. The first will be a 4-year rotation up and down the slope; the second will be a 4-year rotation across the slope, the third will be the same rotation in contour strips; while the last rotation will be in continuous grass and legumes.

There's a septic tank at the end of each one of these plots and after each rain the water and soil loss will be measured. This project will continue for about 10 years.

The district has been helped in construction of these run-off plots through the cooperation of Richard Schroeder, East Jordan agricultural instructor and his Future Farmer group. These boys have helped place the tanks, helped build the fence around the area and will also assist the district in taking care of the crops.

Mr and Mrs. Robert Dunbar and two sons of Mt Pleasant spent the weekend with Mrs Roland Farmer. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Farmer of Charlevoix joined them for Easter dinner

Mr. and Mrs Carl Kelker and seven children of Charlevoix enjoyed Easter at Mrs Kelker's sister's farm, the retreat of Mr and Mrs. Alfred Scheid, after a mile hike across fields of neighbors.

Mrs. Alfred Scheid endured a ride in a construction truck Thursday through rain and mud which had to be pushed several times with a bulldozer, to get supplies to her house. Most of us are lucky to have a tractor or a horse and help each other. But they even get stuck. As did one woman who was walking across the road to get her mail, and got so mired it took three men to get her to safety. Bumpers get pulled off. Our cars get rough treatment but our biggest complaint is when people who don't belong here drive up our private roadways, through our fields and make big cuts in fresh paths we have just made with expensive effort.

You get more labor return if you maintain a large flock of chickens. And better farmstead arrangement and practical labor saving equipment helps reduce labor.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

So They Stopped Baiting Each Other

If you want to hear a real hassle, listen to Cob James and Whitey Baker on trout fishing sometime. You'd think it was more important than anything.

Cob favors dry flies. Whitey pooh-poohs anything but wet flies. Cob swears by a Fan-Wing Royal Coachman; Whitey won't hear of anything but Silver Doctor. And so it goes—they can't even get together on steel rods versus bamboo rods.

But on Saturday, each got back from Fox Creek with a catch that couldn't have differed by more than a couple of ounces! Then over a friendly glass of beer, they allowed as how maybe they were both right . . . which is how so many arguments should end.

From where I sit, life would be a whole lot pleasanter if we all respected one another's opinions—whether about trout flies, or having a glass of beer, or voting. After all, a person has a right to follow his own line of thinking.

Clean Up, Paint Up Week Will Open In Charlevoix On Monday

"Clean up, paint up and make Charlevoix beautiful" is the slogan of the 1954 City Clean-up Campaign which is scheduled to open Monday as a part of Charlevoix's observance of Michigan week.

In proclaiming the first week in May as Clean-up week, Mayor Dean Davenport said that it was important that the city prepare now for the coming resort season. In urging that all citizens join in the Clean-up campaign, he said that it was the duty of the people of the community to make Charlevoix beautiful.

As its part in the clean-up campaign, city trucks will pick-up trash, leaves and brush that are left on the curb during the week. All trash and leaves should be placed in cartons or containers and left at the curb, not in the street, for city crews to collect them.

Leaves and grass should not be burned on black-top streets since it will damage the street. It should be burned in the yard or alley or left for city trucks to haul away.

There are many ways that residents can cooperate on the clean-up campaign, Mr. Davenport continued. First is the removal of leaves and trash from the yards and secondly, to beautify the property by planting shrubs and flowers which tend to not only make the property but the entire neighborhood more attractive.

Improvement of the property by painting or building are other ways of making it more attractive.

Several local business places have already started their remodeling or re-decorating projects.

The city's new valuation as approved by the board of supervisors is $4,871,450 or $245,000 more than the valuation adopted earlier by the city board of review. The city's valuation in 1953 was $5,019,100.

An overall increase was felt in all townships and cities with the exception of Boyne Valley, East Jordan and Charlevoix.

Tax Allocation Board Sets New Tentative Rates

The tentative tax rates for 1954 were set by the Charlevoix county Tax Allocation board at a meeting held at the court house here Friday.

The county was allocated eight mills including eight mills for operational costs and one mill for the court house sinking fund; the schools were allotted five mills as required by law if the school districts are to receive state aid and one mill was given to all townships with the exception of Charlevoix township whose budget did not show a need and Peaine township which will receive six mills because no school tax will be levied in this township.

The school millage will be levied on the new county equalized valuation of $19,073,940 except in the six districts which are fractional with other counties. In these districts the millage will tentatively be levied on the state equalized valuation of $25,138,426. The school districts which are fractional with other counties are Boyne City, Charlevoix, East Jordan, Bay Shore, Boyne Falls and Norwood.

The final hearing of the Charlevoix Tax Allocation board has been set for Monday, May 10, at the court house here.

A meeting of tax allocation board members and county officials will be held prior to the final hearing in cases where the tax rates in the fractional districts are different.

Massed Band Festivals To Be Next Week

Cheboygan and Boyne City will be hosts to the annual northern Michigan massed band festivals May 5 and 6 respectively, C. A. Odmark, Charlevoix high school band director, announced this week.

The Charlevoix high school band will be one of 12 bands participating in the festival at Boyne City Thursday. An additional 12 bands will participate in the festival at Cheboygan Wednesday. The Charlevoix Junior band may enter the festival but at this time it is not known where they will participate, Mr. Odmark said.

Mr. Odmark went on to say that because of the tremendous growth of the band movement in northern Michigan, it is no longer possible to hold the annual festival at one location because of the resultant size of the massed band.

Norman Dietz, band directer at Central Michigan college, will serve as adjudicator and guest director at the festivals which are sponsored by District II of the Michigan Band and Orchestra Association. Each band will play two numbers of its choice for written criticism by Mr. Dietz. No ratings will

Rev. G. R. Kars,
Pastor Assembly of God

A little boy was asked by his mother to go and get washed for supper. After a few moments the boy returned for inspection. Mother checked his hands, they were pretty clean. His face too looked a shade brighter but when the mother looked behind his ears and neck she exclaimed with dismay. "But son you didn't wash behind your ears and your neck, well it's just like the coal bin." "Well mother, I can't see why that's so important I don't use them anyway," was the boys quick reply.

It must have been this same boy who was playing at the edge of a mud-puddle one day when his doctor daddy came home. Dr. Smith took one good look at Johnny and said, "Son, I am shocked to see you out in the neighborhood like this, why your hands and face are just covered with mud." Johnny tried to reason with his dad by saying that he was only playing at the edge of the mud puddle, his feet weren't even wet. His hands were dirty, True, but he could quickly rinse them off in the pool at his feet. "Dad I just can't see how my face could be covered with mud," was the persistent plea of the defendent. After some expostulation, daddy took Johnny by the hand setting out to prove that daddy was right and Johnny was wrong. Dr. Smith took his son into the house. As soon as the door opened father and son were confronted with the large hall mirror. Instead of turning to the right or left the accuser and the accused walked right up to the mirror. There was a moment of silence, then Johnny, turning his head slowly upward with a gathering smile on his face said, "Doctor, your patient is ready for the operation."

Someone has said that 'I love you' are the three easiest words to say in the English language and "I am wrong", the three hardest words. Johnny's difficulty was in accepting his father's estimate of his condition. We find it hard to accept God's estimate of us and our sins.

Some circles violently protest the so called ignorant remarks of God's ministers' who fearlessly say from radio, television, pulpet and press that all men are Sinners and all men must repent of their sins and get saved, or forever perish. Like Johnny these people think that they are all right the way they are. As long as they do the best they can, pay honest debts, love their neighbor as themselves, attend church regularly, pay thier dues then everything will be all right. But all of Johnny's self justification did not get his face clean.

To say that black is white will not make black white. For one to say he is in the Utopea of comfort while standing naked in a 60 mile an hour winter's blast does not change the fatal situation. To say we are saints when God says we are sinners will not make saints out of sinners. To say our hearts are clean when God and His Bible says that they are "hard', 'evil', and 'unclean', will not change us from what we really are. Johnny's face was black. It needed to be washed.

If it is hard to believe Gods estimate of us, then we ought to have a look at ourselves in the mirror of God's word. James tells us in Chapter 1:22-25 that God's law, the Bible is a mirror. The Bible gives the only true picture of man estranged from God.

Jesus said in Mark 7:21-23 "From within, out of the heart of men proceed evil thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders, thefts, covetousness, wickedness, deceit, lasciviousness, an evil eye, blasphemy, pride, foolishness. All these things come from within and defile the man."

"All have sinned," says Paul in Rom. 3:23. The Bible in many other scriptures concludes ALL MEN under sin and quilty before God.

Like Johnny we have a Physician Father who is ready to operate and make us whole. Jesus' dying for our sins in our room and stead, shedding his blood for the remission of our sins, is God's instrument by which man can be saved. Christ and His Cross is the only way of salvation.

With the hymn writer we can say,
What can wash away my sin?
Nothing but the blood of Jesus.
What can make me whole again/
NOTHING but the blood of Jesus.

The Bible tells us to accept Christ, trust Him, depend on Him. He will do the rest. Like Johnny may we look up now into God's face and say, Jesus, "Thou Great Physician, wash away my sins and make me whole again." He'll do it.

Dogs and turkeys were the domesticated animals in North America at the time Columbus discovered the New World, says the National Geographic Society. Most Indian dogs seem to have been of wolf or coyote stock but explorers' descriptions indicate others of different ancestry. The strange dogs became extinct at an early date. The mystery of their origin is unsolved.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

by Gene Alleman

ACCOMPLISHMENTS, or lack of them provide an excellent "hole and doughnut" argument for anyone who undertakes to criticize the recent session of the Legislature.

Natural battlelines fall between Republicans, who dominate both chambers, and Democrats, who control the executive arm of the government.

The GOP says, "We did a grand job!" Their opponents say, "Look at the important things you left undone!"

References to the record will be heard often between now and the fall election.

Republicans are proudest of the "labor legislation" they produced. The new unemployment compensation law gives higher weekly payments and for a longer period. Rates are raised from $27 to $30 per week for a single man; from $35 to $42 for a man with four children. This is paid over a 26 week rather than a 20 week period. Workman's compensation payments were increased $4 per week. "This is a step in the right direction," say Democrats, "but it is no where near the benefit level urged by the Republican President of the United States."

BALANCING the budget is another GOP claim to glory. This was no small feat when it is remembered that the solons were faced with the need for an additional $6 million when the civil service commission unexpectedly increased salaries.

Figures show that during the next fiscal year the state will expend $366 million and receive $369 million in revenue, thus allowing a $3 million 'profit" that can be used to reduce the deficit.

A fine farm program was provided this year. The Legislature made one grant of $294,000 to Michigan State college — $150,000 for the ag experiment station and $144,000 for agricultural extension service.

Another $255,000 was appropriated to MSC and will be matched by a similar amount from the federal government under the Hope-Flannigan bill: a total of $510,000.

In addition to this money, which will be spent on research for agricultural processing and marketing, $20,000 was allocated the department of agriculture to promote sales of farm products.

OLD PEOPLE are guaranteed a monthly income of $70 by a law passed this year. The state agreed to increase to this amount a portion of payment under the old age assistance program, should the federal government reduce the present payment plan.

Other accomplishments of the session are a program to aid counties build homes for the senile; a law which forces patients suffering from active tuberculosis to stay under a doctor's care, the submitting of the Korean veteran bonus and the Conlin tax plans to the public for referendum at the next election.

"Our main responsibilities in this session," said Rep. William S. Bromfield, were to keep government on an even keel during rather uncertain economic weather. Despite many would-be boat rockers, the Republican majority came out of the session with a solid, well laid program broadening state services to the public, improvements in health and education programs, and without new taxes."

"FAILURES" of the session will get some attention from Democrats. Sources close to Gov. Williams report that the chief executive may have more than a little to say about the fact that no FEPC legislation was passed, this despite recommendations for such action from President Eisenhower.

The school situation they say, still constitute a serious problem, untouched by the Legislature. The governor is expected to ask what the Legislature intends to do with the annual increase of 60,000 students the state faces since facilities are already overcrowded. He is also said to be disgusted that something wasn't done about consolidating school districts, many of which are known to be operating on an uneconomical basis.

Election reform as submitted by the Republicans is reported not to have pleased the governor. He considers the recodification changed only a few things and left standing most of the provisions that made the former law undesirable.

MOST SIGNIFICANT thing about this session, according to Democrat critics, was the development of a new group of Republican Representatives who are much more progressive than previously. 'This hard core of liberalism joined with us for the first time to support some fine legislation," said a Democratic spokesman. He was referring to the "Young Turk" group headed by Willard Bowerman, Lansing, Thomas M. Burns, Saginaw; Gerald Graves, Alpena; Kenneth O. Trucks, Baldwin; John McCune, East Lansing.

About 800 bills were submitted for consideration this session. This is more than can be studied thoroughly, and a number large enough to cause some concern among lawmakers. They are considering move to limit the even year sessions to taxation, appropriation and emergency matters.

Long ago the legislature met only at two year intervals. With the advent of the sales tax, it became necessary to meet annually in order to appropriate sales tax returns. The "off year" sessions grew longer and longer, encompassing more and more subjects, until there is now little difference between them and the "regular session".

Voice of Our Readers . . .

Dear Editor;

Won't you please help the Charlevoix County Humane Society to inform the public that there is no need for persons with newborn puppies and kittens, or any unwanted animals or fowl, to take them to the city dump and leave them there to die of exposure and starvation — worse yet, to be eaten alive by the rats that scurry out of holes and over the trash as soon as no one is around.

The Society had two reports of such cases last week and now that a temporary shelter has been set-up this is not necessary. At the shelter unwanted animals will be put to sleep painlessly and buried in a plot of ground reserved for the unwanted animals brought to us. In case the animals, or other no longer desired pets, are healthy we will hold them for a reasonable period and try to adopt them into good homes.

Persons looking for pets, may soon find them if they will register their desires and names at our office. We ask for a small contribution to extend this humane service, but in extreme cases we will accept any pet to prevent its suffering which will result in a cruel death.

The shelter is at the corner of Burgess road and old U. S. 31 and after May 15 the public is invited to visit the temporary office being set up there.

Most sincerely yours,
Charlevoix County Humane Society

After each band has played for criticism early in the afternoon all bands will march in a parade through the business district. At Cheboygan the parade is scheduled for 3 p.m. Wednesday and at Boyne City at 2:30 p.m. Thursday.

Following the parade, the young musicians will gather at the auditorium for a 90-minute massed band rehearsal in preparation for the massed band concert at 7:30 p.m.

The 400-piece massed band will present an hour long program of popular selections that bands have been rehearsing at home. Mr Dietz will direct the massed band in the concert.

Festival chairmen are Robert E Lee of Boyne City, who is also president of District 11, and Robert Jackson of Cheboygan.

A small admission charge will be made which will enable the ticket holder to hear the individual band performances as well as the massed band rehearsal and concert. The funds will be used to defray the expenses of the festival.

Bands participating in the festival at Cheboygan on Wednesday will be Mackinaw City, Pellston, Onaway, Rogers City, Alanson, Harbor Springs, Mancelona, Grayling, Kalkaska, Traverse City and Cheboygan.

Other bands besides Charlevoix entered in the festival at Boyne City Thursday are Gaylord, Petoskey, Petoskey Junior, East Jordan, Elk Rapids, Frankfort, Northport, Honor, Kingsley and Boyne City.

Father, Daughter Banquet Is Held Wednesday Night

The third annual Father and Daughter banquet was scheduled to be held in the Charlevoix high school gymnasium last night (Wednesday).

Held under the sponsorship of the Charlevoix Girl Scout Council, more than 300 Girl Scouts, Brownie Scouts, their fathers, Girl Scout leaders and Council members were expected to participate in the event.

The dinner at 6:30 p.m. was to be followed by an entertaining program arranged by Miss Kay Fitch, program chairman.

men are also included in the new structure.

A small amount of equipment to manufacture parts for plastic and die cast mold bases has already been installed and additional machinery will be brought to Charlevoix for installation in the near future. The plant is now operating on a small scale and production will be stepped up as soon as new equipment arrives.

The north side plant of the American Mold Engineering Co. located two miles north of the city on US 31, will continue operation, Mr. VanRaaphorst said.

The company has been located in Charlevoix since September, 1952.

The Charlevoix Industrial Development Corporation headed by Ralph V. Hess raised $15,000 to assist in financing the construction of the new building.

Improvement of the grounds and the shoreline of the property will also be done this spring.

Senior Class Has Interesting Trip To New York City

The Senior class of the Charlevoix high school was due to return home late Wednesday from a four-day trip which took them to New York City and return.

Making the trip east from Detroit via the 'Magic Carpet' of the New York Central railroad, the 44 members of the class spent two full days in the world's largest city and visited many important and historic sites.

Making the trip with the group were Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Coleman and Mr and Mrs. Max Novak.

The Courier hopes to carry a complete account of the trip next week.

Charlevoix's Gail Krahnke, 1954 Michigan Winter Sports Queen and candidate for the role of Trout Queen at Kalkaska, was runner-up in the contest which saw Marion Danforth of East Jordan selected as queen of the annual National Trout Festival Friday evening.

Queen Marion, who ruled over the Trout Festival, was earlier named 1951 Queen of the Jordan River.

Mrs. C. Bellinger Cancer Chairman

Mrs. Charles Bellinger has been named local chairman of the American Cancer Society fund-raising crusade in Charlevoix, it was announced this week.

Mrs. Bellinger said Wednesday that plans were being made for a house-to-house canvass to raise Charlevoix's quota of the county's goal of $1,600.

City's Equalized Valuation Lowered

fore the board before it was adopted after an adjustment of the figure submitted by the city board of review. Since an increase was spread throughout the county, the supervisors felt that Charlevoix should bear a part of the burden despite the fact that Charlevoix's valuations in the past have been much higher than any other property in the county.

The valuation as adopted last month by the board of review was $4,626,450 and included $49,000 in new construction during the past year.

The board of supervisors rejected the new valuation by a vote of 13-12 when it was presented by the equalization committee. After some debate it was agreed to add $254,000 to the board of review's figure and this new valuation of $4,871,450 was approved by the board of supervisors by a 14-10 vote with one supervisor abstaining from voting.

Charlevoix's latest valuation as adopted by the city board of review was compiled this spring by city assessor Drew Young.

Used as a yardstick the findings of the firm of Cole Layer and Trumble of Dayton which was hired by the city last fall to appraise all local property, Mr. Young set up the new tax roll which amounted to $4,626,450.

Volunteers Fill County's Quota

Three Boyne City youths, Thomas E. Meads, Michael E. Bradley and Irvin S. Smith, left Wednesday for Detroit where they were inducted into the U. S. Army to fill the Charlevoix county draft quota for April. The trio volunteered for the service and were not drafted.

Four Charlevoix county draft registrants will be called for pre-induction physical examinations May 18 and two for induction into the armed services May 25.

Milli's House of Charm has been re-decorated in a misty green with forest green and rose accents.

Mailhot's Outdoor Outfitters was refinished in pine paneling earlier in preparation of the coming season and the interior of the Charlevoix County State Bank has been re-finished in shades of green.

There are other projects planned for a bit later in the spring to brighten up by painting up to make Charlevoix truly Charlevoix the beautiful.

Michigan Week To Feature Activities

streams. Michigan stands without an equal in the number of state parks and resort facilities it can offer to visitors from other states and countries for their recreation and vacations.

Michigan's Soo Canal, looking forward to its Centennial Celebration in 1955, is the most important canal on earth, carrying in the average year more cargoes than the Panama and the Suez canals combined, in spite of the fact that the two other canals are open year-round and the Soo is ice-locked each winter.

Michigan's Straits of Mackinac bridge, with ground-breaking ceremonies to be held May 7 and 8 at St Ignace and Mackinaw City, will not only be the longest bridge in the world from anchorage to anchorage, but it will also be the costliest bridge ever built. Both in length and in cost, Michigan's king of bridges will dethrone San Francisco Bay's Golden Gate bridge when it stretches across the Straits five miles, including the approaches.

Michigan also can boast of its artistic triumphs. Perhaps the best-known American poem, the Song of Hiawatha, has its setting on the Michigan shores of Lake Superior, and Longfellow got the basic material for his poem from Algonquin customs and legends recorded by Henry Rowe Schoolcraft when he served as Indian Agent at Sault Ste. Marie and Mackinac Island.

Michigan's Will Carleton produced "Over the Hills to the Poorhouse," and Michigan's Rose Hartwick Thorpe wrote "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight." Many of the Paul Bunyan legends originated in Michigan. Carl Sandburg lived and wrote some of his poems in Michigan.

Both James Oliver Curwood and Rex Beach were Michiganders, the latter spending his boyhood within a few miles of Charlevoix. Clarence Budington Kelland, whose stories still appear in Country Gentlemen and the Saturday Evening Post was born in Michigan in 1881. Also born in Michigan were Ring Lardner, Paul de Kruif, Arthur Pound, Edna Ferber, and Helen Topping Miller.

Perhaps the greatest of all living authors, Ernest Hemingway, spent several happy summers in Michigan as a boy, vacationing with his family at Horton's Bay. A story about Horton's Bay, called "Up in Michigan" was one of the first things Hemingway published. Printed in Paris in 1921, here is a passage from it that should interest readers of the Courier.

"Horton's Bay, the town, was only five houses on the main road between Boyne City and Charlevoix. There was the general store and postoffice with a high false front and maybe a wagon hitched out in front; Smith's house, Stroud's house, Dilworth's house, Horton's house and Van Hoosen's house.

"The houses were in a big grove of elm trees and the road was very sandy. There was farming country and timber each way up the road. Up the road a ways was the Methodist church and down the road the other direction was the township school. The blacksmith shop was painted red and faced the school."

From Hiawatha to Hemingway, Michigan counts its blessings in the literary world just as the state can count so many industrial, commercial, agricultural, and recreational advantages over all the other states as it prepares to celebrate Michigan Week, May 2-8.

Proper Soil Sampling Necessary To Get Dependable Analysis

When you take a soil sample, do it right so the results you get from the soil testing laboratory will mean something. That's a suggestion from Ed Rebman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent.

He asserts that [illegible] of fertilizer that the particular soil or crop needs [illegible] produce more bushels than two or three tons of "guess fertilizer." Here, according to Rebman, is the right way to take a soil sample:

In fields where soil and the crop [illegible] samples can be taken at three scattered locations to represent the whole field. At each sampling location, you should take eight to 10 separate samples within an area five to 10 rods diameter. Use a clean spade, a shovel, auger or sampling tube to take about a cupful that will represent the depth of a plow layer. Mix the eight to 10 samplings thoroughly in a clean pail, then use about a teacupful of this mixture for the sample to be tested.

The sample can be placed in any clean container . . . a tin can, paper carton or paper bag. If the soil is damp and placed in a paper bag, however, it should be wrapped first in wax paper.

And you should make a record of where the samples were taken, which fields and locations in the field. Mark the samples clearly at the time you take them in the field, to prevent mistakes. Then submit the samples to the Cooperative Extension office at Boyne City with the information on each sample:

Crop to be grown, crop rotation, when lime was last applied, recent fertilizer or manure applications and special problems in the field. This information is needed in order to help Rebman give recommendations.

Advise Treating Seed Corn For Top Production

Corn growers who have had trouble with getting a good stand of corn in past years would be wise to treat their seed before planting. Maggots are the big trouble makers for planted seed in Michigan.

That's advice from Extension Entomologist Ray Janes of Michigan State college. If your seed corn hasn't been treated by the seedsmen from whom the purchase was made, Janes says, it's a good idea to treat with a combination of lindane and captan or a mixture of lindane and thiram. The fungicide would give protection against seed-rot fungi, another trouble-maker.

Many sweet corn growers have [illegible] for several [illegible] according to Janes. The combination chemical [illegible] is available at seed [illegible]

[illegible] how to treat seed [illegible] on the subject [illegible] and Disease Control [illegible] and Truck Crops [illegible] available at the county extension office or from the Bulletin Office, Michigan State college.

Value Of Farm Records Is Topic For TV Program

Cadillac. — A factor that is often the key to successful farm operations, record keeping, will be discussed for WWTV's farm audience on Monday, May 3, at 3:30 p.m.

Paul Gibson, Clare county [illegible] agent, will tell the story of a family that has successfully kept farm records for 25 years. [illegible] Malosh, a 4-H club member from the same county, will [illegible] garden, canning [illegible] account records.

A highlight of weekly program [illegible] a presentation by an FFA declamation team from McBain, also on the subject of farm records.

Smelt on the Move

To commercial and sport anglers alike, the prolific smelt represents an important part of Michigan's fishing scene. The little silvery fish was first introduced into Michigan waters by conservation workers in the early years of this century. Since then, populations have increased so that several million pounds have been taken commercially during each recent year. Here a commercial fisherman is scooping up his last haul of the winter through the fast-melting ice of Little Bay de Noc in Lake Michigan.

Plant More Seed To Increase Corn Yield Say Cropmen

Michigan State college farm cropsmen suggest growing 16,000 plants per acre if you have good land. That's in contrast to what farmers on good corn ground usually plant: about 10,000 plants per acre. On lighter or less productive soil however, your planter should be adjusted to put out less seeds per acre.

How [illegible] know you're getting [illegible] 16,000 seeds planted? [illegible] Leyton V. Nelson, MSC extension farm crops [illegible] you can estimate [illegible] this way: If your [illegible] bushel of medium [illegible] five acres, [illegible] about 16,000 [illegible] If you are using [illegible] seeds will [illegible] inches apart; if it's [illegible] the seeds will be about [illegible] inches apart. To be reasonably accurate means careful selection of planter plates and slower-than-normal planting speed, Nelson indicates.

In [illegible] experiment by MSC last year increased plant populations boosted yields substantially. And 1953 was a dry year in many parts of Michigan. [illegible] no case [illegible] decrease in yield.

On [illegible] southern Michigan, 16,000 plants per acre gave an increase [illegible] 11½ per [illegible] that averaged 10,500 plants per acre. In Kent [illegible] per acre [illegible] 3 per cent over [illegible] 600 plants [illegible] experiment [illegible] increased [illegible] 600 plants [illegible] 500 in the [illegible] Nelson believes the [illegible] lighter [illegible] 12,000 plants per acre.

[illegible] But [illegible] the [illegible] a period.

Early Pasturing Harmful To Grass

[illegible] pasture [illegible] spring. [illegible] the pasture [illegible] enough of a [illegible] your cows won't [illegible] the first few days, suggests Ed Rebman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent.

Extension Dairyman George Parsons of Michigan State college says that enough of a head start for alfalfa-brome means about eight to 10 inches in height. But alfalfa fields that are to be plowed down should be grazed as soon as there is enough growth. That goes for bluegrass and rye, too. Usually rye pasture is ready for grazing the latter part of April and alfalfa-brome is ready about May 10.

Parsons [illegible] that [illegible] are [illegible] feed along with [illegible] grazing. Although cows often refuse to eat grass when they're first turned out, that's only temporary. And he adds, don't be concerned if the cows lose some weight. Most of the loss is from the lack of [illegible] and if sufficient feed is given along through the pasture season the weight soon will be regained.

Best method for feeding hay to reduce the danger of bloat is from a rack right in the pasture, according to Parsons. That's so the cows can get to the hay easily when it's needed. The hay should be coarse, like sudan or feed [illegible]ary hay.

Best Results Had By Using Proper Fats For Cooking

How do you select cooking fats? For best results in frying or baking, you'll select fats with some thought regarding the job they are to do, advises Elizabeth Osman of the foods and nutrition department at Michigan State college.

A solid fat, to be used for pastry or biscuits, should have the capacity to coat the flour, to spread well and to be rolled or pressed into thin layers.

When oils are used to make these foods, you must use methods designed especially for them, points out Miss Osman.

When you want to bake a cake, you [illegible] with creaming qualities [illegible] able to entrap and hold tiny air bubbles. The ability of the fat to mix well with other ingredients, particularly the liquid, is also important.

And, of course, the shortening power (ability to spread over the flour and produce a tender product) is just as necessary for cakes as for pies and biscuits.

When you choose a fat for frying, you need one which will stand high temperatures without smoking. Some fats are better than others in this respect but all of them need care, Miss Osman emphasizes.

Overheating should be avoided. All fats break down to some extent and smoke at a lower temperature after they have been used for some time. But they last much longer when excessive heating is avoided.

After use they should be strained to remove foreign matter which also hastens decomposition. Then they should be stored in a cold place out of contact with light and air.

Such storage is a good rule for any fat, says Miss Osman.

While modern technology has developed fats with far better keeping qualities than were previously known, few will withstand exposure to light and air at ordinary temperatures and none will be hurt by refrigeration.

This applies to fats which are solid at ordinary temperatures and to cooking oils, which are merely fats in liquid form at ordinary temperatures.

In this price-cost squeeze, don't skimp on the little things; they may be costly. Be sure to inoculate legume seed, treat small grains for rust and smut. It pays.

How can you know what your next hospital bill will cost you?

You can't know! You can't predict whether $10 a day ... $15 a day ... or any limited amount per day will take care of the hospital bill that your family has a 1 in 3 chance of facing this year!

Unpredictable as hospital bills are, there is one reliable and easy way to protect your family adequately against "catastrophic" expense that can exceed even $50 a day!

Get the protection that provides not a check for $10 or $15 a day, but the bed and board, the drugs and medicines, the operating room, and the many other hospital services you need!

Get Blue Cross protection!

Not for profit. Blue Cross is sponsored by the hospitals and doctors themselves. It is the most successful idea ever devised for meeting the problem of paying hospital bills.

No wonder over 3,000,000 Michigan people have Blue Cross. Chances are, your neighbor is protected the Blue Cross way. Talk it over with him ... and see if he doesn't agree that there is no finer protection at any price!

How Blue Cross protects you. Blue Cross Comprehensive Group Plan assures you of a wide range of hospital services . . . such as bed and board, expensive extras like operating room, drugs and medicines, oxygen and so forth. And every enrolled member in your family is protected the same way at over 200 Blue Cross participating hospitals in Michigan alone!

How Blue Shield protects you. Unlike paying hospital bills, you can find out in advance what your doctor's charges will be. The thing you can't find out is when you'll need a doctor's services, and here is where Blue Shield protects you.

Blue Shield offers two basic plans—one, a straight surgical plan, the other, a medical-surgical plan. Under either plan, Blue Shield pays generous, specific amounts directly to your doctor for thousands of surgical procedures, including maternity care. And in non-surgical cases, under the medical-surgical plan, Blue Shield also pays liberal amounts for your doctor's visits to you in the hospital. Often the doctor's full bill is covered.

The cost is low. Only pennies per day! You can help keep costs low . . . by using Blue Cross - Blue Shield only when necessary. Please do not ask your doctor to put you in the hospital for diagnostic treatment which could just as easily be performed in his office.

How to get Blue Cross - Blue Shield. Ask your employer or union representative how you can get low-cost Group Enrollment. A company with as few as five employees may qualify as a Group. Check your Farm Bureau or Grange. Contact your nearest Blue Cross - Blue Shield office.

Junior Play To Be Presented On Friday, Saturday

Ellsworth — You have a date remember, to attend the junior play this Friday or Saturday, April 30 and May 1 in the Ellsworth Community Hall? Curtain rises at 8 p.m. on the three act comedy "Green Grow The Onions", a spring like title with a story and characters as fresh as spring itself.

You'll sympathize with 17-year-old Tommy Britton (Nelson Spoelman) who writes garden tips for his dad's newspaper; Dad Britton (Glenn Taylor) long suffering with his adolescent children and cares of his newspaper; his understanding wife, Mrs. Britton (Helen June Brown) is busy keeping things going smoothly for her family, which includes her younger sister (Myrna Veenstra) besides her son Tommy and his demon kid sister, Flash (Rose Bower's) who is always shooting (with a camera that is!). Flash has her bosom friend "Stinky" (Mary Ann Riddell) to follow her every lead. As the play unfolds Mr. Britton's famous and handsome bachelor brother, Thomas (Bob Doctor) Pulitzer Prize winner and widely travelled, comes for a visit. Tommy's goals are high in the literary field and his attempt to break into print in an intellectual way, starts the plot to thinking in an alarming way until the unexpected climax.

Charming and loyal Linda, Tommys girl friend (Karen Potts) remains in the background for awhile, as Gladys a rival of Linda (Eleanor VanderArk) weilds her charm and the casual acquaintances George Logan (Nate Brock) who up to now has been Glady's friend; David Vermeer (Rod DeYoung) George's stooge, and party guests, Ruth (Frances Carpenter), Becky (Betty Alward), Mary (Mary McElroy), Skip (Bob Drenth) and Fuzzy (Bill Kooyers) take over while the money flows freely.

We'll say no more! Except, we will say there will be between act numbers for additional entertainment and lunch will be sold following the play.

There will be no advance sale of tickets but they will be sold at the door. That means no reserved seats, so come early!

The Junior Class and sponsor, Sheldon Mills have been a cooperative class to work and earn for expenses on their Senior trip next year, so you'll be giving them a lift by attending and also be repaid with a good wholesome evening of entertainment.

Band Parents Minstrel Show Huge Success

The hilarious patter of the end-men, the singing of the minstrel chorus and the specialty acts brought down the house both Thursday and Friday nights as the second annual Northland Minstrel show was presented at the high school auditorium under the sponsorship of the Charlevoix Band Parents Association.

Playing to near-capacity crowds both nights, the show and concessions grossed an estimated $1,0[illegible] and should result in a net profit of more than $900.00 according to Charles Duerr, show treasurer.

The concessions, which were in charge of the Charlevoix Rod and Gun club with Frank Oleksy as general chairman, grossed $141.42 and are expected to net $120. The end men and Steve Pateika, comedy artist, in true minstrel show fashion joined the Rod and Gun club in hawking their wares during the intermission.

This provided as much fun for both salesmen and buyers as did the show itself.

A completed financial report will be released at a later date, Mr. Duerr said.

An entertaining program sponsored by local advertisers and featuring a variety of zany ads also provided many chuckles and laughs.

The stage setting was designed and made by Wayne Belding; equipment was furnished by Wood Brothers Hardware and Quality Food store; popcorn by Murdick's Candy Kitchen; flowers by Edwards Florists; ice by John Cross, peanuts by the Kiwanis Club, soft drinks by the LaSalle Beverage Co. of Petoskey.

The Saturday Niters composed of Charles Hamlin, Henry Ingalls, Robert Miles and Arthur Heilig also participated in the show.

Lights were in charge of Glenn Sauter and Leonard Burie and make-up was in charge of Mrs. Ralph McKay, Miss Frances Miller, Mr. Clair Stevens and Herman Thierry.

Henry Ingalls was also in charge of properties.

The show was written by Dr. Walter Hoffman and directed by C. A. Odmark.

The Band Parents Association and Mr. Odmark, director of the Charlevoix high school band, would like to express their appreciation to all who participated in the show as well as others who contributed their time, talents and funds to make the show a success, the advertisers and above all the wonderful audience for their cooperation. Individual acknowledgment to everyone who assisted in the presentation is quite impossible but the efforts of all these people are greatly appreciated by the Band Parents Association.

Banks School Alumni Banquet Well Attended

Ellsworth—Graduates of Banks school had a wonderful time at the Banquet in their honor, held in the school Saturday evening, April 17. The success of the affair depended on the Senior Class, their able sponsor, Dick Lather and the Mothers' Committee, who arranged the banquet menu and prepared and served the dinner. Mrs. Henry Ruis, chairman, was assisted by Mrs. John DeYoung, Mrs. Clifford Pageau, Mrs. Julius Essenberg, Mrs. Elmer Klooster and Mrs Hattie Arnold who assisted at the dinner hour and afterward. The senior girls decorated the tables using the Easter motif and colored streamers of crepe paper, hoping to include class colors of the graduates.

The evening program included a tour of the school, visiting and renewing acquaintances and a planned program consisting of vocal numbers by a girls trio, Roselyn and Francis Carpenter and Betty James; vocal numbers from a quartet of graduates, Arthur, Henry Gerrit, John Drenth and John Kooyer, and a vocal duet by Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Shaaks. Helen Brown accompanied the trio and Mrs. Hans DeYoung accompanied the duet number. Peter John Drenth gave an appropriate reading, humorous of course; and the Seniors presented a humorous skit "Kids Will Be Kids".

Queen Karen Potts and her court were guests and were presented to the group at the beginning of the program. Charles Arnold 1954 Class president, served as toastmaster for the evening.

Every class to be graduated from Ellsworth high school with the exception of 1933 and 1922, was represented. The oldest class of two graduates ,that of 1923 was fully represented.

Repair Parking Ruts In Yards Is Part Of Spring Clean-up Job

Now is the time to do something about those ruts and gouges in your lawn or farmyard landscape . . . those places torn up by your guests when they dislodge their automobiles.

If you set up parking areas in the farmyard, you can avoid ruts and gouges next spring and make your guests a lot happier. Joseph T. Cox, extension specialist in landscape architecture at Michigan State college, suggests locating parking areas in out-of-the-way places so your driveway will be clear.

Some farmyards, says Cox, can have parking areas simply by making the driveway ten feet wider. If right angle parking is better suited to your farm, don't forget to make the parking stalls at least ten feet in width, too, in order to prevent smashed fenders.

If you want to have parking nearer the door of your house, a circular drive or turn around may be your best bet . . . that is, if it fits your yard. This makes a less risky route for the city driver who isn't aware of what can happen in the average rural driveway in the early spring.

Cox also cautions that parking stalls or nitches need to be well drained to prevent a spring break-through. That means a gentle slope to the drive edge and plenty of coarse cinders or gravel. You can keep this material in place by edging the drive with two-by-fours treated with a wood preservative. They're set in the ground horizontally and spiked to stakes that are driven deep into the soil.

If you think your guests should use the front door more than they do, advises Cox, locate the walk so it can be reached easily from the parking area and so it will lead attractively and directly to the front porch. That means cleaner feet to save wear and tear on the living room rug, too.

Michigan Can't Afford Costly Forest Blazes

Smokers and debris-burners are responsible for more than 70 per cent of the forest fires in Michigan. That's the word from L. A. Carter of Michigan State college's forestry department.

Emphasizing that "we can't afford the luxury of forest fires," Carter has this advice for Michiganders:

Use the car ash tray for cigaret butts and be sure your match is out before throwing it away. If you're walking through woods, scrape away leaf litter and stamp out your cigaret or pipe heel in mineral soil. Break a match before throwing it away, if it won't burn your finger, it's not likely to harm the woods.

Brush and trash should not be burned until you clear an area that's wide enough to stop the spread of a fire.

Early Bird's Morale Hurt By Late Frost

Every year, while some early bird is getting the worm by planting a garden early, some other early bird is getting cut down by a late Spring frost.

Planting time is here for gardens in some parts of Michigan but it is best to wait in other parts, advises Jack Rose, gardening specialist at Michigan State college.

Rose points out that planting calendars designed for some parts further south will not work in the northern areas of Michigan. The frost-free data in southern Michigan is May 1 to 15 and May 15 to 30 in central and northern Michigan.

The time to plant the garden depends on where you live and the date of the last killing frost. If you are in doubt about the frost date, call the weather station or your county agricultural agent.

Garden crops are divided into five groups. The first includes peas, radishes, lettuce, onions, spinach, cabbage, broccoli and kohlrabi. They can be planted outside three to four weeks before the last killing frost.

The second group, to be planted two weeks before frost-free dates, includes carrots, beets, early cauliflower, parsnips, salsify and swiss chard.

The third group should be planted the first week after the last average frost. It includes the first plantings of the warm season crops such as sweet corn, snap beans, and the second plantings of radishes, lettuce, carrots and spinach.

The fourth group should be planted two weeks after the last frost. It takes in all the warm season crops: corn, snap-beans, cucumbers, melons, squash and late celery. Tomatoes, egg plant and peppers should also be set out.

The fifth group includes repeat plantings for late gardens. The last two weeks in June is the right time for planting this group.

Directions for battling clothes moths and carpet beetles are given in the publication, "Clothes Moths and Carpet Beetles," (HG-24). Single copies are available free from the Office of Information, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, 25, D.C.

Plans Made For Fashion Show By St. Mary's Guild

Initial plans for a spring fashion show to be presented by the Little Flower Guild of St. Mary's church were announced this week by Mrs. Herman Thierry, president of the Guild and general chairman of the event.

Mrs. Thierry has named the following committees to make arrangements for the show: tickets, Mrs. James Woodward, chairman, Mrs. Charles Cooper, Mrs. Charles Meier, Mrs. Maurice Foster and Mrs. Jean Gallagher.

Publicity, Mrs. Reginald Greenway, chairman, Mrs. Frank Trocchio, Mrs. Thierry and Mrs. Joseph McPhillips.

Decorations, Mrs. Everett Stenman, chairman, Mrs. Henry Brunett, Mrs. Edward Hansen, Mrs. Herbert Moore, Mrs. Archie Himebauch, Mrs. Francis Murdick and Mrs. Frederick Keie.

Inspiring Lessons Learned from Nature

Child of Nature

Thornton W. Burgess, one of the finest contemporary writers of stories for youngsters, has told about Old Mother Nature and her many children. Among the flock he has listed Reddy Fox, Peter Cottontail, Unc' Billy Possum, Jerry Muskrat, Danny Meadow Mouse, Grandfather Frog, Paddy the Beaver and Buster Bear. One child of Old Mother Nature that seems to be missing is man. Sometimes a human being appears in a story, but as sort of a foreigner to Nature's children. He doesn't belong. He is outsider, an alien.

That has seemed strange to me, for man is far more Nature's child than any of the other creatures that surround him. No fish, no bird, no animal, no plant can as fully enter into experience with Nature as can man. A trout knows the tumbling waters of its native haunts better than does the fisherman that attempts to lure him to his creel. But a trout is not aware, as is the fisherman, of the growth of wild trees in forest and field that keep his watery home shaded and cool. Nor does the speckled beauty know of the distant blazing sun that warms the earth, sparing it from becoming a bleak solid mass of ice, [illegible] the brooklet that is his [illegible] and the minnows he pursues and his own lithe vigorous body.

The ruffed grouse has a daily [illegible] with green leaves and [illegible] that is greater than the hunter's know edge. But the hunter [illegible] knows the chemical and geological origins of the soil that gave birth to leaves and buds. That insight is denied a ruffed grouse. The gem-eyed white-footed mouse has information unavailable to you concerning his secret caches of berries, nuts, and seeds. But because his face is so close to the ground that he never can [illegible] look, he has become a short-sighted creature. [illegible] for anything [illegible] few feet away. He [illegible] flicker- [illegible] hill [illegible] by the rising [illegible] painted sunset [illegible] far horizon. And a [illegible] respond in a primitive way to the coming and going of the seasons, but it knows nothing concerning what makes the seasons, the story of the sun's rays falling obliquely, and later more directly, upon the earth's surface. We look with fondness and a whimsical envy upon wild creatures, coveting their closeness to Nature. But no one being in all creation has the variety of experience with Nature that man has. We are far more the children of Nature and Nature's God than any of the plants and the animals around us.

Our well-being depends upon our use of our wider range of appreciations. Happiness comes to us most readily when we enter into a deep savoring of the good that is around us. We then escape the aching misery of morbid preoccupation with ourselves. (Are you not most wretched when you are absorbed in your problems, your pains, your embarrassments, your self-consciousness?) When we are drawn out of ourselves by our interest in other things, other people, and that Other Person whose love and goodness constantly surround us, we are happiest.

Not many people have had as sufficient reason for being distressed as did the grandmother of Maxim Gorki, the Russian writer of some decades ago. Married when 13 years of age, she lost her first fifteen children in early childhood. But she was doctor, midwife, peacemaker, and counsellor to her neighbors. Looking back over his years, Gorki cited her influence as the best that had ever touched him. He said the watch-word of her whole life was, "Lord, Lord, how good everything is! Don't you see how good everything is?"

If you are unhappy now, don't pray for happiness. Don't look for happiness or long for it. Happiness is a by-product of self-forgetfulness. If the Almighty ever sends joy your way, it will come by the route he has chosen — through self-forgetfulness. Crowd [illegible] appreciation. [illegible] your mind and heart so [illegible] n God's beauty, [illegible] other children, [illegible] in God Himself that there is no room for misery-making self-absorption.

You are equipped with a greater capacity for appreciation than any other creature. Your happiness will be found in using it.

Humane Society Changes Voting Membership Dues

The Charlevoix county Humane Society at a recent meeting held in Boyne City agreed to abolish the $5.00 voting membership fee in favor of a $1.00 or more yearly dues. This would give the member the right to vote in general elections and hold office.

There was considerable discussion on how Charlevoix county with its small population and membership could finance a shelter and Humane officer.—Mrs. Wesley L'Hullier, president of the Society, reported that she was contacting a resident of California who, in the past, had offered assistance to small societies by providing small animals ambulances.

Mrs. L'Hullier said that it would be important to have a good membership in the county before asking for assistance from the outside.

Cpl. Joseph Svoke of the Gaylord post of the Michigan State Police, addressed the meeting and said that "a humane educational program released through newspapers, schools and sympathetic and cooperative civic organizations would do much to correct many undesirable situations and it is only fitting that the local authorities would be happy to assist the Society in becoming established and working."

Mayor Sam Arbuckle of Boyne City was named third vice-president to succeed Mrs. Earl Crandall who resigned. Mr Arbuckle spoke briefly on the increasing problem of dogs, especially those running at large.

One-Day Cancer Fund Drive Will Be Friday

A one-day house-to-house fund drive to raise a quota of $600 for the Charlevoix county chapter of the American Cancer Society will be conducted in Charlevoix tomorrow (Friday), Mrs. Charles Bellinger, local chairman for the fund-raising crusade, announced Wednesday.

In an effort to complete the drive in one day, all residents are urged to be prepared for the visit of the solicitors during the day. Mrs. Bellinger went on to say that if the quota can be reached by solicitation of the residential district, the business district will not be canvassed. All business men and their families are asked to contribute at their homes and not refer the worker to the place of business.

The need for funds to support the fight against cancer is great. In Charlevoix county alone, 25 people died of cancer last year. Statistics show that at least five of these victims could have been saved if the disease had been detected in time and treated, for cancer will respond to treatment in its early stages.

Fifty per cent of the funds raised in the county will be retained here to finance x-rays and other treatments necessary in the cure of the disease and cancer dressings, which are provided free of charge to cancer patients by the Charlevoix County chapter. Mrs. Ronald Scott of East Jordan is chapter commander.

Another point of interest is the fact that cancer is not an "old people's" disease as many people believes but kills more children in the 3 to 15 year age group than any other disease, Mrs. Bellinger said.

One out of every five people living today will succumb to the disease if it is not halted. By making your contribution to the current drive, so that the American Cancer Society can continue its program of education, service and research, you can strike your

The draft board will also call some men for physical examinations who received a 4-F classification earlier, she added.

Two county men will be called for induction May 24 and one man will be called next month to fill the June draft quota for the county.

Four men will be named later this week to report for pre-induction physical examinations May 18. No one will be called for pre-induction physicals next month.

Tax Allocation Board Will Meet Here On Monday

The Charlevoix county tax allocation board will meet at the court house here at 10 a.m. Monday to set the final tax rate for 1954.

At an earlier meeting the board set a tentative rate of nine mills to the county including eight for operational costs and one for the court house sinking fund; five to all school districts and one mill to all townships with the exception of Charlevoix township whose budget did not require the amount and Peaine which will receive six as no school tax is levied in this district.

All millage will be levied on the county equalization figure of $19,073,940 except in the case of the school districts which are fractional with other counties. This will be levied on the state equalized valuation of $25,138,426. This applies to the Boyne City, East Jordan, Boyne Falls, Charlevoix and Norwood district.

At the final hearing Monday, any township or school district representative may appear before the board and air his request. The board has until May 13 to set the final rate.

SAW A REAL cute cartoon last week . . . a couple outside a travel agency looking at all the ads for trips here and there with the wife saying to her husband . . . 'Let's celebrate our golden wedding anniversary now with a trip while we're young enough to enjoy it' . . . We thought you'd like to know that there's a former local resident and his wife who felt the same as the woman in the cartoon for they took off last month on a flying trip to Europe . . . It's Bill Ochs and his wife, who left Willow Run April 16 for a two weeks vacation trip planned by the Ford Recreation Club . . . There were 59 on the tour, all Ford employees from all over the country . . . The tour, jam-packed with interesting places to see took them to England, Holland, Switzerland and France . . . Enroute home they stopped briefly in Ireland . . . While in London they had a chance to visit Bill's cousins, the Bill Breitmayers, who are in London with the diplomatic Corps . . . (He's also a former resident) . . . Bill was going to spend a day in Luxemburg where he planned to visit some people he met while stationed there during World War II . . . Knowing Bill we know that he went armed with seads of film and several cameras and will return with a host of beautiful shots, for he's an artist with the camera . . . We hear he had trouble packing enough clothes for the trip because the film took up so much room . . . and the film was more important than the garments . . . naturally . . . And when Bill's celebrating his golden wedding anniversary, he can bring out the movies and still shots and reminisce in an arm chair . . .

"CHARLEVOIX'S not a ghost town" is the word from North Africa . . . from Gerald Left, airman second class with the Air Force who left recently to serve 90 days (What's that sound like to you?) at Sidi Slimane . . . And the story which brought about that comment was the one on the damage wrought by the lamprey eels in the Great Lakes which appeared in the May issue of Man's Life . . . The story brought a quick inquiry about the town for Gerry couldn't have anything happen to his beloved Charlevoix while half way around the world.

They finally located a recording machine and from the tape found Charles was fine and had sent not only a big hello to his family but to all his friends back here . . .

AND THIS week, we're happy to announce that a few more signs of spring are here . . . just in case you're hard to convince . . . mushrooms, wild canaries (bird fanciers call 'em goldfinches), a gravel boat and an oil tanker . . . plus a few hardy daffodils . . . Quite a variety . . . If the weather will stay with us, there'll be plenty of mushrooms and perch we're told . . . the birds are really arriving early and when we saw one that lives in our neighborhood we couldn't believe it at first but he flits by the window every day or so we know it's true . . . The oil tanker always arrives about this time of year to replenish our supply of oil products and the gravel boat which our boss referred to as the Leviathan because it took [illegible] to come through the channel that he crossed the train, was bringing gravel for the new highway south of town . . . One of these days, there'll be a couple of coal boats with fuel for the plant at Advance and for the coal docks at Boyne City.

SATURDAY was just another day until we found two darling May baskets on our front porch . . We're not sure who left them but it was some of the thoughtful youngsters in our neighborhood and we do appreciate them . . . May baskets on our front porch . . think . . . and always such a happy surprise . . .

SUNDAY'S a big day for the most important person we know . . . Mother . . . Every day should be Mother's Day but since it isn't there's been one set aside so everyone would remember to pay tribute to that grand gal whether she's 18 or 80 . . . It's not necessary to give her something big . . . just stop by with a happy hello and she'll be mighty glad to see you . . . We know 'cause that's the way it is at our house . . . As you may not know, I come from a big family and Mother's Day at our house is just like Christmas without the tree . . . In fact we kid my mother that her big family is now paying dividends . . . but whether you come from a big or small family it's all the same . . . remember Mother come Sunday . . . and if you haven't any ideas, take a look-see at the stores up and down the street and you'll come up with all sorts of things, for they're full of thing any mother would like to have . . .

WE TAKE back everything we said about spring . . . the snows are here . . . yeh, that white stuff one expects in November but surely not in May . . . Must consult my weather man, Jake White Sr., and get to the bottom of this . . . Will let you know next week . . . If he comes up with a solution, that is . . .

ONCE UPON a time we saw an Album of Charlevoix . . . an old bound album with seads of pictures of Charlevoix taken in the early days . . . somewhere between 1885 and 1890 when we think the railroad came to Charlevoix, for it is mentioned in the book . . . "On Jan. 24 the Detroit, Charlevoix and Escanaba R.R. Co. was organized, with the full amount of stock already subscribed, and a railroad is an assured fact in the near future" unquote . . . Of course the year isn't mentioned, but it seems no one ever was very conscious of dates except people today who want to know things about yesterday . . . Anyway, we'd seen this book just once after someone had rescued it from an old attic . . . And then last week we had one given to us by Mrs. Clifton G. Cooper . . . It all came about when we were talking to her about a picture of the Fountain City House . . . When she returned to Saginaw she found she had an extra copy of this precious little album and now we have one which we will treasure, for to us, it's priceless.

Someday we'll use some of the facts about Charlevoix used then . . . you'd be surprised how little its selling points have changed through the years.

Sermonette

By Rev. R. A. Essig, Pastor
Bethany Lutheran Church

Trouble comes to many and in strange ways. So often we do not know the reason for it. Some trouble can be explained. We bring some trouble upon ourselves by carelessness and disobedience. But not all trouble can be explained so readily. In many cases we are bound to face a big problem and to ask "Why?" with no one to give the answer.

The problem of unexplained trouble was real in Jesus' Day. "As Jesus passed by He saw a man which was blind from his birth." John chapter nine, verse one. This presented a problem for the disciples. Why was he born blind? Did he sin? How could he before he had been born? Well, possibly his parents sinned and for that reason their child was born blind. Was it fair that the child suffer for the sins of the parents, granted, of course, that the parents were guilty? These questions troubled the disciples and so they took their problem to Jesus. He said that the blindness was neither his own nor his parents' fault. He said that his blindness offered a chance to let the work of God be manifest in him. What did Jesus mean by this? God allows trouble to come into our lives so that He may show His loving-kindness and His tender mercies toward His children. Suffering is not pleasant, but human hearts are often hard and so it comes about that only in the school of suffering will some of us learn the deeper lessons that we need to know.

It is said that in the Botanical Gardens at Oxford, England a fine pomegranate was cut down almost to the root because it bore nothing but leaves. Sometime later the keeper reported that the tree was now bearing fruit in abundance. All that it had needed was to be "cut back" and to be "cut back" severely.

The heavenly Father sometimes finds it necessary to "cut back" the trees that are growing in His garden. The Christians are those trees. The Bible says: "Every branch that beareth fruit, He purgeth it that it may bring forth MORE fruit." Notice! This purging, this pruning is done on the branches that are bearing fruit — that they may bring forth more fruit.

Let us always remember when the days of pruning come, when trouble comes into our life, God is improving us thereby. The blindness of the man mentioned above was followed by a healing. This man came to believe in Jesus Christ and so after many years of blindness he was finally brought to everlasting salvation. Trouble will do the same for us if we face it with faith in Christ Jesus our Lord and Savior. Let us pray: In all our troubles be Thou, O Father, our Helper and Friend. Show us Thy mercy and give us needful faith and strength to bear our load without complaining. Teach us our need of Thee. Teach us sympathy and love for others. We ask it in Jesus' name. Amen.

Luanna Bambach Becomes Bride Of Robert Best In Candle Light Service

An evergreen-covered arbor flanked by baskets of pink and white snapdragons and lighted tapers formed the setting for the candlelight wedding of Luanna Bambach and Robert R. Best of Ellsworth at the Community Church of God Friday evening.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bambach and the niece of Miss Annabelle Cunningham. Mr. and Mrs. Marion Best of Ellsworth are the parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. George L. Majors officiated at the double ring ceremony in the presence of 200 guests. The soloist, Mrs. Charles J. Pontius, sang "Wedding Day", "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" and "The Lord's Prayer", accompanied at the organ by Mrs. John L. Ross, who also played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Donald J. Bambach, chose a waltz-length gown of white satin styled with an illusion neckline, fitted lace bodice with long sleeves and a full skirt with a double overskirt of tulle with lace inserts. A tiara of pearls and orange blossoms secured her fingertip veil of net and lace. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Bambach, sister-in-law of the bride as matron of honor, wore a waltz length gown of orchid taffeta fashioned with a portrait neckline and a black velvet sash. She wore a headdress of orchid gladioli and carnations and carried a bouquet of the same flowers.

Marie Nielsen, cousin of the bride, and Pauline Fall as bridesmaids wore gowns of pink taffeta identical to the honor attendant's, matching headdresses and carried bouquets of pink gladioli and carnations.

Howard Best of Ellsworth assisted his brother as best man and Edward Petter and Leonard Strange of Ellsworth were groomsmen. Bernard Best of Ellsworth, another brother, and Clarence Murray were ushers.

Miss Cunningham selected a powder blue sheer wool dress, navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses for her niece's wedding. Mrs. Best, mother of the bridegroom, wore a navy dress, matching accessories and a corsage of red roses.

A reception followed in Fellowship hall. The refreshment table was centered with a tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bridal couple and decorated with spring flowers and lighted tapers. Springs flowers also decorated the hall.

For traveling on their brief northern wedding trip the bride selected a gray and white twaffle tweed dress and red accessories. The couple will return here for several days before leaving for March Air Force Base, Riverside, Calif., where Mr. Best, Airman second Class, will be stationed.

Guests were present from Ellsworth, Central Lake, Flint, Grand Rapids, Holland and East Jordan.

Peak Period Used To Foretell Cow's Yearly Production

Although weighing milk from each cow in your herd pays off, you can tell fairly accurately what your cow is producing without scales.

C. R. Hogland, a Michigan State college agricultural economist, says you can use the amount of milk a cow produces shortly after freshening, her peak period, to figure how much she will give in a year.

A cow that gives you three gallons per day will produce only about 6,000 pounds of milk a year. That kind of a cow, Hoglund points out, won't pay her keep this year. An extra gallon per day at the cow's peak, however, will add 2,000 pounds to the lactation period. But she still wouldn't pay a high labor wage to her owner.

Hoglund suggests that a cow producing five or more gallons of milk per day at her peak should be the goal of every dairy farmer. Those kinds of cows will return a fair profit this year.

The economist figures that the average Michigan cow gave her owner about 55 cents per hour for his labor and management last year. That was when 3.5 test milk averaged $3.80 per hundredweight. But for the same kind of milk this year prices are expected to average about $3.30 per hundredweight. That means the farmer will get only 20 cents per hour for his labor and management. And those farmers who are receiving as little as $3 per hundredweight for milk this year, Hoglund asserts, will be working without pay if they have average cows.

Never has the dairyman had a bigger reason to cull out his below-average cows, Hoglund declares, and cull cows will bring a higher slaughter price now than they will this summer.

The supply of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash fertilizers will be enough to satisfy demand this year. That's the report from the USDA. There may be local shortages, though, because many farmers do not order fertilizer in advance of need.

The Hessian soldiers didn't bother our American revolutionary forces too much but a tiny gnat that came with the soldiers on their straw bedding still plagues Michigan wheat growers. It's the Hessian fly.

Wheat Harvest Poses Problem For Farmer Without Storage

Wheat harvest time isn't far away. And you'll have to decide soon whether to take the market price at harvest time or build storage . . . if you don't have bin space.

That's a reminder from Ed Rebman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent. Agricultural engineers at Michigan State college say that you can build bins of 1,000 to 3,000 bushel capacity for 25 to 60 cents a bushel . . . depending upon what kind of structure you build. Plans are available through the county agricultural agent's office.

If you are going to build a permanent storage, it will cost you from 9 to 12 cents a bushel per year over the useful life of the bin . . . that is, if you keep it full 75 per cent of the time for 10 years. You can get a government loan for 80 per cent of the bin cost and for 75 per cent of the cost of drying equipment. Depreciation now can be written off on your income tax in five years.

Michigan State specialists figure the cost of storage this way: The extra handling would amount to 3 cents a bushel, interest 7 cents a bushel, damage to grain 5 cents a bushel, and insurance 1 cent a bushel. Add to that the cost of owning the structure. That's for storing 10 months . . . the time wheat would be in the bin if placed under a government loan.

Does storage pay? With the surplus of wheat now in storage, points out Rebman, the market price at harvest is liable to be much under what the price will be six months from harvest. During the past six years the difference has averaged 24 cents a bushel. Last year it was near 50 cents. M.S.C. economists believe that farmers may be able to pay for the storage in one year with this seasonal price difference.

Chemical Sprays Help Farmers Control Noxious Weeds In Small Grains

Weeds are often a serious problem in small grains, taking moisture and plant food that should go to the crop, some even grow so tall they shade the plant, comments Ed Rebman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent.

Rebman adds that there are now selective weed killers that do not harm the crop. Even if a seeding is made in the grain the weed-killer will do little or no harm.

Both 2,4-D, the commonly known weedicide, and the dinitro herbicides are recommended. Use 2,4-D, at the rate of one-fourth pound acid equivalent per acre. The dosage is given this way because of the various strengths which must be noted on the label before usage. Dinitro is used one-half to three-fourths of a pound per acre.

It is not too Important how much water is used as long as the chemical is used at the prescribed rate. Farmers should spray when the grain is six to eight inches high; it kills most weeds and does least damage to the crop. Spraying heavier or later is more dangerous. And the chemicals will not kill all noxious weeds. For spraying later crops, it may be advisable to hire a custom sprayer because of the danger from the weedicide residue. County agricultural agent Rebman invites farmers to consult him about special spraying problems.

FEELING LOW?

Renewal

While walking through cedar thickets or birch copse, I have often seen oval forms where the grasses have bent under the weight of a resting deer or a sleeping fawn. Sometimes the green couches were still warm from the body heat of the animals, as if they had made a sudden retreat at the sound of my approach. Again, the resting places would be cold and damp with dew, showing that the owners had some hours since left for errands elsewhere.

These fresh deer beds always look the worse for wear. In contrast to the tall grasses waving gaily all about, the blades that cushioned the deer look crushed, wan, with the life pressed out of them. But let the observer return a few days later and he may be surprised to find all signs of the bed have disappeared. The bent grass blades now are sprightly and full of life. They again nod to the winds and curtsy to each other. Life's healing process has been at work, restoring the bent grasses to strength and normalcy.

Nothing is much more important to life than the powers of restoration which we see operating all around us. These bodies of ours do not stay alive simply by shunning danger and avoiding injury. We continue to live because the Creator has provided us with powers of renewal and restoration. A finger is cut, but normally it heals again. If the wound does not heal we know something is vitally wrong with the body, it is not functioning as the Creator intended it should. During a normal life-span we are exposed to numerous infections to which we would succumb if it were not for the body's tremendous capacity for self-renewal and for righting what is wrong.

As important as the recuperative powers are to the body, they are quite as necessary to the mind and spirit. Just as grass blades are frequently pressed to earth by a sauntering whitetail buck or a resting doe and fawn or any other of myriad beasts of forest and field, so passing events crush us. Burdens press down upon us until we think we shall never rise again. But we do. If we are spiritually healthy, we do.

We are criticized, or snubbed, or overlooked. If we are unhealthy people we regard these experiences as final. We shall never get over them. Never again can we act normally toward those who have treated us so. But to the hale and hardy person such experiences are not conclusive in the least. He is hurt, certainly, but only temporarily. His recovery is quick. He will right what is wrong, restoring as far as possible the old relationships.

We lose a loved one. For any person of a good and sensitive nature that is a crushing event. The burden is a heavy one, and we bow under it. But life's healing power will restore us to uprightness again. The scars may remain, but we will be healed. Someday soon cheer will return to the heart, sorrow will lift a bit. Radiant memories will replace clouds of grief.

We make a tragic mistake or a foolish blunder. It may be a bad business investment, or a public responsibility at which we miserably failed, or a job to which we were not suited, or a moral defection. Everyone learns of it and the humiliation seems almost unbearable. We are deeply hurt. But the sound, healthy person will recover, right the wrong, and stant upright again.

Prolonged humiliation, or hurt, or shame, or grudge, or grief are certain signs of poor spiritual health. Spiritual bounce and snapback are sure indications of a healthy soul.

If we are feeling low and as if we might never rise again, there is one thing we can do about it immediately. We can take stock of ourselves and recognize that we are presently alive because a good God has provided our bodies with powers of restoration, and what He has done for our physical natures He will surely do for our souls. Nothing can ever happen to your spirit that is permanently harmful if you will cooperate with the Power that redeems and restores. So says a rising blade of grass'

Girl Scouts Hold Father, Daughter Banquet, Program

The Charlevoix Girl Scout Council which receives its support from the Community Chest gets more for its Girl Scout dollar than any other community in northern Michigan, Mrs. Herbert Irish of Harbor Springs, Girl Scout camping director, told the more than 300 Girl Scouts, Brownie Scouts and their fathers who attended the annual Father and Daughter banquet at the high school gymnasium last Wednesday night.

She went on to pay tribute to the Council and leaders who give so much in time and effort to the Girl Scout program here and said that the local council is well organized, and well prepared to make the most of the funds it receives from the Chest.

Mrs. Irish, who is a great favorite among the Girl Scouts and their leaders here, was the main speaker on the program which also included skits and songs by each Girl Scout and Brownie troop. Kay Fitch, program chairman, had arranged an entertaining and varied program for the event. Mrs. George Wolf was mistress of ceremonies and Mrs. Lester Smith, president of the council, welcomed the guests.

During the program, each troop was presented with its own American flag by its sponsoring organization.

Mayor Given Big Welcome At Portland

"I think the Mayor's Exchange program which was a part of the Michigan Week observance is a fine idea and I hope the committee will do it again next year. At first I was a bit skeptical about the idea but after visiting Portland last week I'm sold on the idea and am convinced it is an excellent way to become acquainted with other communities in our great state", were the sentiments of Mayor Dean Davenport regarding the Mayor Exchange which sent him to Portland for the day and brought acting-Mayor Donald Breandle of Portland to Charlevoix last Wednesday.

Mayor Davenport, accompanied by Mrs. Davenport, was welcomed to Portland by appropriate road signs on the outskirts of the city. Immediately upon their arrival they were guided to a special parking place and whisked away in special cars to join a parade in their honor.

After a ride through the business section where flags and more welcome signs were displayed, Mayor Davenport, accompanied by Mayor Charles F. Gilden and a committee of Portland citizens, started a tour of Portland's industries.

At noon the party lunched at the cafeteria of the Thompson Manufacturing Co. with company officials and workers.

During the next few hours, the party visited the Daney Manufacturing Co.; the Valley City Milling Co. which makes Rowena products and where he was presented with a box of merchandise manufactured by the company; the Portland Mill and Lumber Co. where by a unique process logs are rolled onto a machine and emerge as finished flooring; the Protex Co. where special diets for dogs and other animals are made; and a war contract plant which was terminating a contract for 1½ million bomb fuses. A demonstration of the use of the fuse was shown at the plant.

A tour of the schools followed. He visited the city's new elementary building as well as

Students Take Over In City Posts Monday

Charlevoix will have a new slate of city officers Monday when high school students, elected to their respective offices in a primary and general election conducted at school under the direction of Supt. R. G. Bennett and H. E. Bingham, high school principal, will assume the duties of city officials for the day.

William Golden will assume Mayor Dean Davenport's office and will be assisted by the following elective officers: James Smith, Gordon McN., Roberta Swanson, Michael Elzinga, Jean Stockwell and Martin Johnson, councilmen; Patsy Rattigan, city clerk; Carolyn Muller, city treasurer; Charles Pierce, city attorney; Joyce Cunningham, justice of the peace.

Appointive officers named by acting Mayor Golden are Jerry Paul, chief of police; Gary Vandenberg, fire chief and Tom Fessenden, city superintendent.

Conducted under the direction of school officials and city superintendent Roy R. Robinson, the program is designed to acquaint students with elections and city government.

The student city officers will work with their counterparts in the city hall, join city officials and Kiwanis club members at a dinner at 6:30 p.m. Monday and then participate in a regular meeting of the city council. They will be given an opportunity to present issues which they feel should be discussed at the meeting.

If the program proves successful, it will be continued on a larger scale next year, Mr. Robinson said.

The Charlevoix high school band directed by C. A. Odmark represented Charlevoix in the ceremonies on Saturday. The 66-piece band marched in the parade and played at the ceremonies which marked the official start of the construction of the $95 million bridge which will be completed in 1957. It will join the two peninsulas of the state for the first time.

National, state and bridge company officials joined in the historic ground-breaking ceremonies.

Allocation Board Sets Final 1954 Tax Rates For County

The Charlevoix county tax allocation board met at the court house here Monday to set the final tax rate for 1954.

Eight mills were allocated to the county for operational costs; one mill to the court house sinking fund and one mill to all townships with the exception of Charlevoix, which received none, and Peaine, which was allocated six mills.

Basing their action on an opinion from the Attorney General's office which states that the allocation board may allocate millage which total does not exceed 15 mills on the 1952 state equalized valuation of $25,133,426, the board allocated up to eight mills to be levied on the county equalized valuation to the school districts in the county.

School districts which were allocated eight mills are North Bay No. 1, Bay No. 2, Boyne Falls, Chandler township unit, Charlevoix school district, East Jordan school district, Boyne City school district, St. James district, Murray No. 1 and Melrose township unit.

Bay Shore district, which is fractional with Emmet county, received 7½ mills, the same millage as Emmet county allocated its schools.

Eveline township No. 5 was allocated six mills and Eveline No. 4 and Norwood five mills each.

Undine No. 3 and Peaine districts received none since their budgets did not require it.

In 1953 the schools were allocated five mills, which was levied on the state equalized valuation.

The 1954 county equalized valuation as adopted last month by the Charlevoix county board of supervisors is $19,073,940.

Liebermans To Open General Store In City

The purchase of the former Lewis property at 215 Bridge st. and plans to open a general store in the building were announced this week by the new owners, Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Lieberman of Saginaw.

Mrs. Lieberman is the former Jane Kohler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Kohler.

Mr. Lieberman will arrive here May 18 to prepare for the opening of the store which is scheduled for mid-June. Mrs. Lieberman and their two children arrived this week from Saginaw.

Initial plans for the business call for a general store which will stock men's women's and children's ready to wear sport clothes, shoes for adults as well as children, a line of work clothes, yard goods and notions and other articles usually found in this type of store.

Mr. Lieberman, a native of Saginaw and a graduate of Alma college, will complete a five-year training course offered by the Sears company to train store managers. The course is designed to teach all phases of merchandising from buying, advertising to selling and personnel. At the conclusion of the course, the candidate is qualified to manage a store of his own and had he chosen to stay with the company, Mr. Lieberman would have been assigned to a company store as manager.

However, he decided to come to Charlevoix and open a general store, which city officials have been trying to promote since last fall when M. A. Levinson and Son store went out of business.

Because of the short time remaining before the summer season opens, Mr. and Mrs. Lieberman are not planning any major remodeling program for the building but will make some minor alterations as well as redecorate and clean the store building, which has been vacant since November.

Further ideas regarding plans for the store will be carried out in the near future.

The property was purchased from Mrs. Rollie L. Lewis and until last fall was occupied by M. A. Levinson and Son, owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Levinson for 35 years.

Correction

In a recent story announcing Glenn Rose's candidacy for sheriff it was stated that he had been a deputy sheriff for 15 years. It should have stated that he had served as deputy sheriff at various times during that period.

Boy Scouts To Hold Camporee In State Park

Plans for the annual Boy Scout Camporee May 21, 22 and 23 at Magnus State Park in Petoskey were announced this week by Leonard Burns of the Camporee planning committee.

Between 800 and 1,000 Boy Scouts, Scoutmasters and officials will start arriving at the Park at 4 p.m. equipped with camping and cooking equipment and food for the three-day Camporee.

A Patrol Scout Craft demonstration will be held at 11:30 a.m.

The entire camp will parade through Petoskey beginning at 3:30 p.m. and return to camp for supper and the Pageant Camp Fire at 8:30 p.m.

After clean-up Sunday morning, the boys will march into Petoskey to attend the churches of their choice.

Parents are invited to join their Scout sons for dinner at noon and remain for the Patrol contests at 1:30 p.m.

Public Hearing Will Be June 2 On Zoning Rule

A public hearing regarding a proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance to exclude the construction of certain types of buildings in residential district 1 will be held at the council room of the city hall at 8 p.m. Wednesday, June 2.

The date of the hearing was set at a special meeting of the city council called at 5:30 p.m. Friday to accept a petition with 25 signatures from Ralph V. Hess requesting the rezoning of residential property.

The proposed amendment to zoning ordinance would exclude from the permitted uses in residential district 1 boarding houses, lodging houses, dormitories, hotels and garages for hotels and multiple dwellings, clubs, dining rooms and restaurants. The amendment would not prevent the continuance of any such use now existing.

Mrs. L. E. Grate To Head Leonard Committee Here

Detroit Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, has announced the appointment of Mrs. Lawrence E. Grate as chairman of the Charlevoix area of the forthcoming Leonard for Governor campaign.

Mrs. Grate will work under Mrs. A. F. Lichtenberger of Boyne City, district chairman for the campaign in Charlevoix, Emmet, Antrim and Otsego counties.

Leonard, former Michigan State Police Commissioner, has served both state and national governments in many responsible positions as well as in advisory capacities.

He is a licensed attorney and has long been active in the educational activities of Wayne University which he attended as a student when it was known as Detroit City college. He was instrumental, while still a student, in getting the school raised to the status of University.

Tom Breandle Praises City As Its 'Mayor'

"What impressed me most about Charlevoix? Your city management and the natural beauty of the city." Thus spoke Donald Breandle, city clerk of Portland who represented his city in the Mayor Exchange program last week.

Mr. Breandle went on to say that Charlevoix was fortunate in having such an efficient city government and that his city could certainly gain by learning more about its methods. In fact, he has accepted an invitation to return to Charlevoix with Portland city officials to learn more about how Charlevoix is operated and perhaps pattern their own government after the one used here.

In comparing the two cities, he said that Portland covers only one square mile compared to Charlevoix which is spread over more than three. He added that Charlevoix boasts many more and better streets and there were many more parks and recreational facilities here. Portland has no resort section whereas Charlevoix has a large resort area and is set up for this type of industry.

Another thing that impressed him was Charlevoix's harbor and the boats in the boat yards here.

Accompanied by City Superintendent Roy R. Robinson and a committee of councilmen, he toured Charlevoix's industries and municipal operations, the new hospital now under construction, the schools and the resort area.

He said that he thought Charlevoix's diversified industries was a good idea and was good for a community.

He thought the Charlevoix school system was good and was especially impressed by the band

Cancer Fund Is Still Short Of Expected Total

The one-day Cancer Fund Crusade in Charlevoix last Friday netted a total of $356.14 for the American Cancer Society, Mrs. Charles Bellinger, local chairman for the fund campaign, has announced.

A total of $91.25 was contributed on the north side, $133.00 in the valley, $121.39 on the south side and $5.00 by organizations.

It is hoped that the drive will bring in enough in the next week from persons who were missed in the initial drive and from organizations to meet the community's quota of $800, Mrs. Bellinger said in announcing the results of the drive which will be continued for a few days.

Anyone who did not contribute last week and would like to give to the worthwhile project is asked to call Mrs. Bellinger at 2214. She will call and collect all contributions.

ODDS 'N ENDS

By Fran Martin

HISTORY in the making . . . How does it feel to be so close to it? . . Or didn't you realize that the ground-breaking for the Straits bridge was exactly that? . . . It must have been a most impressive and solemn occasion Saturday as man prepared to accept one more of nature's challenges . . . 'Til now Mackinaw City has been nothing but the jumping off place for the UP and St. Ignace held about the same position in the northern part of the state . . . And now they're going to be the anchors for another engineering masterpiece . . Some three and a half or four years from now we'll go back for the opening and perhaps make a trip across the span . . . And because we are so close to it, we won't appreciate it as much as others who have to travel to see it . . . But isn't that always true

THOSE STRAITS have played a pretty important role in not only the State's history but that of our country . . . It was a headquarters for the first white men who came to the west to find a route to China, the Pacific and other places to the west. It was the route taken by all the missionaries that traveled to the west . . . no doubt Father Charlevoix for whom our town is named, passed through the Straits on his way up Lake Michigan . . . the first fur traders in the area stopped at Mackinac Island . . . which was also a Fort once occupied by the British . . . And no doubt countless bark canoes traversed its waters with the Indians going to battle, to trade, to search for food, to fish . . . One can't help but wonder if the spirits of these same people of old were not looking down upon the white man last weekend as he made plans for the greatest of them all . . . the bridge across the Straits . . . Another one of the things we'd heard for ages and never thought we'd live to see.

AND AFTER our first Michigan Week which was climaxed by the ground-breaking ceremony, most people have agreed what a few of us have known all along . . . that it's just the greatest state in all the 48 and we're mighty proud it's our home . . . especially that part known as Charlevoix . . .

KEN FORBES came up the other day with an idea that we thought was pretty nice . . . he thought perhaps something could be done during Michigan Week but it was a little late for that, but it's worth mentioning anyway . . . Why not honor some person in town for their service to the community . . . He mentioned our harbormaster, Joe Howard, who gives so generously of his time to make Charlevoix a boatman's paradise among other things . . . We might nominate as our candidate none other than Ken himself . . . who is also generous with his time and knowledge . . . He's service officer for the American Legion and does a mighty fine job too . . . So if anyone decides to do anything about this . . . and we think it's a good idea, there're two first class candidates for the honor . . .

DO YOU realize that, when you read this there will only be four more weeks of school left . . . It doesn't seem possible and yet it's true . . . The coming weeks are jam-packed with activities at school with Commencement some time that last week of school climaxing another school year . . Where does the time go? . . .

FOR LACK of something better to do (if you can imagine anyone having this much ambition), four girls, Lois Bergmann, Nancy Juilleret, Ellen Miller and Sandy Cunningham decided to take a little outing Sunday afternoon . . a bicycle trip around Lake Charlevoix . . . They left here at 1:15 p.m. and with stops for food, hand-outs from relatives and friends along the way and rest periods, they made it back to the Ironton ferry about 6 p.m. after hitting Horton's Bay, Boyne City and Advance . . An accident near the ferry, so the girls say damaged one of the bikes so they sent out an SOS and Ellen's dad, Ted Miller, came to the rescue . . We have an idea that maybe the distance to town looked too far but who are we to quibble? . . . Anyway, we hope all the homes have mantles or those kids will be going hungry . . . Ahh . . . to be young in the spring time again.

AN ORCHID to Leo Allard and his street crew . . . they have our parks looking trim . . . and have you noticed . . . the park benches are out even if it's too cool to use them right now . . .

ELSEWHERE in the paper is a story about the Bellaires of Brize-Norton (doesn't the name fascinate you) that you barbershoppers should enjoy . . . And wouldn't it be grand if they came through in the finals in the U.S.A.F. Talent show and got to compete in the SPEBSQSA finals . . . Everybody keep your fingers crossed . .

NEXT TIME you pour maple syrup over your hot cakes or waffles, we want you to appreciate it a little more than you have in the past . . 'Cause after hearing from Ed Shanahan how much sap it takes to make syrup well . . . the darned stuff's made to be appreciated . . . Here's why . . . did you know that it takes 50 gallons of sap as it comes from the trees to make one measly gallon of maple syrup . . . And if you'd like to know what a few people did this spring figure it out for yourself . . Clarence Smith made 620 gallons, Floyd Ayres on the Daly farm 250 gallons and Ed made 233 gallons . . . There are others in the area who probably made as much as any of these but Ed just happened to know about these people . . Imagine tapping all those trees and totin' all that sap to be boiled down into syrup . . From now on we will enjoy every drop of the luscious stuff more than ever . . . including the bottle Ed brought us from Birchwood Ranch . . . And have you seen the clever label on the gift bottles which reads in part "Procured at great expense" . . . And he isn't kiddin' . . .

WE'VE A special holiday coming up this week . . . Armed Forces Day on Saturday . . More than ever we're becoming conscious of our soldiers, sailors, marines and airmen and are grateful for them . . . Hardly a family hasn't had someone in one of these services some time during the past 14 years when the first men were drafted into the armed services . . . Many more in now or will be called up so we should all join in the observance of the occasion this Saturday . . . These boys have done and will continue to do a lot for you . . .

RAN INTO Lyle (Beaudy) Beaudoin on my way to the track one day last week and we got to reminiscing about the people we both knew . . . He mentioned Norman Panama whom we've written about at various times . . Beaudy was telling me that another summer resident who was here about the same time, Bill Talman, is also doing alright in the entertainment world . . . He said that Talman's family lived on the Belvedere and he used to play ball with the Belvedere club team . . . This probably would have been in the late '20's or early '30's . . . Talman's now appearing regularly on TV with many of the big name stars and has appeared in several movies too . . Think he said he was in the Hitchhiker . . He uses his own name on the screen and TV so look for him . . . Perhaps some of you, like Beaudy, will remember him . . .

A CARD this week from Bill and Marion Ochs who were more than enjoying the beauties of Europe when they mailed it from Lucerne, Switzerland . . . Bill took scads of pictures, as we expected, and has promised to show them to us if they 'turn out' . . . as tho' his wouldn't . . .

OUR LITTLE old harbor's going to be a busy place for the next couple of months . . . the Army engineers are here to repair the revetment . . . And with all the equipment they brought, it looks as tho't they're going to do a lot of work and be around a while . . .

AND DID you notice the perch fishing fleet (rowboats to you) out on Round Lake Sunday . . . The old fish must have been biting . . we like fish but not well enough to sit out on that lake as cold as it was over the weekend to catch them . . . But then, why catch 'em yourself when someone just might give you a few . . . or, as a last resource, you can buy them at the store . . . You can see we're not a true fisherman . . .

A NOTE from our good friend, Zach Whyte, last week with the news that he and Margaret and June will be here early next month from Cincinnati . . . He said he had a big surprise in store for everyone but he didn't mention what it was . . . But knowing Zach we'll bet it will be something really big . . . Oh yes, and he sends a big hello to all his friends here . . .

Cadillac

The "Stranger" Everyone Knows!

The big car [illegible] out from the boulevard and comes to a [illegible] stop. A man steps out from behind the [illegible] and heads for his destination.

[illegible] license plate reveals him to be a person from another state—a "stranger," so to speak.

But the golden crest on the hood of his motor car tells everyone something about him. For it is the famous crest of Cadillac—and no man is wholly a stranger, wherever he be, when he drives this distinguished car.

Any owner can tell you, out of his own personal experience, that a Cadillac is a virtual "letter of introduction" for the man who sits at its wheel.

He becomes, in a sense, the "stranger" everyone knows—a member of the most distinguished motoring fraternity in all the world.

This priceless aspect of Cadillac ownership is but one of the many rewards which come to the owners of Cadillac cars.

In fact, it might even be considered an extra dividend—for it comes in addition to the car's great and distinguishing beauty . . . its brilliant and inspiring performance . . . its magnificent comfort and luxury . . . and its remarkable economy of operation.

As a matter of fact, it would be a formidable task to recite even a basic portion of Cadillac's cardinal virtues for 1954—for the car is superlative in every respect and has been markedly advanced in every phase of appearance and operation.

Of course, it would take only an hour on the highway to understand what it all means in terms of pleasure and satisfaction—and that's why we suggest that you come in and see us—soon.

Why not make it today?

Betty Jane Orvis And William C. Cooper Exchange Vows In Church Ceremony

Betty Jane Orvis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Orvis of Ironton, became the bride of William G. Cooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cooper of Detroit, at a candlelight ceremony solemnized at the Lincoln Park Methodist church in Flint Saturday.

The resident pastor of the church officiated at the double ring service before a background of spring flowers and lighted tapers.

The bride selected a gown of white Chantilly lace over satin for her wedding. It was styled with a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves which came to points over the wrists, a fitted bodice and a bouffant skirt. Her fingertip veil of matching lace was secured by an orange-blossom tiara and she carried a bouquet of red roses and stephanotis. Her only jewelry was a gold cross, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Douglas Hall of Flint served her sister as matron of honor. She wore a ballerina length gown of light rose taffeta with pearl trim at the neckline, a matching pearl headdress and carried a colonial bouquet of lavender chrysanthemums and pink carnations.

Anna Brock of East Jordao and Bernice Perine of Tahoga Falls, Ohio, as bridesmaids, wore gowns of deep rose taffeta fashioned identical to the honor attendant's and matching pearl headdresses. They carried colonial bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums and red carnations.

Kenneth Calhoun of Detroit assisted the bridegroom as best man and ushers were Mr. Hall and Samuel Orvis of Flint, brother of the bride.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Youth room of the church. A three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bridal couple centered the refreshment table.

For traveling on their wedding trip to Holland for the Tulip Festival and other western Michigan cities, the bride chose a two-piece pink dress and matching accessories. The couple will make their home at Ironton for the present.

A graduate of the Charlevoix high school, the bride attended Michigan State college and graduated from the Michigan Junior Business college in Flint. She is employed by Capital Airlines and will now be located at the company's Pellston office.

Among those attending the wedding in Flint were Mrs. Vaughn Orvis and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Russell of Ironton.

Amy Kipke Honored By Membership In MSC Tower Guard

Mr. and Mrs Ray L. Kipke and daughter, Bennie, were in East Lansing Saturday to attend the annual May Morning Sing at Beaumont Tower.

During the ceremony, Amy was 'tapped' to become a member of the Tower Guard, the honorary society for sophomore women at Michigan State college.

Earlier she was chosen queen of four co-operative houses at Michigan State College at a recent all-school ball. Her escort at the dance was Fritz Curtis, a freshman student and the son of former residents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Curtis who now live at Spring Lake.

Health Conference Held At Detroit

The Michigan Public Health Conference was held at Detroit last week Wednesday through Friday with health officials and personnel attending.

Those from the local office of the District Health Department who are attending are Dr. A. F. Litzenberger, director of the district health department, Dr. C. O. Whitten, dentist, James Scott, sanitarian and Mrs. Frank Rassat of the local office.

Pythian Sisters Attend District Meet At Traverse

The annual District No. 2 convention of the Pythian Sisters of Michigan was held at Traverse City Thursday.

More than 200 representatives from throughout the district, which extends from Grand Rapids and Alma north to the Straits, gathered at the Ladies Library building for the one-day meeting.

Among those from Charlevoix who attended the convention were Mrs. Raymond Seymour, Mrs. E. C. Lewis, Mrs. Lola Lewis, Mrs. R. J. Nowland Sr., Mrs. George Roff, Mrs. Charles See, Mrs. Robert N. Pearl, Mrs. George Cook, Mrs. Harold Dutcher, Mrs. Glenn Ingalls and Mrs. Robert Livingston.

The latter did the past chief's work in the initiatory ceremony at the convention.

K. Byron Wright To Participate In Talent Finals

Barbershop harmony devotees in Charlevoix county will have a special interest in the U. S. Air Force Talent finals at Bolling Air Force Base, Washington, D.C. June 8 and 9.

The reason?

One of the quartettes participating in the finals, the Bellaires of Brize-Norton, boasts among its members Airman first class K. Byron Wright, a former Boyne City resident and husband of the former Colleen Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Reed.

It all started back at the air base in England when four airmen, S-Sgt. David S. Strubbe of Cincinnati, A-2c Duane A. Query of Indianapolis, Ind., and A-2c Clarence E. Clark of Pittsboro, N. C., along with A1-c Wright decided to enter the U.S.A.F. Europe talent show which attracted a variety of talent, about six divisions in all, among the barbershop quartet class. The foursome breezed through all contests in England and walked off with the United Kingdom honors before entering the European contest in Weisbaden, Germany in which all area winners were participating.

The winners in each division would become eligible to enter the U.S.A.F. show in the States so the Bellaires put their hearts into their work and won the trip to Washington next month.

In the Washington contest will be winners in all contests around the world trying for the top honors. If the Bellaires win in the barbershop division, they will enter the International SPEBSQSA show in Washington June 10-11-12. Even if they don't win they will spend some time here filling engagements arranged by the U. S. Air Force.

Mrs. Wright, who left in August 1952 to join her husband in England, plans to accompany him to the States and come to Charlevoix to visit her parents.

Garden Club Meets With Mrs. F. Willis

Coats Of Cotton

The cotton coat is headline fashion news this spring and summer. The development of cottons with textured surfaces—heavier, decorated fabrics that can be draped and molded into full-length coats, while retaining their lightweight qualities—has resulted in the biggest coat news of 1954.

Some of the smartest new coat fashions this season are the long, flowing styles in lustrous cotton satin, heavy pique, or tapestry weaves. Each has its own bit of "personal" charm, with stitching trims, back yokes of contrasting fabrics, colorful linings, novel little convertible collars and push-up sleeves among the treatments used to spark the cotton coats.

Clasic Silhouette

There are classic silhouette favorites, too, made of cotton from the inside out. They range from flattering princess versions to the ever-popular trench coats with softer, more feminine lines. There are also fingertip length coats, important in today's costume look.

High fashion is not the only virtue of the new cotton coats. They are a boon to the traveler because they are light to wear and to carry, easy to pack, and minimize the number of coats needed for a trip. They can look as dressy or casual as the occasion demands.

Water-Repellent

Some of the new coats are treated for water repellency to serve equally well for rain or shine. One of these is done in Hope Skillman's gold cotton satin. It has a free swinging line with a stand-up collar held snugly in place by a sash tie. There is a matching cloche to go with this coat, which is completely lined in a diamond-stripe cotton.

Another smart style is a belted trench coat made of rich brown needlepoint pique and lined in a two-color satin striped chambray. A clever complement is a matching striped umbrella.

Polka-Dot Fabric

An eye-catching cotton coatdress is done in a blue-toned polka-dot fabric in a beautifully molded princess silhouette. It has a pointed collar and sleeve cuffs of sparkling white.

A cardigan style coat is done by one designer in Hope Skillman's tapestry cotton. The charcoal colored cotton is re-embroidered with stars.

COTTON COATED

The cotton coat is the fashion hit of the season, the National Cotton Council reports. Here, 1954 Maid of Cotton Beverly Pack of El Paso, Texas, models a striking ensemble designed by Pat Premo in Hope Skillman's tapestry and needlepoint cottons. The unbelted coat is worn over a slim, sleeveless dress.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

The "Write" Prescription

Noticed three half-finished letters lying on the counter down at Jones' Drug Store last week. "Writing three at once, Doc?" I asked.

"No," Doc said, "you are—you and the rest of the town. Those are for the boys from our town who are at the National Guard encampment.

"Everyone who comes in adds a line or two, and when a couple of pages are filled, I mail them. That way the boys hear from folks who might not write otherwise. They sure do enjoy it."

From where I sit, little things can add up pretty big. A few short notes make a letter. Boys from our little town help build up a strong National Guard to protect our freedom. Even freedom is made up of a lot of things—living where we like, voting the way we think is right, choosing between coffee, tea, or beer at dinner. And anything that adds up to freedom gets my stamp of approval.

FEELING LOW?

Sunshine and Shadow

As we motored one sunny afternoon across the gently heaving waves of the little pine-girdled lake, we saw painted turtles scramble from their log roosts and disappear into the blue-green waters. Soon, somewhere among the nodding water plants, little black heads would poke above the surface. Then as the boat moved farther down the shoreline and the disturbance quieted, the oval little creatures would leisurely crawl upon their logs again. No matter how often we passed their lookout and disturbed their rest the turtles persistently returned.

Why this steadfast insistance upon resting on a sun-bathed perch? Are not turtles adapted to living in the shadowy deep of the lake bottom, safely out of reach of careless, thoughtless disquieters of their peace? Why not stay there except for an occasional visit to the surface for a gulp of air? The reason painted turtles stubbornly return to their sunlit logs is that they must be exposed to sunshine. A frequent sun-bath is necessary to their health. Their growth is dependent upon it, and exposure to sunshine dislodges many of the leeches and other parasites that would make a turtle's life miserable. Sunlight retards the growth of algae on the greenish-black shell and prevents fungus infection. All of this the turtle does not know, nevertheless it is drawn toward its light-dappled log with an inexorable urge because it needs the sunshine.

But the slow-moving little fellow also needs the shadows. If he is placed in the direct sunlight on a hot summer's afternoon and allowed no escape to shade and shadow, the turtle sickens and dies. Both sunshine and shadow are needed for good health.

People who constantly live in the shadows of dark and morbid thoughts, whose interest in bad news is greater than their excitment in good news, who listen more eagerly for word of tragedy than of triumph, who read thirstily about crime but pay little attention to man's courageous conquests — such people are vulnerable to infections of bitterness and fungus growths of pessimism and hopelessness. They need exposure to sunshine. They must bathe their minds in the sunlight for an awareness of what God is doing in His world.

But we can be over-exposed to cheer and pleasure, until our sympathies and compassions are withered and dried, and our courage for facing difficulties disappears for want of use. We need life's rebuffs, its set-backs, so that we can appreciate another's woes and develop spiritual strength of our own. God has sent us both sunshine and shadow. Both are needed for our spiritual health.

Pontiac-Cadillac To Hold Opening Friday' Saturday

The formal opening of the new Cooper Pontiac-Cadillac showrooms at 103-107 Antrim St. has been scheduled for Friday and Saturday, Charles J. Cooper, owner-manager of the enlarged plant, announced this week.

In making the announcement, Mr. Cooper extended an invitation to visit the remodeled and redecorated show room and garage anytime from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Friday, and Saturday.

A feature of the opening will be the first showing of the Cadillac El Dorado in Charlevoix. The Pontiac Star Chief will also be on display for the first time.

Visitors at the opening will have an opportunity to tour the new plant which was added to the existing installation following the purchase of the former Krahnke property at 107 Antrim st. last February. The new plant has been enlarged to include both buildings.

meeting and returned to the committee for completion. Richard Edwards and Reginald Greenway head this committee.

The promotional program would include a cooperative advertising campaign with each member of the Association offering a special on a 'red hot' item or service, something that will interest any and all shoppers. The special would be a bargain in every sense of the word and designed to attract shoppers.

A membership campaign to interest all local merchants and persons who have a service to sell in joining the Businessman's Association is now underway.

Businesses and services come under two classifications: those of less than $10,000 gross income, whose dues will be $5.00 per year and those whose businesses gross $10,000 or more and whose dues will be $3.00 per month.

Breandle As Mayor Lauds Charlevoix

and manual arts departments housed in the new building. He commented on Charlevoix's large gymnasium and was surprised when Supt. R. G. Bennett told him that actually the school has outgrown its gym. Portland's gym is much smaller than the one here. Mrs. Breandle, a teacher in the Portland schools, visited classes here and was shown through the school system.

Mr. Breandle spent a great deal of the time with Mr. Robinson discussing the operation of the city for he said both communities had mutual problems and he was anxious to know how Charlevoix was solving them.

He also said he had only one major criticism of the city and that was the fact that the main street was marred by the presence of a number of buildings that did nothing to improve the appearance of an otherwise attractive city.

As are most visitors he was fascinated by the lakes, for Portland has only one small river nearby.

While here Mr and Mrs. Breandle were guests at a luncheon at the Grey Gables at noon and a dinner at the Argonne Wednesday evening. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Bennett whom they had known when both families were teaching at Palo, Michigan."

After extending an invitation to the people of Charlevoix, to visit Portland, Mr. Breandle assured everyone that he would return again.

MICHIGAN BANKS

PAY TO THE ORDER OF Michigan hospitals and doctors $91,299,797.00

EXACTLY $91,299,797 AND 00 CTS DOLLARS

PAID FOR BLUE CROSS – BLUE SHIELD SUBSCRIBERS IN 1953

Blue Cross-Blue Shield

BLUE CROSS - BLUE SHIELD gained 228,174 new members in 1953 . . . now cover over 3,000,000 in Michigan.

Largest medical bill payment ever made for Michigan people!

Blue Cross - Blue Shield pay out more dollars for hospital and doctor care, provide worry-free protection for more people in Michigan than all other kinds of medical bill protection combined.

Your Michigan Blue Cross - Blue Shield paid out $91,299,797 for subscribers in 1953. As of today the total paid out for hospital and doctor bills during the last 15 years is more than $400 million.

The most successful protection against hospital bills

Blue Cross is the most successful idea ever devised for protection against hospital bills. Non-profit, it is the only organization for hospital care officially approved by the American Hospital Association. Over 3,000,000 Michigan people have Blue Cross. Chances are, your neighbor has it. Talk it over with him—and see if he doesn't agree that there is no finer protection at any price!

Hospital Service Protection . . . the Blue Cross way

Blue Cross differs from other kinds of hospital protection, because it supplies service protection. This is important since you rarely know in advance how much a hospital bill will cost you. So you can't feel really safe with protection that limits you to $10, $15 or some other set amount per day.

When you become a member of a Blue Cross Group it is like becoming the "owner" of a wide range of hospital services in advance of need. Then, when you need hospital services . . . such as bed and board, expensive extras like oxygen, drugs and medicines, operating room, and others . . . these services are automatically yours. And this same protection holds for every enrolled member in your family. Blue Cross hospital service benefits are available in more than 200 Blue Cross participating hospitals in Michigan alone.

Doctor Bill Protection . . . the Blue Shield way

Paying doctor bills is different from paying hospital bills, because in almost every case, your doctor can tell you beforehand what his charge will be. The thing he can't tell you, however, is when you are going to need his services. So, against that need, Blue Shield offers a smart way to safeguard your savings . . . to take doctor bills in your stride.

Blue Shield offers two basic plans—one, a straight surgical plan, the other, a medical-surgical plan. Under either plan, Blue Shield pays generous, specific amounts directly to your doctor for thousands of surgical procedures, including maternity care. And in non-surgical cases, under the medical-surgical plan, Blue Shield also pays liberal amounts for your doctor's visits to you in the hospital. Often the doctor's full bill is covered.

The cost is low

For only pennies per day, Blue Cross - Blue Shield provide you with the most complete protection against hospital and medical bills it is possible to obtain. To help keep cost low, Blue Cross - Blue Shield do not pay for purely diagnostic treatment—or for procedures which can properly be done in a doctor's office . . . except emergency treatment as covered in the contracts. You, too, can help keep cost low by using Blue Cross - Blue Shield only when necessary.

There's no red tape!

When you have to use Blue Cross - Blue Shield, there are no claims to make . . . no long waits for payment. All you do is present your Identification Card to your hospital or doctor . . . and Blue Cross - Blue Shield pay them directly.

How to get Blue Cross - Blue Shield

Ask your employer or your union representative how you can get low-cost Group Enrollment. A company with as few as 5 employees may qualify as a group. Check your Farm Bureau or Grange. Write or phone your nearest Blue Cross - Blue Shield office.

Blue Cross - Blue Shield have more Michigan members than all other plans combined!

Student Group Demonstrates Need For Soil Conservation

This year Mrs. Sadie Liskum's fifth grade class in East Jordan hit the jackpot at the annual 4-H Achievement Day held in East Jordan high school April 27, as far as conservation is concerned, stated Bill Grimm, farm planner. The way Mrs. Liskum tells it, the class got together and said "Let's show our parents, friends, let's even show the soil conservation technician what has happened to our land in many cases since we began farming it and at the same time show good land use."

They got a box table and split the area into four plots, each plot showing the same farm. Each plot was to show what happened over a period of time. Each plot had a sand hillside which had a steep slope, leveling off into the swamp where they had muck land.

The first plot showed the land in its virgin state or the Pioneer Forest with the big stand of pines such as you see down at Hardwick pines near Fredrick. The class obtained red pine boughs and stuck them in to represent the big pines. They also put pine needles on the ground to show how the forests accumulate and help make topsoil.

Second plot showed burned slashings. Then due to carelessness the slashing caught fire. The class actually used a blow torch to give it that appearance . . a lot of topsoil and humus was burned off.

The third plot showed abandoned farm or destructive age. Someone came in and cleared the stumps, farmed up and down hill, raised continuous corn year after year. By using a sprinkling can the class put water over all the plots. The result in this plot was erosion and an abandoned farm, a desolate place.

The fourth plot was reforested or Age or Reasoning. The best use for that land after it had been eroded and misused within a few years and what had taken nature 100's of years to produce was gone. This plot was reforested to adaptable pines and conifers.

Upland areas were put to red and white pine while the low swamp land was put back to spruce. Fire lanes were left and trees were planted on contour. The class had a story to tell and they told it in a way we could all understand.

Mow Drier Lessens Weather Hazards In Hay Making

"Making hay while the sun shines" was a good slogan for grandfather but today's top farmers put their faith in hay mow driers and worry less about the weather.

A mow drier permits storing of hay with a moisture content of 30 to 40 per cent, explains Robert L. Maddex agricultural engineer at Michigan State College. It insures hay having the same quality in the mow that it had when it was cut in the field. It also is good insurance against burning down a barn with spontaneous combustion . . . even in rainy weather.

Hay headed for a mow drier can be cut earlier in the season when the forage crops have a higher feed quality, adds Maddex, and about 10 per cent more hay can be taken from the field. When hay moisture is about the 30 per cent mark, the leaves and stems stay on.

A mow drier works very well in a haying program where a forage chopper is used, notes the farm engineer. Long hay and baled hay can be handled with a mow drier but chopped hay works better.

The drying system design depends on the size and arrangement of the hay mow but generally a 5-horsepower motor and a 42-inch fan will dry 50 to 60 tons of hay. Unless the fan is one designed for the job, however, Maddex warns that the air delivery may not be satisfactory.

Information on mow drying and on design of mow drying systems is available in Circular Bulletin 219, "Barn Hay Driers in Michigan," in county agricultural agent's offices and at the Bulletin Office, Michigan State College, East Lansing.

Bulletin Explains Tomato Culture

Want to grow tomatoes that look like a color ad in a slick magazine?

The job can be done, but it takes a lot more than just setting out plants . . . If you want to grow tomatoes the correct way, a new publication from Michigan State college horticulturists will show you how.

The publication, Extension Folder F-142, "Tomato Growing in Michigan," tells you about, recommended varieties, how you should treat your soil, how to prepare the soil, how to start seedlings and how to set out plants so they'll produce top quality fruit. The folder also discusses cultivation, irrigation and mulching, how to improve early set by spraying, staking and pruning, how to get the best insect and disease control, and how to harvest and market the crop for the best profit. Your county agricultural agent will give you a copy.

Improve Rural Mail Boxes Is Theme For Week

The sixteenth annual "Mail Box Improvement Week" will open Monday, May 17, Peter H. Timmer, local postmaster, has announced.

Rural patrons are asked to cooperate in improving their mail box equipment during the period of May 17 to 24 in order that the routes will become a source of pride for the public, the post office department and the patrons.

Mail boxes are the highway billboards of the postal service, Mr. Timmer said. Mail boxes that have become unsightly with rust, unserviceable due to a leaky condition, broken doors or no lids, missing signals, no name, supports being bent or rotten which need replacing, weeds and wild grass grown around the supports and approaches and ground that is rough and full of chuck holes should be corrected at this time.

If patrons are to continue to receive the best service from the postoffice on wheels the rural letter carriers, they are urged to check their mail boxes before the annual inspection tour of the entire rural route to be made by Mr. Timmer during Mail Box Improvement Week.

U.S.D.A. Promoting Foreign Sale For Dairy Products

The U. S. Department of Agriculture is promoting the use of milk in foreign countries where the "perfect food" is in short supply. The USDA is selling butter and butterfat and nonfat dry milk solids to exporters who are shipping the items separately from the U. S. to foreign countries.

The butterfat and nonfat dry milk solids then are to be recombined into fluid milk in the foreign country by mixing with water.

It's possible to save up to $5 per acre in tillage cost by using once-over cultivation without reducing yields on spring planted crops, say M.S.C. crops specialists.

The homemaker will get more for her money by planning meals in advance. Menus should be flexible enough, however, to make use of leftovers easily, advise home economists at Michigan State college.

New Grain Storage Building Useful For Other Purposes

If you're going to build a storage for your 1954 wheat crop soon why not construct a building that can be used for other purposes, too.

That's a suggestion from Charlevoix county agricultural agent Ed Rebman. He reports that plans for these kinds of storages are available through his office at Boyne City.

Farmers can find the plan which will suit their needs by looking at a catalog published by the Midwest Planning Service, an organization of agricultural engineers from midwest agricultural colleges. The plan which a farmer selects can be ordered by the county agricultural agent at a nominal cost.

The catalog contains a large number of drawings of buildings designed for grain storages. It lists plans available for buildings that can be used for ear garages, truck garages, machinery sheds, cattle feeders and hog feeders after the structures no longer are needed for grain storage.

Agricultural economists at Michigan State College asserts that a farmer may be able to pay for his new storage in one year by not having to take the market price offered for wheat at harvest time. And a farmer can get a loan to finance up to 70 per cent of the cost of new storage facilities. He also is allowed a federal income tax deduction for amortization of the structure over a five-year period.

At Sault Ste. Marie on June 14, 1671, Simon Francois Daumont, Sieur de Saint Lusson, took possession of all the interior of North America for Louis XIV of France. Indians from fourteen tribes attended the ceremony which is called the Pageant of the Sault.

C. G. Schleuter Is Ellsworth's Head For A Day

Ellsworth — About 18 people enjoyed a 1 p.m. dinner last week Wednesday at Ellsworth Community hall, honoring Carrol C. Schleuter, village president of Augusta and Mrs. Schleuter. Mr. Schleuter was village president for one day of Ellsworth, featuring Exchange Day for Michigan presidents and mayors of villages and cities.

Mr. and Mrs. Schleuter arrived about 10 a.m. and were welcomed by Charles D. Edson, village president pro-tem, and a few others. After a period of getting acquainted the guests of honor were taken on a tour in the surrounding community and inspection of community fire fighting equipment and the village waterworks. After dinner, provided by the White Star restaurant, Mr. Edson was in charge of a short program which included talks by Elmer H. Rood, first president of Ellsworth; Gerrit John Drenth, president of Ellsworth Community Chamber of Commerce; Rex Wood, superintendent of Banks Township unit school; Henry E. Ruis, president of Banks Township PTA; Walter E. Rood, commander of Jansen-Richardson post, American Legion; Levi Donaldson, village safety officer; Peter Wieland, Ellsworth fire department chief, and John Timmer, representing local newspaper correspondents.

The meeting was held in connection with Michigan Week, and many interesting things were brought out about the advantages and activities in Michigan, and some historical data regarding our village that was new to many of those attending the dinner.

Following the dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Schleuter were taken on a tour of inspection of the local school and Consolidated Food Processors, Inc. canning plant.

James H. Elzinga, Ellsworth village president, and son, Marvin, were guests of the village of Augusta that day, and report a very cordial reception there. Mrs. Elzinga, who made the trip with them, visited in Belding that day. She was presented with a very beautiful plant.

The program for the day was arranged by Ellsworth village council, Ellsworth Chamber of Commerce, American Legion post, the local Michigan Week committee, and the Ellsworth Lions club.

Are We Still Calling Wolf?

The tragedy that happened in our neighborhood last Thursday when Mrs. Hubert Skeel, an invalid for many years lost her life when fire struck and destroyed the home should make us realize more than ever the importance of the operation of our local volunteer fire department.

This morning (Tuesday and last night (Monday) the fire siren sounded with no fire reported. The same thing happened Saturday of last week. Each time when the volunteer firemen rushed to the fire hall, no one answered.

As adults, we should try to be careful in dialing and also should check to see if our children are tampering with the equipment which can mean so much to us in an emergency.

As children, we must learn the importance of doing what is right and stop the practical jokes which could so easily turn to tragedy for ourselves and others.

"Best Seller" for 3 good reasons

Buick now outsells all other cars in its price class and above

YOU'VE probably noticed it right in your own neighborhood.

Bright new Buicks appearing here, there, everywhere. And more and more of them in recent weeks.

Know what's happening?

Folks in growing numbers—(and maybe you'll be joining them soon!) —are finding Buick styling, performance and value far too wonderful to pass up.

So Buick is selling at a record pace—outselling all other cars in its price class and above.

Matter of fact, latest figures for the first quarter of 1954 show that, in total national volume, Buick is outselling every other car in America except two of the so-called "low-price three."

A look and a ride and a peek at the price tag will be all you'll need to know what's back of this best-selling success.

There's styling in Buick that's the greatest beauty advance in years—the very look of tomorrow—and with the spectacular panoramic windshield that's part and parcel of this dream-car look.

There's performance in Buick as never before—with record-high V8 power, with the sensationally smooth whip of Twin-Turbine Dynaflow,* with the buoyant ride of all-coil-springing, with a new precision of control and handling.

And there's value in Buick that's hard to match—with prices starting near the "low-price three"—prices that buy more Buick beauty and power and thrill and sheer automobile than smart money ever bought before.

How about you?

Are you ready, willing and waiting to be shown that this best seller called Buick is the buy of the year for you, too? Drop in this week, or give us a call, and we'll arrange a demonstration.

School Seniors Have Impressive New York Trip

If you've noticed the 44 seniors of the Charlevoix high school or even their advisors, S. E. Coleman and Max Novak, with their heads in the air since returning from the trip to New York, it could be one of two things . . . either they've a kink in their necks from gazing at New York's skyscrapers or they're still in the clouds an dinnking about all the wonderful things that happened on the 'magic carpet' trip.

The spacious theatre that's the Radio City Music hall, the stage show with its Easter theme, the Rocketts dancing with a percision that rivals the most intricate of fine instruments; Chinatown with its strange sights, sounds and smells, the Bowery with sights you'll never see any place else, that grand lady on Bedloe island in the harbor of New York with her torch held high, huge yet graceful ocean liners coming and going, freighters with mysterious and no doubt exotic cargoes; the skyline of the great city as seen from the harbor, the breath-taking sight of looking down from the Empire State building after you've been thrilled by the ride to the top of the fabulous structure; the sight of Central Park nestled in the heart of the world's largest city . . . these are just a few of the many things that seniors are recalling now that they've settled down to the dull task of completing the school year.

Shopping in New York's shops that until now have been just names, the sight of Wall Street where stocks and bonds are bought and sold in the twinkling of an eyelash . . . this trip arranged by Robert Bridge and Mrs. Ada Golden of the Charlevoix County State bank . . . the United Nations building with its stern cold architecture, the blue, blue carpet on the floor of the UN Assembly room which gives the room its only touch of color, these two are among the myriad new sights . . . each in itself a new experience.

Then there was the fun of riding a crack New York Central train, the spaciousness of Grand Central Station, that first subway ride that left everyone quite breathless, the thrill of walking down Broadway and Fifth avenue, the awe-inspiring sight of Times Square, the excitement of staying in New York's largest hotel, the New Yorker . . . these things, too, are among the things the seniors are filing away under 'happy and priceless memories'.

The chance to see Briggs stadium and the Tigers in action, a visit to the State capitol building in Lansing . . . these are included in the happy thoughts.

The hard work that had gone into earning the funds for the trip was forgotten and everyone agreed, as the bus neared Charlevoix, that never had anyone received so very much for $54.95 apiece.

Blair Moody To Visit Charlevoix And Area Today

Blair Moody of Detroit, Democratic candidate for nomination for U. S. Senator to oppose Homer Ferguson in the 1954 general election, will visit Charlevoix at 2 p.m. this afternoon (Thursday) while on a trip through northern Michigan, Lee Sneathen Sr., chairman of the Charlevoix county Democratic committee, has announced.

A luncheon meeting at Petoskey Thursday noon, a stop at Boyne City at 10 a.m. and a visit to East Jordan following the meeting here will also be included in M. Moody's first visit to Charlevoix county and northern Michigan.

The meeting here will be held at the council room of the city hall and will be open to anyone who cares to attend, Mr. Sneathen said.

Doris Nielsen Is Honored At M.S.C.

Doris Joan Nielsen, a sophomore at Michigan State college and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nielsen of Ironton, was among the 144 students at the college honored at a dinner by M.S.C.'s President, Dr. John A. Hannah, for earning an "all A" academic average for the winter term.

Names of these students will be placed on the Honor Roll which reads "In recognition of the highest attainment of scholarship during the winter term 1954".

Mrs. Hubert Skeel Dies As Result Of House Fire

Mrs. Ellen Skeel, 55, a bedridden invalid, died late Thursday afternoon in a fire which destroyed her farm home in Marion township seven miles south of here.

The victim, an invalid for many years as the result of arthritis, was alone in the house when the fire, believed to have started from an overheated chick brooder in an upstairs bedroom, swept through the two-story frame structure.

Her husband, Hubert Skeel, was working in a field in sight of the house when he saw the fire and rushed into the burning building. Mrs. Skeel was dead when he carried her from the house. Death was due to asphyxiation by smoke and third degree burns, Dr. L. E. Grate, Charlevoix county coroner, said.

The house was completely destroyed along with its furnishings and the family's possessions.

Funeral services for Mrs Skeel, the mother of five children, were held at the Barnard Reformed church Monday afternoon with the Rev. Herbert Diller of Ellsworth officiating. Burial was in Brookside cemetery. The Pontius Chapel was in charge of arrangements.

Born in Buffalo Center, Iowa, May 30, 1898, the former Ellen May Wentzel was married to Mr Skeel April 6, 1918, at Webster City, Iowa. The couple lived in Iowa until coming to Charlevoix county 23 years ago. She was a member of the Barnard Reformed church.

Besides her husband, she is survived by four sons, Everett at home, Otto and Lewis of Mt. Morris and Staff Sgt. Gene stationed in Hawaii with the U. S. Mayor Given Big Welcome At Portland the older high school building which was in good repair and the new St. James Parochial school which houses all 12 grades.

A visit to the municipally-owned hydro-plant and the Wolverine Electric Co. which sells power to the city concluded the tour.

At the end of the inspection tour, a number of businessmen and manufacturers who had accompanied him said they had been glad for the opportunity to visit the other industries in the city and thus learn things about their own industries that they had never known.

Mayor Davenport, at dinner Wednesday evening, presented gifts to Mayor Gilden from Charlevoix's industries. The gifts included a record cabinet from Freedman Artcrift, a package of 'Magic' products from Paul-Reed Inc., a glass fishing rod, a glass bow and set of arrows manufactured by Stream-Eze and a comb and brush set for which the American Mold Manufacturing Co. had manufactured a part of the mold to make the product. These were contributed by the local industries.

Mayor Gilden acknowledged the gifts and said they would be displayed in Portland stores with the manufacturers' names and later sold at an auction and the funds used for a community project.

Vern Muckley, president of the Chamber of Commerce and Mrs. Muckley, Fred Rowe, president of the Valley City Milling Co. and first president of the West Michigan Resort and Tourist Association, Mayor Gilden, Harold Storz, city attorney and Mrs. Davenport also spoke briefly at the dinner which was attended by more than 50 Portland residents.
